BY JOEL WASHBURN
washburn@mckenziebanner.com

HUNTINGDON (May 22) — The Town of Huntingdon's Mayor and Council approved a capital outlay note on May 22 to borrow up to $722,000 to make improvements and to expand its infrastructure and make repairs, specifically street repair, parks and recreation facilities, and to acquire other properties as needed.

Mayor Dale Kelley said the city streets are in dire need of maintenance. Huntingdon is like many other Tennessee cities with increased road maintenance after a hard winter. He noted the city has issued capital outlay notes in previous years.

The notes will be payable over 12 years at an interest rate not to exceed 4.25 percent.

In other business, the Council approved the adoption of the International Building Code, the International Energy Conservation Code, the International Residential Code, and the International Fire Code, requiring all contractors and individuals to meet the international standards for new construction, remodeling and repair.

In the lone other item of business, the Council adjusted the water and sewer bill of Jones and Moore, located at 13345 Paris, as prescribed by a precedent establish in past adjustments for all customers. The metered charge was $2,103.47 and it was adjusted to $250.

Unsolved Tony Drumwright Murder Featured On Nancy Grace

The 1999 murder of Tony Drumwright was featured on the Nancy Grace TV show on Thursday, May 24.

Becky Drumwright said her son's August 25, 1999 murder at her rural McKenzie home has never been solved. The 15-year-old freshman at McKenzie High School was home when the murder happened. The family found Tony outside the home on that afternoon.

Drumwright now lives near Nashville and has pushed for years to get the case reopened. In November 2014, newly elected District Attorney Matt Stowe had Tony's body exhumed and an autopsy performed.

Ms. Drumwright has hired a private investigator in the case. That investigator alerted Nancy Grace and other TV hosts who investigate crimes.

A Facebook page entitled Tony Drumwright will soon be established and will have photos of Tony and other details about the crime.

McKenzie Honors the Fallen on Memorial Day

BY BRAD SAM
brad@mckenziebanner.com

McKENZIE (May 28) — Dozens gathered at Downtown Veterans Memorial Park Monday for a Memorial Day Ceremony to honor those who have made the ultimate sacrifice defending the freedoms we all enjoy as Americans.

Members of Cub Scout Pack 78 began the event with the presentation of colors and led the Pledge of Allegiance.

Miss Jackson Tera Townsend then performed the National Anthem and SFC Charles Felts, U.S. Army Retired, delivered a prayer. Then, Townsend performed “God Bless the USA.”

Mayor Jill Holland welcomed all to the ceremony, saying that she was “humbled and honored to be in the presence of our veterans and their families.” She said, “Today, we pay tribute to those who have made the ultimate sacrifice. We pause as a nation to honor and mourn those who, generation after generation, coming from every corner of our great nation, have shed blood in this country and in foreign lands across the globe so that we may have our liberty still today.”

Next, the hymn for each branch of service was played, and veterans were invited to stand and be honored during their respective hymns.

Mayor Holland then introduced the event speaker, Frank Tate. Tate is the Director of Economic Development for the McKenzie Industrial Development Board. He served in the U.S. Navy for ten years, earning the Enlisted Surface Warfare Pin, the Expeditionary Warfare Pin, three Navy Achievement Medals, a Volunteering Service Medal, a Navy Unit Commendation Medal and three Good Conduct Medals, along with various other accolades.

Tate lives in McKenzie with his wife Holly and daughters Ava, 5, and Mia, 3. The couple welcomed their first son, Russell, on Sunday.

Tate led his address with a moment of silence to honor the fallen. He then spoke briefly of the history of Memorial Day, which was a tradition for more than a century before becoming a national holiday in 1971.

He called it “a sacred day to all veterans,” and explained why it should be just as important to all Americans. “Sacrifice is meaningless without remembering. It is important the we Americans collectively ask all citizens to be aware and recall, on special occasions especially, the sacrifices of our fellow countrymen.

Tate noted with great emotion that during his tenure he had lost five of his brothers, “not in battle but to an invisible war... [They] carried a sense of pride for this country and, to this day, we fortunate souls that stood next to them still carry that pride. Today is for them and the others we have lost.”

He implored all to take the time to pay respect to those who paid for our freedoms with their lives and concluded, “Today is about remembrance. Remind the young of the freedoms we enjoy today and the patriotism you have for this county, because, again, it was paid for by some service members’ ultimate sacrifice.”

Felts then returned to the podium to recite a Memorial Day poem, “Dulce et decorum est,” by Joyce Kilmer.

VFW Post 4939 Commander David Pierce and American Legion Post 37 Commander Dana Deem then placed the memorial wreath in front of the Carroll County War Memorial.

Taps was played, and the scouts retired the colors.

Following the ceremony, refreshments were served by the VFW Post 4939 Ladies Auxiliary.

Authorities Investigating Lightning Death

McKENZIE — Weakley County authorities are investigating the death of a seven-year-old Amish boy who was reportedly standing under a tree on Sunday when lightning struck and killed the young man at his Blaylock Store Road home.

According to the Weakley County Sheriff’s Department, the incident occurred at 7:15 p.m. at the home of David and Laura Yoder, 1280 Blaylock Store Road, just a few miles from McKenzie.

The weather was not particularly bad, just some wind and thunder, but no reason to suspect close lightning strikes.

The father said the children were playing outside when the bolt of lightning struck the tree.

The boy was killed instantly.

Carroll County Ambulance Service, based in McKenzie, responded along with the Weakley County Sheriff’s Department. Sheriff’s authorities said Mr. Yoder moved the boy to the house porch because of the weather prior to authorities arriving on the scene.

Fallen Warriors Memorialized in Huntingdon

BY JOEL WASHBURN
washburn@mckenziebanner.com

HUNTINGDON (May 28) — Across America, the men and women who served in the military and paid the ultimate sacrifice were memorialized for their honorable service to America and its people. In Huntingdon, veterans and other members of the community gathered at Thomas Park, where the railroad depot once stood, for a memorial service.

Charles Hodges, a U.S. Army veteran from 1959-1962 was the featured speaker. Hodges was in Germany when the Berlin Wall was erected in August 1961.

Along with Hodges were members of Boy Scout Troop 73 of Huntingdon, who served as color guards and placed the wreath in memoriam. Mayor Dale Kelley welcomed the attendees and Lauren Dickson, Miss Dixie PAC sang the National Anthem and Brother Tim Parish offered the closing prayer.

Each veteran in attendance received a red carnation to signify his service. They were collectively seated to distinguish them for their service.

Hodges personalized his Memorial Day message by listing some of the many locals who gave the ultimate sacrifice while serving in the military.

Hodges said, “Today we honor those lives sacrificed for our freedoms. In all the American wars, there have been 1.2 million deaths during service in wartime. When we add the missing and wounded, that number rises to three million. Forty-two million people have served our military during wartime.

“It is said the true soldier fights not because he hates what is in front of him, but because he loves what is behind him.

“Who were they? They were our youngest, on the brink of enjoying adulthood. We sent them into battle to return in flag-draped coffins, some to be buried on foreign soil, their families never having final closure.”

Hodges listed the following men of Carroll County who lost their lives in service.

Fireman 1st Class USN Henry Thomas Chapman, a WWII sailor, died May 7, 1942 while serving on the USS Neosho in the Coral Sea. His remains rest in the Manila

Miss Dixie PAC Lauren Dickson, Mayor Dale Kelley, Charles Hodges, and Brother Tim Parish were the podium speakers.

American Cemetery in the Philippines.

Major Walter Sidney Butler, Jr. of Huntingdon, a distinguished pilot with over 100 missions serving as a Flying Tiger, was listed as missing in action in India in the Burma area during a second tour, for which he volunteered. His parents received word of his MIA status on April 3, 1945.

Private Wesley Ray Kelley of Huntingdon was killed August 27, 1951 while fighting in North Korea. He remains were returned home in a flag-draped coffin by his serviceman brother, Lindy. He is buried in Jamison Cemetery in Westport.

William Moran Barker lost his life on March 12, 1951 as a seaman on the Navy cruiser USS Saint Paul California 73. The amphibious invasion involved 75,000 troops and 261 Naval vessels.

Corporal Thomas Dewitt Moore of McKenzie was listed as missing in action in North Korea on November 3, 1950. He was presumed dead on December 31, 1953. His body was not recovered.

Bruce Bowlin Bennett was an enlistee in the Air Force. He was a gunner on a B-29 Super Fortress. The plane suffered instrument failure and crashed. He died on January 11, 1951.

In Vietnam, America lost 58,000 soldiers and spent $130 billion.

“Captain James Pritchard Williams of Huntingdon was a field artillery officer in the Naval Advisory Group. He died March 19, 1966 near Quang Tri Province, South Vietnam.

Corporal Harold Gene Curtis of the Concord Community in Carroll County, died October 20, 1969 from artillery rocket mortar fire. He was in the Marines and serving in Quang Nam province at the time.

Corporal Douglas Arthur House of Cedar Grove died from a rocket mortar on September 6, 1968. He was in the Army.

Sergeant Jearl Edward Rimmer of Cedar Grove died May 18, 1967 in South Vietnam during a helicopter crash.

Private First Class Ray Williard Phelps, Jr. of Yuma, a Marine, died October 10, 1968 as a result of an explosion 15 months earlier in Quang Ngai Province of South Vietnam.

James D. (Dusty) Carroll of McKenzie died July 31, 2005 near Baghdad as a member of the Army-National Guard 230th Engineer Battalion of McKenzie. He was the victim of an improvised explosive device.

The average age of a soldier has been 22 years old. They lost their lives, their future, their dreams.

In closing, Hodges said, “Neil Leckman suggests that tonight when you go to bed, say a prayer that God will watch over those who watch over you. Thank them for their sacrifices, on and off the battlefield. Pray that they have a peaceful night and will be home soon with their families who also share their burden.”

Bethel Anglers Claim Championship Title, School of the Year Award

FLORENCE, AL. — Friday 330 of college fishing's best anglers took to Pickwick Lake with hopes of taking home the title, and later only two competitors left with the championship trophy. Carter McNeil and Cole Floyd of Bethel University, McKenzie, Tenn. were the winners of the 2018 BoatUS Collegiate Bass Fishing Championship. Bringing 25.12 pounds to the scales on Day two, McNeil and Floyd led the field by more than six pounds with a two day total of 47.75 pounds.

"Being crowned ACA School of Year and winning the Cabela's Boat US National Championship in the same year has never been done by any school or University in the history of college Bass fishing," said Coach Garry Mason. "We are so very proud of our team here at Bethel. These guys are all true champions and now they have not one but two National titles under their belt." The Day one leaders entered the final day of tournament competition with a slim lead over second place. Leading by 0.03 pounds, their margin of error was small. "We knew we had to bust them. We knew we had some guys on our tail," says Floyd. By 7:45 am their nerves began to settle. McNeil and Floyd had a limit weighing 11 pounds in the box within the first hour and a half of tournament competition.

From there on out, the pair went to work upgrading their limit. Fishing multiple offshore spots, the Bethel anglers knew it was paramount to manage their fish, "We had several different schools of fish, and we went in with a game plan. We're going to take our best so many and we're going to rotate them," recounts McNeil. Working a variety of baits including crankbaits, soft plastics, and a jigging spoon, at around 8:15 am they culled up significantly. The team landed one fish weighing four and a half pounds, and another weighing six pounds. Those two fish catches boosted their bag well up over 19 pounds at the time. "I think we managed our time right on it, and hit it at the necessary times. Just rotating them schools and jumping back and forth really paid off for us today," said McNeil.

Good decision making paid off to the tune of 25.12 pounds and a championship title for McNeil and Floyd. With little to no experience on Pickwick Lake entering the event, Floyd was overjoyed with the result, "Just going out there and catching the winning bag on the place, it made it really special." His fishing partner McNeil was also overcome by their achievement, "It feels awesome, and this is what every college kid dreams of. We really focused, and grinded through practice and the tournament. We are fortunate and blessed to come up with some fish that got us this championship."

"Bethel University's season has been one to watch and marvel at this season. What has been most impressive to me is the amount of anglers that have earned points for the Bethel team at events all over the nation this season. This dominance hasn't been seen in college fishing to date and may not be seen again like this for some time," said Wade Middleton, Director of the ACA.

Finishing in second place when the scales closed was the Bryan College team of Nathan Bell and Cole Sands.

Rounding out the top three for the BoatUS Collegiate Bass Fishing Championship presented by Cabela's was a pair of anglers from the University of North Alabama. Last year, the UNA team of Sloan Pennington and Hunter McCarty won this very tournament.

Following the conclusion of the final weigh-in, a champion was named in the Cabela's School of the Year presented by Abu Garcia. Bethel University entered this event with over a 600 point lead, and they left Florence as the best school in the nation. The University of North Alabama, and Murray State University rounded out the top three in that order.

The Wildcats were awarded the Cabela's School of the Year Award. Bethel is the first school to capture the Collegiate Bass Fishing Championship and the Cabela's School of the Year award in the same year.

4-H'ers Beautify County Complex

BY BRAD SAM

brad@mckenziebanner.com

HUNTINGDON (May 24) — Members of Carroll County 4-H Honor Club kicked off the summer by putting in a hard day of work Thursday to help beautify the Carroll County Complex with help from some dedicated experts.

The project was sponsored by the UT Extension and facilitated by Carroll County Extension Director Kenny Herndon and Carroll County 4-H Director

Lucas Mercker.

Braving the heat and humidity along with the kids were several master gardeners from the area, who helped show the 4-H'ers the right and wrong way to plant.

The group installed both evergreen and deciduous plants as well as perennial grasses. They also had to build a retaining wall for the greenery. The goal was to include plants that would flower at different times throughout the year.

Mercker told The Banner, "People come to the Complex every day, and we want them to enjoy coming. We want the Complex to be a good representative of Carroll County.

4-H'ers getting their hands dirty included Johannah Dillahunt, Levi Jordan and Andrew Taylor of Huntingdon, Sarah Hurmiz and Nate Hurmiz of Leach and Makayla Belyew of Big Sandy.

Master gardeners assisting included Linda and Doug Wallace, Peggy Allen, Dianne Harris, Steve Pope and Paulette Crews.

Trezevant Water System Water Quality Report for 2017

Is my drinking water safe?

Yes, our water meets all of EPA's health standards. We have conducted numerous tests for over 80 contaminants that may be in drinking water. As you'll see in the chart, we only detected seven of these contaminants. We found all of these contaminants at safe levels.

What is the source of my water?

Your water, which is ground water, comes from a tertiary sand. Our goal is to protect our water from contaminants and we are working with the State to determine the vulnerability of our water source to potential contamination. The Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation (TDEC) has prepared a Source Water Assessment Program (SWAP) Report for the untreated water sources serving water to this water system. The SWAP Report assesses the susceptibility of untreated water sources to potential contamination. To ensure safe drinking water, all public water systems treat and routinely test their water. Water sources have been rated as reasonably susceptible, moderately susceptible or slightly susceptible based on geologic factors and human activities in the vicinity of the water source. The Trezevant Water System sources rated as reasonably susceptible to potential contamination.

An explanation of Tennessee's Source Water Assessment Program, the Source Water Assessment summaries, susceptibility scorings and the overall TDEC report to EPA can be viewed online at <https://www.tn.gov/environment/program-areas/wr-water-resources/water-quality/source-water-assessment.html> or you may contact the Water System to obtain copies of specific assessments.

A wellhead protection plan is available for your review by contacting Tim Fullington at the Trezevant Water System between 7:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. weekdays.

Why are there contaminants in my water?

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Este informe contiene información muy importante. Tradúscalo o hable con alguien que lo entienda bien.

For more information about your drinking water, please call Tim Fullington at 731-669-4831.

How can I get involved?

Our Water Board meets on the second Tuesday of every month at 6:30 p.m. at City Hall. Please feel free to participate in these meetings.

Is our water system meeting other rules that govern our operations?

The State and EPA require us to test and report on our water on a regular basis to ensure its safety. We have met all of these requirements. Results of unregulated contaminant analysis are available upon request. We want you to know that we pay attention to all the rules.

Other information

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water:

- Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.

- Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial, or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.
- Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff, and residential uses.
- Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.
- Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally-occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA and the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation prescribe regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

Do I Need To Take Special Precautions?

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have under-gone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about not only their drinking water, but food preparation, personal hygiene, and precautions in handling infants and pets from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Lead in Drinking Water

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. Trezevant Water System is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/lead/protect-your-family%23water%23water>

Water System Security

Following the events of September 2001, we realize that our customers are concerned about the security of their drinking water. We urge the public to report any suspicious activities at any utility facilities, including treatment plants, tanks, fire hydrants, etc. to 731-669-4831.

Think before you flush!

Flushing unused or expired medicines can be harmful to your drinking water. Properly disposing of unused or expired medications helps protect you and the environment. Keep medications out of Tennessee's waterways by disposing in one of our permanent pharmaceutical take back bins. There are nearly 100 take back bins located across the state, to find a convenient location please visit: <https://tdec.state.tn.us/rxtakeback/>.

Water Quality Data

What does this chart mean?

- MCLG - Maximum Contaminant Level Goal, or the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
- MCL - Maximum Contaminant Level, or the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology. To understand the possible health effects described for many regulated constituents, a person would have to drink 2 liters of water every day at the MCL level for a lifetime to have a one-in-a-million chance of having the described health effect.
- MRDL - Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level or MRDL: The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for the control of microbial contaminants.
- MRDLG - Maximum residual disinfectant level goal. The level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.
- AL - Action Level, or the concentration of a contaminant which, when exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.
- Below Detection Level (BDL) - Laboratory analysis indicates that the contaminant is not present at a level that can be detected.
- Non-Defects (ND) - Laboratory analysis indicates that the contaminant is not present.
- Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/l) - Explained as a relation to time and money as one part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.
- Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter - Explained as a relation to time and money as one part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.
- Picocuries per liter (pCi/L) - picocuries per liter is a measure of the radioactivity in water.
- RTCR - Revised Total Coliform Rule. This rule went into effect on April 1, 2016 and replaces the MCL for total coliform with a Treatment Technique Trigger for a system assessment.
- TT - Treatment Technique, or a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Iron: Iron occurs naturally in our raw water and occasionally accumulates in the distribution system. Iron shows up as "red" or "rusty" water at your tap. Although you do not want to drink water that is not clear, iron is not considered to be a hazard to your health. The aesthetic limit for iron is 0.3 ppm.

¹During the most recent round of Lead and Copper testing, only 0 out of 10 households sampled contained concentrations exceeding the action level.

GENERAL

Local EMS Personnel Receive Training in Strokes

MCKENZIE (May 22) — It was Emergency Medical Services Week and the local EMTs and paramedics celebrated by have a cookout and training on stroke victims. The training was conducted at the Carroll County Airport terminal in McKenzie.

With ambulances' engines idling outside the terminal, first responders were inside learning from Vanderbilt Medical Center's Jimmy Closser about the two types of strokes: Ischemic and Hemorrhagic, how to diagnose strokes and best care for the patient.

Liz Reeves with Vanderbilt LifeFlight said the service's air ambulance based either in Paris or Humboldt were grounded and could not attend because of the stormy weather.

She said all Vanderbilt Life-flight helicopters have medical personnel with at least two years experience. The Euro-copter 135 or 145 twin-engine helicopters are staffed with a nurse, paramedic, or even a physician. All the aircraft have blood on board.

The Vanderbilt LifeFlight teams train with local EMS teams to improve the outcome of the patients. Many times, local EMS crews are on the scene of the patient, they assess the patient's needs and determine whether the patient can safely be transported by ground ambulance or if a faster means of transportation is needed via air ambulance.

Justin Cook, director of the Carroll County Ambulance Service, said a helicopter is on the scene to the local geographic area within 20 minutes of activating the service.

McKenzie Resident Achieves Academic Success

BY KYLA YOUNG
Staff Writer for Martin Methodist College

Rachel Sutton has always housed a driving passion for biology—the study of life and living organisms has always piqued her interest in tremendous ways. She knew she wanted to pursue a major in biology once she graduated from McKenzie High School in McKenzie, Tenn., but picking the perfect college was a bit of a tough call.

Bethel University seemed to be the obvious choice because of her mother's faculty position there; however, Rachel did not want to have her mother as a professor—she wanted to spread her wings and face new horizons as an independent college student.

She soon learned in her search for the right college that she could attend Martin Methodist College with a tuition-exchange because of her mother's faculty position at Bethel, so she made the leap to attend Martin Methodist, finding that her life has been drastically changed for the better ever since.

It didn't take Rachel long once she started at Martin Methodist to dive into her biology studies. At the end of her sophomore year, she approached Assistant Biology Professor Dr. Mark Chee about involvement with undergraduate research, and he proposed she help him with a project that would run through the spring semester of her senior year.

She eagerly agreed, and in Fall

Rachel Sutton

2016, she began her research of the characterization of a novel species of Enterococcus bacteria found in a sick colony of flies at Duke University. She spent countless hours outside of class doing additional lab work and studying Enterococcus sp. and fruit flies, and these extended hours prompted her newfound love for scientific research.

With her new passion for research, Rachel began applying to summer research programs throughout the nation in order to expand her experience. After pushing out multiple applications, she was accepted to both the University of Alabama at Birmingham (UAB) and Auburn University.

She chose to expand her research at UAB, one of the top tier schools in the nation. She spent the summer of 2017 engrossed in microbial research, and she attended various seminars to better her future in scientific research.

While knee-deep in biology, Rachel has also been leading the student body as SGA President for her junior and senior years.

Once a shy girl, she opted to step outside of her comfort zone and join SGA while she challenged herself in her studies, and as a current senior looking forward to graduation just a short time away, she's got an impressive college career at her back, with academic awards to show for it. She's recently received an Outstanding Research Biologist award for her devotion toward her undergraduate research over the novel species of Enterococcus bacteria and the Alpha Chi award, which represents the Alpha Chi National College Honor Society for juniors in the top 5% of their class and seniors in the top 10% of their class.

"Thinking back on it, I don't think I would have been able to embark on this journey without the help of the faculty and staff at Martin Methodist," said Rachel. "The faculty and staff here are one of a kind; they offer constant encouragement and challenge students to work hard and strive for greatness. Had I not been pushed by my mentors to step outside of my comfort zone, I would not have had the courage to apply for nationally competitive summer research programs. Because of Martin Methodist, I know I'm prepared for what lies ahead after graduation."
