Ray Parish, Former VFW State Commander Dies

HUNTINGDON — Former state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars died last week. Ray Parish, 68, of Huntingdon, served as the commander and part of the steering committee that helped land the Tennessee State Veterans Cemetery at nearby Parkers Crossroads, a task that seemed impossible with the amount of money needed to be raised to build the cemetery.

Ray enlisted in the US Army in 1967, trained at Fort Knox as an armor crewman. He served his

Retirees, Teachers of the Year Honored

BY BRAD SAM
brad@mckenziebanner.com

McKENZIE (May 17) — McKenzie educators gathered in the high school cafeteria Thursday afternoon for a much-deserved luncheon hosted by the McKenzie Education Association. Retiring teachers and administrators were honored, and Teachers of the Year and Support Staff Members of the Year were named from each school.

MEA President Madison Rush welcomed all and encouraged everyone to enjoy a selfie station set up in the cafeteria and to also leave "bucket list" wishes in buckets for each of the retirees.

Director of Schools Lynn Watkins then thanked the educators for their hard work. He said that graduation was always good for him, because he got the best view of the seniors coming down the aisle with "genuine smiles," crediting that to the teachers. He thanked them for preparing the kids, telling them to "be proud of what you do."

MMS teacher Josh Kee delivered a blessing, and the guests enjoyed a delicious meal catered by Big Daddy's BBQ.

Following dessert, retirees were honored, beginning with second grade teacher Betsy Campbell. MES Principal Timothy Barker called her a "wonderful person," expressing his gratitude for her help in making his transition smooth, noting especially how helpful she had been to bring him an annual so that he could study names and faces. He thanked

Huntingdon Included in Opportunity Zone to Benefit Low-Income Communities

NASHVILLE — Tennessee Gov. Bill Haslam and Department of Economic and Community Development Commissioner Bob Rolfe announced today that the U.S. Department of Treasury and the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) have approved Tennessee's nomination of 176 Opportunity Zones.

The greater Huntingdon Tennessee area is one of 176 included for the Opportunity Zones. The areas were selected based on ECD criteria and the recommendation of the county mayors to help low-income communities.

The Qualified Opportunity Zone community development benefit was created by The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act signed in 2017. The federal benefit is designed to encourage long-term investment in low-income communities through Qualified Opportunity Funds.

"This is an exciting day for Tennessee as we announce the approved Opportunity Zones for our state," Haslam said. "As part of the Opportunity Zone benefit, communities across Tennessee will be better equipped to succeed. Tennessee's 176 Opportunity Zones are dispersed across all three of Tennessee's grand divisions, and I look forward to seeing how this program will transform our communities and Tennessee as a whole."

"We are pleased to announce the 176 approved Opportunity Zones in Tennessee," Rolfe said. "The State emphasizes attracting and expanding businesses to Tennessee's low-income communities, and with the assistance of the Opportunity Zone benefit, these communities will have another advantage

Frank Tate is McKenzie Memorial Day Speaker

McKenzie's annual Memorial Day commemoration is Monday, May 28, 10 a.m. in the downtown Veterans Park.

The speaker is Frank Tate, a veteran of the U.S. Navy.

Music will be provided by Nathan Eaton and Joseph Keenan. Charles Felts will present the poem and the prayer. Boy Scout Troop 78 will present the colors and the VFW Post 4939 Ladies Auxiliary will assist veterans at the event.

Frank Tate is an economic development professional with McKenzie Industrial Development. As executive director, Frank leads the efforts in business retention and attraction, supporting the community in development, program design and growing a vibrant and prosperous West Tennessee community.

He is excited to have the opportunity to champion Tennessee and McKenzie as a great place to live and do business.

Before joining McKenzie Industrial Development, Frank worked with Kentucky's Cabinet for Economic Development as West Kentucky's regional economic developer. In that role, he was involved in business recruitment, development, job creation and assisting business and industry with location and expansion opportunities across the region.

His professional experience began in the United States Navy, where he served 10 years before joining Blue Star Consultants a transitioning military workforce development firm. As a veteran, he is passionate about assisting the transitioning service member population with finding permanent and meaningful career opportunities through job location and educational development.

His Naval career is one that is not entirely traditional but then again what is traditional. Frank joined the Navy in January of 2003, after waiting a year after 9/11 had occurred. He spent his days in boot camp during the cold months at Great Lakes. After completion of boot camp and his Rating training, he served on board the USS Robert G. Bradley a Frigate stationed out of Mayport, Florida. After two deployments to South America conducting counter-drug operations, he finished with a third cruise to the Baltic Sea. When he learned, he was relocating to Virginia Beach, Virginia to serve under Riverine Squadron Two, a small boat company. Once with the Riverines, he completed the Marine Corps school of infantry, and machine gunner course, that led him to enough training to conduct two deployments to the Euphrates River in Iraq. At the halfway point in his second enlistment, he decided shore side duty was his next venture. Shore duty brought him back to where he started his Naval career, and he located at Great Lakes working as an investigator tracking deserters and military AWOLs with Naval Absentee Collection Information Center a position he found great success in and lead to his position as a military liaison with NCIS prior to his separation.

His rewards while serving are Enlisted Surface Warfare pin, Expeditionary Warfare pin, three Navy Achievement Medals, one Volunteer Service Medal, one Navy Unit Commendation Medal, three Good Conduct Medals and a few other accolades.

Frank graduated from Apollo High School in 2001 and is a 2013 graduate of Kaplan University, with a bachelor's degree in communications, a degree that he earned while serving on active duty.

He is married, to wife Holly and they have two daughters Ava and Mia. When he is not working or at home raising children, he is an avid outdoorsman who finds himself running, farming, gardening, hunting or fishing.

MMC Offers the Only Clinician Supervised Weight Loss Program in Carroll County

The obesity rate across the United States has been growing at an alarming rate. In Tennessee it is at 34.8%, the sixth highest in the nation, according to a report from The State of Obesity released in August 2017.

But losing weight is hard. There is so much information about how to lose weight – keto, no sugar, fat free, organic, vegan, low carb – a lot of it is conflicting. Most people know they are overweight and would like to get healthy but just don't know how or where to start. McKenzie Medical Center (MMC) can help.

MMC has a weight loss program that provides a one-on-one consultation with a medical provider for an individualized weight loss plan. It is the only clinician supervised weight loss program currently in Carroll County. Certified Nurse Practitioners: Courtney Steinly and Beth Graves are the key providers supervising the program.

"Our ultimate goal is to offer our patients the support they need to have a healthier life," states Beth. "We understand how confusing weight loss can be but we also know how important it is."

"We created the weight loss clinic here at MMC because we want to help people improve the quality of their lives," Courtney added.

The benefits of weight loss include improvement of chronic conditions such as hypertension, diabetes, high cholesterol and many more.

A MMC patient commented, "This program has boosted my confidence and made me realize with discipline and persistence I can meet any goal I set."

In addition to clinician support, there is also an on-staff dietician, Alice Chapman and on-site group exercise classes, as well as personal training.

As a result, MMC has the "whole package" to ensure participants successfully meet their weight loss goals.

"Exercising does not mean you need to log hours upon hours at the gym. It can be and should be fun," comments Robyn Hatler, the certified personal training and group exercise instructor at MMC. "The group exercise classes are a great way to get started – we laugh, we complain but together we get our workout done and create an environment of accountability and motivation."

Your first group exercise class is free – so you have nothing to lose by giving it a try.

If you would like to take charge of your healthy and win the battle against weight loss give us a call at 731-352-7907 or visit our website: www.mckenziemedicalcenter.com for more information.

Tennessee Gas Prices Jump Five Cents

NASHVILLE (May 21) — As the national average continues to push toward $3 a gallon, gas prices in the southeastern United States are among the lowest in the country. Sunday's national average of $2.92 is 5 cents more than a week ago and 57 cents more than this time last year.

As of Sunday, gas prices averaged above $3/gal in 14 states. The majority of them are in the northeast and western United States. Rising crude costs, switchover to more-expensive-to-produce gasoline by the federal deadline on June 1, tighter supplies and robust gasoline demand continue to help lift pump prices across the nation.

Tennessee gas prices increased 5 cents during the past week. Sunday's state average of $2.67 is the most expensive daily average in more than three years (November 2014).

Tennessee motorists are paying 58 cents per gallon more than this time last year. On average, it costs $40 for a full tank of gas - an increase of nearly $9 from a year ago.

The most expensive gas price averages in Tennessee are in Jackson ($2.73), Nashville ($2.71), and Cleveland ($2.69)

The least expensive gas price averages in Tennessee are in Chattanooga ($2.59), Knoxville ($2.63), Clarksville-Hopkinsville ($2.64)

"Current fundamentals will likely lead gas prices even higher before the Memorial Day weekend," said Mark Jenkins, spokesman, AAA - The Auto Club Group. "Regardless of higher prices at the pump, AAA still forecasts the most holiday road trippers in more than a dozen years. Those with smaller gasoline budgets will find other ways to finance their travel plans, like cutting back on discretionary expenses like shopping or dining out."

her for everything she has done for the school, saying that she was "certainly going to be missed."

MMS Principal Dorethea Royle then paid homage to special education teacher Donna Lacey, calling her "one of the most colorful individuals I've ever met." She said, "One of the things I've dome to appreciate is that her love for the children is unending. She shows that she cares all the time." Royle went on to say that Lacey was "always one who would bring laughter to us."

MHS Principal Tim Watkins spoke about school secretary Mary Walker. He drew a big laugh when he said that without her, he was "scared that people are going to figure out that I don't do a lot." He became emotional as he noted the many ways that "she takes care of our kids." He called Walker the school's "moral compass."

Next, district food service supervisor Rita Brandon was honored by her daughter, MHS vocational nursing teacher Mallory Fowler. Fowler said that her mom has always "balanced life, love, family and work to show us the way that life is meant to be lived." She thanked her for modeling what it means to be a leader, a motivator and a person with the right priorities. "Thank you for leading a life so worthy of our efforts to follow in your footsteps."

Director Watkins shared a few stories about the other retirees before speaking about Supervisor of Instruction Mary Sexton. He said that she had done a "tremendous job," noting that in her special education work, she deals with many students from age three up until they are 22. He said, "Thank you so much for what you brought to McKenzie Special School District. We are going to miss you."

Awards were then presented for each school for Teacher of the Year and a new category, Support Staff Member of the Year.

Rush presented the MES awards. She relayed the words of other teachers who nominated Betsy Campbell: "love," "encourager," "smile lights up the room," "generosity," "strength, perseverance, toughness," "the school mom" and "touched many lives."

Rush called support staff winner Cynthia Creyssells a tremendous asset who "always give 110 percent." She praised her positive spirit and work ethic, noting that she "wears many hats."

Sarah Page presented the MMS awards. She complimented Mistee Cooper for making class enjoyable, creating a wonderful environment and having a profound effect on her students. Page called her "genuine, the real deal."

Page announced the support staff winner to be Jean Hollomon, calling her "irreplaceable, caring and insightful" and praising her for boosting everyone's confidence.

Kevin Gallimore presented the MHS awards. He praised marketing teacher and DECA sponsor Susan Dyer for giving up so much of her own time for her students, especially for DECA competitions throughout the year. He said that she engages the staff and boosts morale, also thanking her for keeping the bookstore stocked and for organizing meals for data days and the Christmas luncheon.

He called support staff winner Annette French, the school's bookkeeper, a "tremendous asset," saying that without her, "nothing would be accomplished" at the school.

The luncheon ended, but the educators lingered for photos and to share their congratulations with the retirees and award winners.

Charges Upgraded to Murder in Assault of 96-Year Old

HUNTINGDON (May 7, 2018) — James P. Hill, 36, New Johnsonville and Dakota D. Baggett, 26, Nashville, are facing first-degree murder charges for assaulting 96-year-old Dalphy H. Ross and holding Janet Lynn Ross and Myron Butler against their will at knife-point inside the victim's home located on McKee Levee Road near Buena Vista on June 26, 2017.

A grand jury charged the two with first-degree murder and conspiracy to commit first-degree murder on May 7, 2018. Mrs. Dalphy Mae Ross, 97, of Buena Vista, Tennessee died Wednesday, October 11, 2017 at Jackson-Madison County General Hospital.

In July 2017, Carroll County General Sessions Larry Logan presided over the preliminary hearings of the two men. Court-appointed attorneys Seth Segraves and Ben Dempsey represented the two men while Jim Webb and Carthel Smith served as prosecutors for the state of Tennessee.

Three witnesses took the stand: Carroll County Sheriff's Department Investigator Adam Meggs; Myron Butler, and Janet Ross.

According to arrest warrants obtained via Carroll County Sessions Court (CCGS) filed by Carroll County Sheriff's Department Investigator Adam Meggs; In addition, warrants were entered in CCGS against Hill for especially aggravated kidnapping, especially aggravated robbery, theft of property (less than $1,000) and aggravated burglary. Arrest warrants were filed by Investigator Meggs for co-defendant Dakota D. Baggett, charging him with criminal attempt to commit first-degree murder, especially aggravated kidnapping, aggravated assault, aggravated burglary and theft.

Hill was arrested Monday morning, June 26, 2017 at Terrace Woods Lodge in Paris after Paris Police were alerted by a concerned citizen stating they spotted Hill inside a vehicle in the motel's parking lot. Hill identified himself at the time as John Smith. Police later located Hill's state-issued identification to verify his identity.

The report further noted that two hypodermic needles were found on Hill's person during a pat down.

A passenger inside the vehicle with Hill was arrested on one count of possession of drug paraphernalia.

Paris police also arrested three Camden women staying at the motel. Samantha Hollowell, Britany Corbitt and Jennifer Hisey were charged with accessory after the fact of a felony for helping Hill evade capture.

According to a report filed by the Carroll County Sheriff's Department Deputy Scotty Davis, after Hill and Baggett forced entry into Mrs. Ross' home, Hill repeatedly struck Mrs. Ross with a small ball bat and lacerated her arm with a knife before binding her with tape and placing her in a back room inside the residence. The report stated that Baggett later held Janet Ross and Butler at knife-point when they returned to the home after running errands.

Hill and Baggett were persuaded by Butler to take Janet Ross' late-model Toyota Camry and fled the scene.

Mrs. Dalphy Ross was later discovered by her daughter bound and bleeding in a back room inside the residence prior to being transported by ambulance to Baptist Memorial Hospital in Huntingdon.

After a BOLO was released for Ross' vehicle, Humphrey County Sheriff's Department received a call of a home invasion in New Johnsonville on June 20. Later that day, the Ford Explorer matching the BOLO description parked in the driveway at the Humphrey County home invasion was spotted by Camden Policeman Kenneth Beal.

Hill's suspected accomplice, Dakota Baggett, 25, 204 Richland Avenue, Waverly, was apprehended by Camden police on June 20 at a gas station near Walmart in Camden. Fleeing the scene, Hill ran to a nearby Dollar Tree where he changed clothes and escaped apprehension before being arrested in Paris on June 26.

Hill and Baggett were also wanted by authorities in Benton, Henry and Humphreys counties for similar home-invasion and theft of property offenses.

unanimously approved the first reading of next year's city budget with no discussion. The budget includes a 3% pay increase for city employees approved by the board last month. Property taxes will remain the same with the property tax rate set at .71 cents per 100 dollars of assessed value on all real and personal property.

The board also unanimously passed the first reading of an updated Building Codes Ordinance with little discussion. Mayor Dennis Mitchell informed the board it is a state requirement to keep city building codes updated. City Attorney Charles Trotter commented that updating the codes won't need to be done for another three years.

City Attorney Charles Trotter updated the board on his discussions with the State and CSX Railroad regarding the crossing at North Park Street. According to discussions, CSX and the Tennessee Department of Transportation have been urging Trezevant to close this crossing for a couple of years as part of a statewide initiative to close unsafe crossings. A large pothole has made the North Park Street crossing nearly impassable. The board voted last month to close this crossing once CSX and TDOT met conditions established by the town. Trotter gave the board his opinions on the issue mostly regarding the town's options and liability in this project. No action was taken in the matter but Trotter advised the board they needed to be thinking about hiring an engineering firm to assess the crossing pertaining to city utility lines.

Another lengthy discussion occurred concerning deficient property in the town and one property in particular the city has been dealing with for the last couple of years. Mayor Mitchell told the board that he needed their support in dealing with these types of properties now and in the future. One such property is being considered an extremely hazardous situation to the point that if it ever caught fire, it would threaten adjacent properties. Mitchell advised that letters and phone calls have been made for the last couple of years in attempts to get that property cleaned up to no avail. City Attorney Trotter recently contacted the property owner regarding the issue. Trotter told board members he attempted to be nice but the owner wanted him to get to the point. Trotter replied "I'm going to sue you and tear your property down." Trotter informed the board the property owner supposedly has a buyer for the property. Trotter recommended starting the process of condemning the property which will involve hiring a firm to inspect the property and could be used to inspect other potential deficient properties as well. He recommended Inspection Solutions to do the inspections. The board voted to hire them to inspect this property and assess others for possible future actions.

A proposal, by Mayor Mitchell, that the town purchase property owned by the Water Department for future development by the town. Mitchell said the Water Department personnel had told him they had no need for the property. The property once had a house on it and the last known appraisal was $19,400 but now the property is vacant land with no dwellings on it. City Recorder Kathy Edwards added that someone had offered to appraise the property for the town at a cost of $300. Mayor Mitchel indicated that if the purchase is made that the money would go to the Water Department. The matter was tabled for further discussion and possible action next month.

Town of Huntingdon Joins Latest Group of Visionary Communities

Huntingdon Joins the Latest Group of Visionary Communities in TENN Downtowns

Huntingdon was selected to join a limited number of communities to participate in the Tennessee Downtowns program, administered by the Tennessee Department of Economic and Community Development.

The Tennessee Department of Economic and Community Development recently announced 12 Tennessee communities selected to participate in the sixth Tennessee Downtowns program, a highly competitive program designed to help communities orchestrate effective revitalization efforts for their downtown commercial areas. Local communities of Huntingdon and Dresden are the latest inductees. McKenzie has been a member for several years and has utilized grant funding to upgrade the exteriors of the downtown businesses.

Tennessee Downtowns is an affiliated program of the Tennessee Main Street and supported by the National Main Street Center. This 24-month program coaches downtowns and their volunteer steering committees through a comprehensive, incremental, self-help economic strategy that includes training, site visits, regional workshops, webinars, technical assistance and even a $15,000 grant to complete a downtown improvement project.

While the steps of launching an effective revitalization effort focus on things like developing public-private partnerships to enhance community livability and job creation, the program also puts maintaining the historic character of the district as a top priority.

Tennessee Department of Economic and Community Development Commissioner Bob Rolfe congratulated each of the communities when the list was released May 11, 2018. Rolfe praised the communities for "taking steps to enhance their downtown districts, which not only promotes retail and tourism but also encourages economic growth."

Huntingdon's mayor Dale Kelley and Lori Nolen, Chair of the Huntingdon Downtown Revitalization Committee were both thrilled when they received news about the honor. Nolen, who has the opportunity through The Dixie Carter Performing Arts and Academic Enrichment Center to meet many of Huntingdon's visitors, revealed that "without fail, two things always come up in our conversations.

1) They can't believe a town our size has been able to maintain such vitality in our downtown area.

2) They immediately sense that our community takes pride in the place we live.

Nolen believes that "continuing to pour our hearts and energy into our city is the only way we build a better place to live for ourselves and our generations after us."

Mayor Kelley agrees, stating that participating in the Tennessee Downtowns program is another "important step towards our goal of making our town one of the most beautiful and attractive towns in which to live in the West Tennessee area."

Braden Maddox, First-Bank Manager in Huntingdon and member of the Downtown Revitalization Committee added, "Having an opportunity to work with the National Main Street Center and Tennessee Main Street staff to incorporate their proven methods with our local volunteers' thoughts and vision will continue to enhance our downtown and the work Mayor Dale Kelley and others have done to date."

Since 2010, 58 Tennessee communities have won prized spots to participate in the Tennessee Downtowns program. The highly competitive selection process is based on historical commercial resources, economic and physical need, demonstrated local effort, overall presentation and probability of success.

The Town of Huntingdon will participate in the Tennessee Downtowns program with the communities of Alamo, Bell, Buckle, Clinton, Dresden, Jasper, Lexington, Lynnville, Newport, Trenton, Tullahoma and Watertown.

Each application was supported by the community's senator and representatives in the Tennessee General Assembly.

HUNKER DOWN WITH KES

Many Are Unknown, None Are Nameless

By mid afternoon, July 2, 1863, the temperature had risen to a not unbearable 81 degrees. Few of the wool suited soldiers of the Union's 20th Maine Regiment noticed. Nor did they glance skyward at the cumulostratus clouds that for the first time in two days began to drift apart. Most hunkered behind the makeshift breastworks. And waited.

And counted their ammunition. The first two charges from the 15th Alabama Infantry had failed. Barely. No one was assured they could withstand a third one. Colonel Joshua Chamberlain's instructions had been clear, "Hold the line at all cost." The "all cost" of course, without anyone saying it out loud, was the lives of the men squatting low in the afternoon shadows.

The situation could not be more tenuous. The Maine Regiment constituted the extreme south end of the entire Union defenses at Gettysburg. If the line was breached here and the Northern army flanked, the results would be catastrophic. Chamberlain, realizing his men were down to their last few rounds and could not withstand another assault, ordered them to "fix bayonets" and countercharged down Little Round Top right into the midst of the Alabamians.

His bold attack carried the day. It also catapulted Chamberlain to national fame. He was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for his actions. He went on to be a four term Governor of Maine and president of prestigious Bowdoin College. He was also a much sought after presence at subsequent Civil War reunions up until his death in 1914.

Joshua Chamberlain certainly earned the cheers and applause that followed him as a genuine war hero. No one would ever dispute that. But sometimes we forget to remember that 134 men of the 20th Maine died that afternoon "carrying the day." Another 19 were reported missing and presumed dead. I just wonder sometimes who's cheering for them...

"In Flanders Fields" is way more than a distant poem about men who died fighting for us in some long ago war—it is a message spoken from poppy covered graves that exposes the hearts of soldiers down through the ages.

D-Day, June 6, 1944, is well celebrated as the greatest amphibious landing of all time. New books and fresh movies continue to come out detailing the epic story of Canadian, British and American troops storming the beaches at Normandy. It is heroic and we should remember! I just pray we understand the connection between the bravery and tenacity of those men and the freedoms we take for granted today.

Here's a D-Day fact that doesn't always shine forth in the books and movies. Approximately 2,500 American soldiers on that fateful day gave up all they would ever be—paid the ultimate sacrifice—before the folks "back home" sat down for their morning cup of coffee.

I wonder how many Americans remember Mike Strank, Franklin Sousley and Harlon Block. On February 23, 1945, these three men helped raise a flag on Iwo Jima. We've all seen the Pulitzer Prize winning photograph that so encapsulates the glory of the American Flag waving over a vanquished foe. Except the foe wasn't quite vanquished this time...

The fighting on Iwo Jima didn't end until March 26. Sergeant Strank died in combat six days after the iconic picture was taken. Corporal Block was killed by a Japanese mortar that same afternoon. Nineteen year old Private First Class Franklin Sousley was killed by sniper fire five days before the island was secured. I have wondered for years if any of them ever saw the photograph that made them famous.

Franklin D. Roosevelt is remembered for leading us out of the Great Depression and through the "great war." But here, to me, is his most revealing hour...when the news came to the War Room that 6,821 young Americans, mostly U. S. Marines, had died on Iwo Jima, the President cried.

We watched the Vietnam War on our television sets each night—can you think of a lonelier place on earth to fall face down in the dirt and die for your country.

On Memorial Day back in the seventh grade Miss Velna Gray Paschall told us all of our fathers who fought in World War II were heroes. Daddy never ever mentioned the war. I was waiting when he got home that afternoon, "Dad, Miss Paschall said you are a hero..."

He stopped in his tracks, his eyes went up and over us as he stared off someplace I couldn't see. I think today he was back in New Guinea or maybe on Biiak Island or wading ashore in the Philippines. After the longest pause, he looked down and said, "Son, the real heroes didn't come back."

I don't know about you. But this Memorial Day I'm going to get my mind off me for a second...and do some heartfelt cheering!

Most Respectfully,
Kes

Cancer Survivors' Dinner Planned for June 5

Tracy Teague, Kathy Whitehead, and Johnny Beth Nolen plan the 2018 Cancer Survivors' Dinner.

Co-Chairs for Survivor Hospitality, Tracy Teague, Kathy Whitehead, and Johnny Beth Nolen, are making plans for the Carroll County Unit of the American Cancer Society Relay For Life Survivor Dinner on Tuesday, June 5, at 6:30 p.m., at the Carroll County Civic Center in Huntingdon. A Cancer Survivor is defined by the American Cancer Society as anyone who is living with cancer, from the date of diagnosis. If you have ever heard the words, "You have cancer" we invite you to participate as a survivor. This is just one of the ways we are able to celebrate with all the cancer survivors and their caregivers. All cancer survivors, along with one guest, are invited to attend this event. A delicious catered meal along with entertainment will be enjoyed by all as we celebrate another birthday for our survivors. Survivor T-shirts for the Relay For Life event at the Carroll County Civic Center on Friday, June 22, will be given out.

On Friday, June 22, the Survivor Registration and Reception are 4-6:30 p.m. The opening ceremony begins at 7 p.m. inside the Civic Center. For more information or to make reservations contact Johnny Beth Nolen at 986-8496, Tracy Teague at 363-9767 or Kathy Whitehead at 986-9221. Reservations must be made by June 1.

Thomas and his wife, Cynthia Reid Thomas, near McKenzie in Carroll County, Tennessee, is now in its fourth generation of ownership and is one of the newest additions to the Tennessee Century Farms Program, administered by the Center for Historic Preservation at MTSU. The farm, shown here in this historic family photo, is now owned by the founder's great-grandson, Dale Aden, and his wife, Rhonda, and their family. Aden Farm Recognized for Agricultural Contributions

MURFREESBORO — An historic Carroll County family farm is now part of the Tennessee Century Farms Program, administered by the Center for Historic Preservation at Middle Tennessee State University, and is being recognized for keeping continuously-owned family land in agricultural production for at least the last 100 years.

The Aden Farm, located just south of McKenzie, Tennessee, was founded in 1894 by David M. Thomas and his wife, Cynthia Reid Thomas, who raised six children and grew cotton on the 185-acre property. Their eldest son, Vernon Thomas, inherited the farm in 1932, and he and his wife, Azzell Beadles Faughn Thomas, added dairy cattle and chickens to the farm's output. Vernon also served as president of the local Farm Bureau.

Vernon and Azzell's daughter, Leona Thomas Aden, and her husband, Tim Aden, acquired the farm in 1962 and raised hogs and blue ribbon-winning chickens and grew corn with their six children. Leona and Tim's son Dale Aden, and his wife, Rhonda, now own the farm and continue raising chickens and corn with their family. Dale and Rhonda's daughter Christine, one of the founder's great-great-granddaughters, was a Future Farmers of America member for four years at McKenzie High School.

Since 1985, the Center for Historic Preservation at MTSU has been a leader in the important work of documenting Tennessee's agricultural heritage and history through the Tennessee Century Farms Program.

For more information about the program, visit http://www.tncenturyfarms.org or contact the Center for Historic Preservation at 615-898-2947 or P.O. Box 80, MTSU, Murfreesboro, TN 37132.

McKenzie Police Reports

Theft of Automobile — Officer Kyle Beauchamp charged Kaelin Willis, also known as KK, with theft of a silver Chevy Equinox, reported stolen by the Metro Nashville authorities.

On May 9, Officer Beauchamp and Jeremy Brooks spotted the vehicle on Booker Street, McKenzie where Metro Police indicated. The officers saw the vehicle pull into the driveway, verified the tag number and then approached the vehicle as a white male emerged from beside the back of the vehicle. A black male was attempting to enter the residence and was ordered to halt. Two white females were ordered to remain in the vehicle. The subjects were all handcuffed.

Willis said he purchased the vehicle for $2,500 but did not present any documentation as proof. Willis said he picked up the three passengers in Paris and had come to visit his cousin in McKenzie.

Passenger Jessica Thompson had an active warrant from Weakley County and was transported by Carroll County Sheriff's Deputy Chris Adams to the county line where he met a Weakley County officer to make the exchange.

A juvenile male was determined to be under the influence of marijuana and was out past curfew. Charges are pending against the juvenile. The other subjects were not charged with a crime.

The vehicle was towed to the city's impound lot.

Willis was transported to Carroll County Jail.

Aggravated Assault — Officer Brandon Leek arrested Danny L. Hall, 74, McKenzie, with domestic assault after he reportedly assaulted his grandson on May 12 at 36 West End Avenue. Hall reportedly was upset that a dog was barking and asked his grandson where his mother and friend were. The grandfather then assaulted his grandson by slapping him and attempting to grab his neck. The mother's friend then came in and knocked Mr. Hall to the floor. Hall reportedly went to get a knife and came after the mother's friend. MPD was able to secure the knife and then interview the suspect and the two victims. Hall was arrested for domestic assault and aggravated assault.

Possession of Schedule VI Drugs — Officer Mark Boaz charged Eddie L. Shaw, 34, McKenzie with possession of Schedule VI drugs and drug paraphernalia after an incident on May 15 at 4:53 a.m.

According to the report, Boaz saw a red Ford F-150 pickup truck behind Wyatt's Coin Laundry and saw one person inside the vehicle. The officer smelled marijuana. Sgt. Boucher and Boaz approached the vehicle, tapped on the window, and woke Shaw. A search of his person revealed a bottle with pills and syringes with a liquid that field tested to be methamphetamines. A check of the vehicle revealed a pill determined to the methadone. The assortment pills in the bottle were sent to the TBI Crime Lab for identification.

Shaw was transported to Carroll County Jail.

Driving on a Suspended License — Officer Kyle Beauchamp charged Jennifer Jordan, 31, McKenzie, with driving on suspended after a traffic stop on May 10 at 8:45 a.m. The vehicle's main brake lights were not functioning, however, a third brake light was. State law requires brake lights on the either side of the vehicle. A check of her license revealed the revoked status because of a DUI. Beauchamp and Officer Billy King had the vehicle impounded. An inventory of the vehicle discovered a hypodermic needle with an unknown liquid. An active warrant was pending for vandalism out of Carroll County.

Driving on a Suspended License — Officer Kyle Beauchamp charged Javier Lopez, 22, McKenzie, with driving on a suspended license first offense on May 16.

The vehicle had a red light in one of the wheel wells that was strobing as it was going down the road. A check of the driver's license indicated the suspended status. He was cited into General Sessions Court.

Driving on a Suspended License — Officer Cody Coleman charged Eric Robinson, 45, McKenzie, with driving on revoked after a DUI charge. The smell of marijuana was escaping the vehicle and officers found two roaches in the ash tray. The vehicle was seized and Robinson was transported to Carroll County Jail.

Vega Brothers Sign to Play Soccer at Bethel University

Braulio and Eduardo Vega committed to play soccer at Bethel University in the fall of 2018.

The twin brothers signed the contracts during a Wednesday, May 16 ceremony in the theater at MHS, where fellow MHS team mates and family members gathered.

Braulio and Eduardo gathered Sunday, May 13 from McKenzie and they were one of five sets of twin siblings to graduate at MHS on that date.

Tim Watkins, principal of MHS, said the young men worked hard to earn the scholarship and earn the privilege to play at the next level. It says a lot about their character, said Watkins.

Rene Enang, a soccer coach at Bethel, said the team looks for players with good attitude. The native of Cameroon, Central Africa, said being a student-athlete at the collegiate level requires much discipline. He said Bethel has watched the brothers play since they were juniors.

Greg Barker, volunteer MHS Soccer coach, Antonio Vega, brother, Braulio and Eduardo Vega, Lucy Vega, their mom, and Hannah McBroom, MHS Soccer coach, (back) Bethel Assistant Coach Rene Enang.

Eduardo said he is happy to have the opportunity to play at Bethel. Braulio agreed.

Bethel's Global Studies Program Leaves Lasting Educational Mark on Students

Upon returning from his alternative spring break experience in Costa Rica through Bethel's Global Studies program, student Derek McDaniel started his own compost and recycling system at his home.

"It only took about an hour to get it set up, and nature provided the rest," McDaniel said. "No money spent here."

An Army National Guard Cook, McDaniel also spoke to his head NCO and asked if he could take leftover scraps and compostable materials from the cooking process as opposed to just throwing them away.

"The first time I did this," he said, "I saved compost and table scraps of 400 to 500 personnel for future use in gardening and to feed hogs that I have."

These were ideas inspired by his recent BU Global Studies journey.

"The trip to Costa Rica was my first one out of the country," McDaniel said. "My wife went on the trip too. We honestly did think we were simply embarking on a little vacation while getting some class credit."

McDaniel admits that he was not expecting the life-changing experience he had in Costa Rica. He also says the program opened his eyes in so many ways with him realizing first and foremost that their Bethel University group wasn't just there on a mission to help this remote village. He quickly realized that there was much for his group to learn from their host country as well.

"We had studied the Pura Vida life in the previous months leading up to the trip," he said. "And I have always been an outdoor person – someone who was taught to take care of the land and it would take care of me. But the time that we shared at the local school there learning about permaculture, upcycling and aiding in the beach cleanup, it really helped me see the impact we each can have on our communities here in the U.S."

According to Stacie Freeman, Director of Bethel's Global Studies program, "Our experience in Santa Teresa was facilitated by BU Global Studies' non-profit partners, Casa Pampa and Bright Light Volunteers. Prior to departure, the students enrolled in a course where they learned about the history and culture of Costa Rica and the Nicoya Peninsula. Upon arrival, we were introduced to a local agronomist who taught us about permaculture, the development of agricultural ecosystems intended to be sustainable and self-sufficient. One of our service projects involved a beach clean-up at Cabo Blanco Nature Reserve. The debris we collected (mostly plastic water bottles) was recycled and up-cycled into hanging gardens for a local school and into ecobricks for school construction projects."

Freeman said the group also attended a workshop with an Argentinian artist who showed them how he makes children's toys from reclaimed wood, plastic and metal.

"Here in the U.S., we find ourselves living in the fast lane," McDaniel shared. "We don't think we have time for such conservation efforts. But there in Costa Rica, on this alternative spring break, we got to see a culture that is so real and people who really care for nature and who are finding simple and easy ways to preserve it. We learned a lot from them."

Ginger Terry, a non-traditional student in Bethel's College of Professional Studies also said the trip was life-changing for her.

"I learned a lot about the beauty of Costa Rica and the people as well as the culture. But the most surprising thing is that I also learned a lot about myself," Terry said. "I learned that no matter where a person lives, we are all global citizens of the world!"

Terry says she wishes that other students enrolled in the College of Professional Studies would participate in future programs.

"It's easy to think that traveling to Costa Rica with Bethel is just a trip, but it is a learning experience that has application to anyone studying any major really."

Global Studies Director Freeman said she is pleased that the students on this program saw it as the educational experience that it was intended.

"Traveling with BU Global Studies is not a trip. It's not a vacation." she said. "It is an educational service opportunity designed to help participants develop a sense of belonging to a broader community and common humanity. The goal is for participants to walk away from these programs with the knowledge, confidence and skills they need to become the global leaders and citizens of the future. And it's a great way to live out the mission of our university!"

In addition to serving and learning with Casa Pampa's Learning Lab for Sustainability, Freeman said BU students also taught a conversational English class to Costa Rican high schoolers and that overall, 23 volunteers served 480 hours in Santa Teresa which had an economic impact on the community of $11,000.

Freeman said Global Studies offered programs in Colombia, Cuba and Peru during 2017, and the program in Costa Rica began the list for 2018 global service learning opportunities.

"We will be going to Atenas, Costa Rica July 10-17 as part of the Bethel Global Studies experience," Freeman said. "We have a few spaces left for BU students, faculty, staff, alumni, family and friends."

Those interested can contact Freeman at freemans@bethelu.edu.

Public Meeting in Paris Concerning Asian Carp

PARIS — The Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency is holding a public meeting Thursday, May 24, in Paris, Tenn., to discuss concerns about Asian carp that have become unwelcome inhabitants in the Tennessee River and Cumberland River systems.

The meeting is at 6:30 p.m. in the Enoch Building located within the Henry County Fairgrounds at 517 Royal Oaks Drive in Paris.

"We will present an update on Asian carp and the agency's involvement in control strategies, but we will also be talking about local sport fisheries in general," said Frank Fiss, the chief of TWRA's Fisheries Division.

Tim Broadbent, a long-time TWRA biologist and manager, has spent much of his career surveying fish populations in Kentucky Lake and Lake Barkley. He will accompany Fiss as the agency's spokesmen.

"There are four species of non-native Asian carp that have populated Tennessee's waterways," said Mr. Fiss. "We will present updates of our current research efforts and control measures."

TWRA also plans to livestream the meeting on the TWRA Facebook page.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
