Congratulations, Graduates!

This special keepsake edition of The Banner is a celebration of the 340 seniors from McKenzie, Huntingdon, West Carroll, Central, Clarksburg and Gleason who have recently completed their high school education and received diplomas at their respective graduation events. Included are photos (as available) of each graduate and in-depth coverage of each commencement ceremony.

The accomplishments of these students are a reflection of the dedication of so many in the community who have invested their valuable time, tireless effort and loving care into cultivating productive young men and women, from parents, grandparents and guardians to teachers, coaches, administrators, support staff and elected leaders. The achievements are also a projection of the bright, hopeful future of our communities and of society as a whole.

This edition was made possible by the many local businesses and individuals who have extended their congratulations through advertisements on these pages. The Banner hopes you will take the time to read these messages of pride and well-wishes and will remember to support these businesses as they are the backbone of our community.

The Banner extends a special thanks to each school for providing us the senior photos, names and information vital to making this special edition complete.

Again, congratulations graduates and best of luck as you transition into the next phase of your lives!

To the graduates of McKenzie, Huntingdon, West Carroll, Central, Clarksburg and Gleason, we congratulate you on this hard-earned achievement and wish you the best of luck in all of your future endeavors!

McKenzie Graduates 108 In Sunday Commencement

BY BRAD SAM

MCKENZIE (May 19) — Hundreds gathered at McKenzie High School Sunday afternoon to see 108 seniors reap the reward of years of hard work by receiving their diplomas.

The Class of 2019 entered to the traditional “Pomp and Circumstance,” then senior Holly Barker led the Pledge of Allegiance. Senior Sierra Keenan performed the National Anthem.

Class President Maggie Latimer welcomed her classmates and all of the guests to the commencement exercises. She began her remarks with many goodbyes, to “Mrs. Carol’s bathtubs... fourth grade play... awkward freshman self... card games in the library... dress code... and peace out, Mr. Watkins.”

She continued, “Well guys, this is it. The first day of the rest of our lives. As we’ve seen how fast four years can fly, we need to realize that 14 years will fly and 40 years fly too. So let us remember not to wish these years away waiting for the next chapter in our lives to begin. I hope that each of us actually live out our lives instead of just floating day by day.”

Latimer said, “Men, I hope you never become too prideful to take the path God has chosen for you, and women, please, please find your strength in the Lord and do not be a pushover or find your worth in the things others say about you. Be strong and remember, girl, you can become the CEO your parents always wanted you to marry!”

She concluded with hellos, to “freshmen orientation... scholarships... annoying roommates... first job... the real world... our future.”

Salutatorian John Putman then delivered his address, beginning, “We’re in the Endgame now,” comparing graduation to the new Avengers movie. “Behind us is the closed book of adolescence... The simplicity of youth has satisfied me well, but here lies the danger of complacency. A.W. Tozer once said, ‘Complacency is a deadly foe to all spiritual growth.’ I would add it is the foe to all worthwhile growth. There may be some of you in this audience before me who share my sentimental feelings about high school, and I say these next words to my self as much as you. It is well time to embark upon the horizon, to taste and see what the Lord is bound to bless us with in the future. The words of Christian musician Matthew West ring true in every age: ‘The end’s where the future begins.’”

He encouraged his fellow graduates to stay as connected as possible going forward.

Putman concluded, “I thank God for all of my peers before me today. I thank Him for my teachers, my mentors and my family, both of blood and of the Holy Spirit. May God bless you all in the name of His beloved Son. Thank you.”

Valedictorian Mallory Cole spoke next, thanking all of the parents and grandparents, the teachers and administrators and “every person who had some kind of positive impact on us throughout our time in school.”

She quoted Thomas Edison, “Opportunity is missed most by people because it is dressed in overalls and looks like work,” and added, “Now that we are leaving high school and hopefully moving on to bigger and better things, we will see many opportunities come and go. Some of these opportunities we should take and other we should let pass by. Don’t ever let an opportunity scare you off because it looks like hard work... Don’t dwell on the missed opportunities, and live regretting something you did not do. The past won’t change, but you can determine your future.”

Cole concluded, “I hope that I inspired at least one person in this room to keep working hard towards their goal... I’m going to end this how Ellen DeGeneres closes all of her shows, by saying, “Thank you and be kind to one another.”

Principal Tim Watkins then took the podium. He asked the parents and guardians of graduates to stand and be applauded for their dedication and sacrifices. He then recognized the many achievements of the Class of 2019. Of the 108 graduates, 53 were members of the Beta Club, 22 were distinguished scholars, 37 earned a 92 or above average or were at or above ACT benchmarks and 50 graduated with distinction.

Watkins announced that 65 graduates planned to attend a four-year college or university, eleven a two-year community college, 16 a technical school and 15 were already in the workforce. Two have enlisted in the military. Landon Johnson has enlisted in the U.S. Navy and Brock Minton in the U.S. Army. Minton was unable to attend commencement as he is already in service.

Watkins proudly added that the graduates had earned $2,585,566 in scholarships to 19 schools.

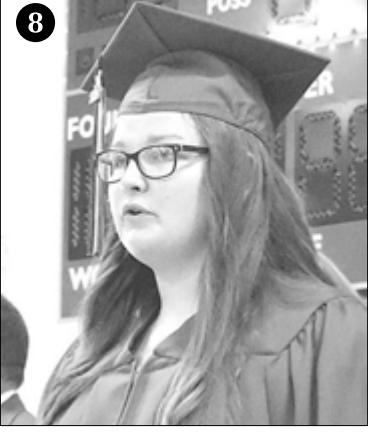

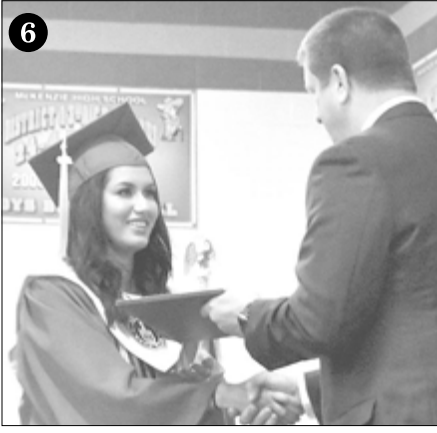

Diplomas were then awarded by Board of Education Chairman John Austin, MHS guidance counselor Sheila Ridley and Director of Schools Lynn Watkins. Watkins, Austin and school board members Greg Barker, Norman French and Jan Latimer had the privilege of presenting diplomas to their own children.

The new alumni and the audience then sang McKenzie’s Alma Mater, and the graduates threw their mortarboards proudly and exited to “Pomp and Circumstance.”

The top ten students were, in rank order, Valedictorian Mallory Grace Cole, Salutatorian John Tyler Putman, Ben Burns Austin, Macey Jenae Ognibene, Allison Camille Harvey, Bailey Hope Sawyers, Chase Domino Colotta, Haven Alexis Hargrove, Elizabeth Kate Oakley and Olivia Grace Wright.

Distinguished scholars were Ben Burns Austin, Luke Taylor Bennett, Caleigh Jo Britt, Mallory Grace Cole, Chase Domino Colotta, Gary Alexander Davis, Julie Ann French, Haven Alexis Hargrove, Allison Camille Harvey, Brandon Craig Hobson, Shaune Kathryn Holder, Zachary Fisher Laser, Henry Alberto Melendez, Matthew Alexander Myers, Elizabeth Kate Oakley, Macey Jenae Ognibene, Celeste Dee Phillips, John Tyler Putman, Bailey Hope Sawyers, Tyler Andrew Spivey, Jazmin Guadalupe Ventura and Olivia Grace Wright.

McKenzie High School Class of 2019 graduates were Brandon Lee Alexander, Kelton Chase Allen, Ben Burns Austin, Logan Cole Austin, Holly Grace Barker, Sean Bradley Beasley, Luke Taylor Bennett, Nicholas Javay Allen Bills, Emily Ann Bolin, Gage Alexander Brewer-Puckett, Caleigh Jo Britt, Jaidan Joseph Butler, Jacob Daniel Castleman, Hunter Jay Chantler, Alyssa Brianne Chessner, Edmario Lewis

Huntingdon Graduates 78 in Sunday Ceremony

HUNTINGDON (May 12, 2019) — Huntingdon High School seniors added to the 78 to the rolls of the school's alumni during the Sunday afternoon commencement exercises at the school's gymnasium.

The students entered to the music of Pomp and Circumstance performed by the Huntingdon High School Band. A capacity audience looked on as each of the students took their assigned seats at the floor level of the gym.

It was a ceremony rich in tradition, which included the ceremonial passing of the torch for the seniors of 2019 to the seniors of 2020.

Morgan Cole, class president, welcomed her fellow graduates and attendees.

Ryleigh Bailey gave the Salutatorian Address and Joseph Richardson gave the Valedictorian Address.

Bailey said "Success does not begin overnight,, it is a product of long-term diligence and perserverance and a lot of love and help along the way."

She thanked the teachers and administrators for guiding the students and for helping them become the men and women they are today.

The graduates are asked what they want to be when they grow up and are expected to give a serious answer right out of high school. However, the majority of "us" do not know and will make many, many mistakes before we make the hard and fast decisions that shape our future, said Bailey.

As "we" leave high school today, get out of your comfort zone and make the mistakes necessary and learn from them, Bailey told her fellow classmates.

Richardson, addressing his classmates, said, "Well guys, we have made it. When we walk out of this gym today, we will officially be Huntingdon High School alumni... It takes a village to raise a child. So on behalf of the senior class, I want to thank our coaches and teachers who have taguth us not only how to lead block and solve math problems, but have also taught us valuable lessons such as perserverance or being able to work in a group..."

He thanked his parents and the people of the Town of Huntingdon for supporting the students, whether it was band competitions or playoff football games three hours away.

"Now to the class of 2019, we are done with high school and I will forever be thankful for the memories we have together. It is time for us to take our own paths now, so I want to leave you with this. In life, we will face many obstacles and tough decisions. The choices you make at this time will define who you are, so you will push through and give it everything you have or will you back down and let life push you around? I wish you all the best of luck."

Class President Cole told her fellow classmates "You can't achieve anything entirely by yourself. There's a support system that is a basic requirement of human existence. To be happy and successful on earth, you must have to have people that you can rely on.

"I want all of you to look around us, look in the stands, find your family, friends, and teachers. These are the people who've supported you, helped you, and loved you and they only want to best for you.

So, when you leave here tonight to begin the next chapter in your life and you somehow get lost along the way, come back home. Remember what it felt like to be here right now in this moment. Remember what it felt like to have your family and friends look down at you from the stands and how happy they were for you. This is where it all begins.

"I've learned a lot of things about myself as a student here at Huntingdon High, like how to work well with others, and how to work through tough times with help from the caring people around me. But this is it, our last time here as students. And when we walk out of those double doors we will go our separate ways, and I know that each and every person who will walk today, in his or her own way, worked hard for the last four years so that they could be sitting here waiting to receive their diplomas."

Dr. Jonathan Kee announced special awards and the top ten students. Valedictory was Joseph Richardson, son of Windie and Joey Richardson, Ryleigh Bailey, daughter of Scotty Bailey and Andrea Batey, Emily Coleman, daughter of Greg and Denise Coleman, Dawson Gremmels, son of Dave and Adriane Gremmels, Maggie Guess, daughter of Chris and Beth Guess, Brayden Campbell, son of Amy and Kevin Campbell, Molly Sturgis, daughter of Amy and Joel Sturgis, Katie Lou Chase, daughter of Bob and Addie Lou Chase, Katilyn Williams, daughter of Jennifer and Wes Price, and Clayton Pinson, son of Chad and Edyee Pinson.

Each graduate filed one by one to the front as Pat Dillahunty, director of schools, announced his or her name and school board members Dr. Lee Carter and Brittany Foster presented the diploma. Once all diplomas were distributed, the gathering participated in the singing of the Alma Mater. The graduates moved their tassels from right to left, and then threw their mortarboards in the air in celebration.

Thirty Graduate During Gleason Commencement

GLEASON (May 17) — Thirty high school seniors at Gleason joined the ranks of the schools alumni following commencement exercises Friday, May 17 in the school's gymnasium.

First-year principal Lee Lawrence said the 2019 seniors were an "excellent class." Quoting from a Steven Carter Chapman song, Lawrence said the graduates' journey will embark on a new trail beginning tonight. He told them to never forget right is right, wrong is wrong and to be people of integrity. He noted they will face grief and sorrow along life's journey.

Following Lawrence's address, a slideshow accompanied by music, showed photos of each graduate with their seniors photographs and a photograph during their early childhood.

Chloe Martin, who was both valedictorian and class president, encouraged her classmates to seek and live their purpose.

"Thirteen years, one hundred and fifty-six months, six hundred and twenty-four weeks, four thousand three hundred and sixty-eight days, one hundred and forty thousand eight hundred and thirty-two hours, six million two hundred and eighty-nine thousand nine hundred and twenty minutes, three hundred seventy-seven million three hundred ninety-five thousand and two hundred seconds... this is the amount of time that has passed since our first day of kindergarten... Graduation is a time to imagine your future and the world to come. When you think of the road ahead, you may gain perspective by looking back to where you've been. Throughout this time span, we have developed experiences, grown through adversities, and created many memories filled with joy, humor, and at times randomness. We have persevered and shown dedication, focus, and cooperation. We have taken risks and challenged ourselves. This is a summary of the past thirteen years of our school lives," said Martin.

"Dedication and focus, we apply these traits to every aspect of our lives. In the past, we have devoted our time and efforts to and put our focus on expanding our knowledge, building relationships with fellow classmates and teachers, achieving goals, and bettering ourselves as individuals. We have repeatedly made attempts to remain focused through the 98 degree heat of a fiery inferno of a room, and we have dedicated ourselves to remaining afloat while struggling under the weight of endless and difficult homework loads. Keep a singular focus and total dedication. Follow your heart to provide yourself with the necessary tools to maintain your values and treasure the things you find most important.

"Cooperation, this is an important process to carry with us through our lives. In the past, we have learned how to work with others. Most of us, as individuals, have developed our own character and have learned how to get along with people whose personalities vary greatly from our own. This has allowed us to develop the concept of working or acting together for a common purpose or benefit. This teamwork mentality allows us to both examine who we are and see first-hand how we affect the people around us. Seek your role and do it well."

"...The most important element of life is that true success is not measured by material possessions, but instead is based on doing the will of God.

In a parallel message of Martin's speech, Edward Castleman, Jr. said the class members will be dedicated to their own path and will cooperate with people around them.

Castleman said, "About time! Those are the two words that effectively describe this night... For 13 years we have strived and persevered for it all to culminate in this one, solitary moment. We survived, though we sometimes felt that we wouldn't. We made it through the tests, the monstrous amounts of homework, the assignments that we had weeks to do and started on the last day, and the aforementioned furnace of a classroom...We will use the lessons of our pasts to chart our futures. We will continue to develop and show dedication, focus, and cooperation, and we will continue to take risks and challenge ourselves..."

"Firstly, we will dedicate ourselves to our individual paths for the rest of our lives. Some of us will focus on our careers, some of us will focus on our families, and some of us will focus on years upon years of higher education. We will devote our lives to becoming the adults that we looked up to as kids. Those who we have admired is who we will strive to become. We will commit ourselves to the light at the end of the tunnel, to the point where we say "I am content with who I am and what I have done." Our focus and dedication will lead us to what we desire to have and who we desire to be.

Secondly, we will cooperate with the people around us whether we want to or not. As we have worked together, we will have to work with our peers to accomplish our goals. Just as we have found common goals in our assignments and worked continuously with our teachers, we'll continue to find common grounds with those around us. We will have to work with people that we like, that we don't like, and that we're indifferent to, just as we have for 13 years. We will see how we make others feel and how we work off of them, and we can and will use this to our advantage. Knowing what comes to a person's mind when they hear your name is one of the greatest tools we will have when it comes to cooperating with those around us. It is as Maya Angelou said, "...people will forget what you said, people will forget what you did, but people will never forget how you made them feel." For the rest of our lives, whether we like it or not, we will have to work with other people as we have all these years.

Thirdly, we will take risks and challenge ourselves as we have been, though to a much larger degree. Our lives will be full of risks that we will have to take. Decisions that may not work out well. Opportunities taken that may fail. We are each taking a risk at this very moment... Life is a collection of risks, but we will challenge ourselves to take those that are necessary. No one ever became successful by playing it safe...

"Well, the time has finally arrived. We have made it, and the lessons we have talked about tonight will stick with us for the rest of our days... I will provide you with one more piece of advice before we leave here tonight. Strive to be wise and continue to learn... I have never been prouder of the people in this room. You've made it to the end, so revel in this moment. Tonight, celebrate and enjoy your freedom, for tomorrow life will finally begin," concluded Castleman.

Top ten graduates included: Chloe Martin, Edward Castleman, Jr., Dalana Veazey, Ally Spain, Cassie Griffin, Autum Wilson, Whitney Clark, Alyssa Hudson, Brandon Arant, and Will Morris. On podium were: Director of Schools Randy Frazier, Assistant Principal Monica Rollins, Principal Lee Lawrence and School Board Member Beau Atkins.

Congratulations!

Graduation marks the end of one journey and the beginning of another. By marking this accomplishment, we celebrate the hard work you've put in over many years to reach this monumental milestone.

The immediate reward is the diploma you hold in your hands, but the real treasures are the knowledge you hold in your heads, the wisdom and warm memories you hold in your hearts and the opportunity to make real your dreams and aspirations in the years to come.

The future begins now, and you are the standard bearers for a new generation of citizens and leaders that will shape and define the world for all of those that come after.

Good Luck
Class of 2019!

When you were younger, you would pretend to be anyone you wanted to be, from a firefighter to a president and anything else you could imagine. Now that you're older, you can still be whomever you want to be. So on your graduation day, dream big dreams and don't be afraid to go after them.

1. The celebratory toss of the mortarboards. 2. Rebecca Winberry and David Zeiss are all smiles after receiving their diplomas from West Carroll High School. 3. P.J. Odom, class president, Jacob Mims, valedictorian, and Aaron Heckert, salutatorian. 4. Jack Lawrence receives his diploma from Mr. Stratton. 5. Shelby Browning is greeted by School Board Member Kyle Foster.

West Carroll Graduates 64 in Thursday Ceremony

ATWOOD (May 9) — West Carroll graduated 64 seniors during the May 9 commencement exercises in the school's gymnasium.

Jacob Mims gave the valedictory address, P.J. Odom gave the president's address, and Aaron Heckert was recognized as the salutatorian.

Parents of the students were seated on the floor-level near their graduate children. At the conclusion of the ceremony, graduates presented their parents with a rose and a hug.

Jacob Mims, valedictorian, said, "I stand before you tonight very honored and humbled to be Valedictorian of the Class of 2019. Believe me, there are many other very intelligent and dedicated students here at West Carroll. As for those I'd like to thank, I would be hard-pressed to name them all, but countless teachers, administrators, family and friends have helped me get to this point. With that being said, I'd love to thank my Mom, Dad, and three little brothers for their support. ...I would like to warn all West Carroll teachers about the inevitable gray hair my three younger siblings will decidedly give you in the years to come. Again, you have been warned.

"To the Class of 2019, here we are! I think we can all remember being trepid, anxious freshman wandering the halls on day one of our high school career. Since then, we've grown in so many ways. Our individual growth has only served to grow us as a community; I truly feel that our class has fostered a sense of cohesion analogous to none. It's an incredibly bittersweet feeling knowing that we have finished our chapter in the annals of West Carroll history. The accomplishments of our class are remarkable. Trust me, our chapter is tremendously lengthy, but we can't let our accolades in high school define us forever. I know that a lot of passions were developed for me here, whether it be in Math class with Mrs. Hopper or Band with Mr. Randy and Mr. Nelson. I hope that every one of you found and developed your passions here at West Carroll and take them with you.

"Seeing as we are all about to go on our own paths and chase our dreams, I'm going to issue a challenge: just three words, never stop learning! Don't think of this in an academic sense. Whether you learn a valuable life lesson from an elder, or tips of a trade from a coworker, never cease your quest for knowledge. This path of learning requires us to understand that we don't know everything. My senior quote, "I'm smart enough to know that I'm dumb," comes from a Nobel laureate in physics. Richard Feynman wasn't ousting his own intelligence; he was only stating he understood that there is much that he didn't know. This man is exalted in history for his knowledge in quantum physics, and even he recognizes there is much to learn. So, never stop learning!

"I am incredibly proud to be part of the class of 2019! We have shared so many great moments that we'll take with us, and I know that we will continue to do anything to help one another. I can't wait to see what our class will be able to accomplish in life. Aim high, and best of luck to the Class of 2019," concluded Mims.

Paul (P.J.) Odom, class president, said in his speech, "Thank you, Mr. Stratton. Good evening everyone, and welcome to the graduation ceremony of the West Carroll Class of 2019. Fellow classmates, we made it! After countless hours of school and lots of changes, we made it. It seems like just yesterday we were nervous about starting our freshman year. Now, I look out at our class and I see heads held high and proud faces.

To the parents, friends, and family, thank you for your unconditional love and support. You put up with endless nights of complaining about new rules, a bad grade, or an absurd amount of homework. You were the ones we went to for guidance when we didn't know what to do. You do not know how much you mean to us.

To the faculty and staff of West Carroll: On behalf of the class of 2019, I thank you. You helped us every step of the way. The coaches in every sport, whether we played or not, showed us compassion. Every teacher in this school system cared for our well-being and did his or her best to make sure we would be sitting here today. You showed us that you not only care about our education, but you care about us as students, and without you, we would not be here.

To my fellow classmates, we are gathered here today to celebrate our biggest, most challenging achievement so far: graduating high school. I know it was rough at times to carry on, to finish that homework, or even to study for that test, but as you see, it paid off. In life, you will be faced with obstacles that you won't know how you will overcome. I want to let you know that you will make it through. I dare you to trust in God and let him guide your path. Proverbs 3:6 says, "In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths." I promise he will never send you in the wrong direction.

After tonight, some of you will go to college, technical school, the military, or straight into the workforce. Some of you will never see each other again. Some of you will go out and start families on your own. However, I challenge you with the task to grow. Where ever you find yourself, I dare you to grow. Whether you are in an entry-level job or the boss, I dare you to put yourself in a position to grow. Step out of your comfort zone and charge head first into a new challenge. No matter what you do, be the best at it. Grow past the stereotypes. Grow past the odds. Grow past your obstacles and show the world who you really are!

"As I come to a close, I want you to remember to never forget where you came from. As I said earlier, life will get hard, and you won't know what to do. Just think back on everything God has brought you through, and it will give you the strength to carry on. Remember who you are and never let anyone convince you otherwise. Finally, I want to leave you with these wise words of wisdom from Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., "Don't allow anybody to make you feel that you are nobody. Always feel that you count. Always feel that you have worth." Class of 2019, We made it," concluded Odom.

The top 10 students were: (1) Jacob Mims, son of Jared and Jenny Mims of McMoresville; (2) Aaron Heckert, son of Virgil Heckert and Bonnie Wells of Atwood; (3) P.J. Odom, son of Sheila and Herb Odom of Trezevant; (4) Heather Baugh, daughter of Lynn and Marsha Nelson of McMoresville; (5) Amelia McAfee, daughter of Paul and Tonia McAfee of Atwood; (6) Levi Hays, son of Lee Hays and Jeannie Hays of Lavinia; (7) Anna Woodall, daughter of Daniel and Eva Woodall of Lavinia; (8) Darrell Williams, Jr., son of Angela and Darrell Williams of Trezevant; (9) Zachary Heckert, son of Virgil Heckert and Bonnie Wells of Atwood; (10) Kendall Hicks, son of Tracy and Chad Hicks of Lavinia.

HOLLOW ROCK-BRUCETON (May 10) — Forty-three Hollow Rock-Bruceton Central seniors became alumni during graduation ceremonies held at the school Friday at 7:30 p.m. with a capacity audience witnessing the event.

Following the senior class professional, senior Andrew Morrow gave the invocation with the Central Band playing the "Star Spangled Banner".

Senior class president Ana-Kate Welsh welcomed the audience to the ceremonies. "It is my honor to welcome each and everyone one of you to our graduation. Today we stand on the brink of a new chapter in our lives. Take a moment to remember where you started and to appreciate where you are today, because today is our opportunity to acknowledge our accomplishments. It is an achievement in its own to have made it here today, and I am so proud to share this moment with all of you."

However, we have not made it here alone. On behalf of the class of 2019, I would like to take a moment to acknowledge those who have helped us along the way. Thank you to our parents who are unwavering in their support for us and to the distinguished faculty at Central High School who have prepared us exceptionally, so we may have a smooth transition into the next stages of our lives."

Following the welcome, the senior class sang "Lean On Me" and later sang "You Got A Friend In Me".

Central Principal Joe Norval recognized the Honor Graduates. He noted these students scored at or above all of the college readiness benchmarks on the ACT. To earn this distinction, students must score an 18 or above on the English section of the ACT, a 22 or above on the Mathematics section, a 22 or above on the Reading section, and a 23 or above on the Science section. Five Central seniors are graduating as Honor Graduates including Emily Behzad, Brent Cole, Olivia Frazee, Robert Miller, and Ana-Kate Welsh. The remainder of Central's Top 10 graduates include Callie Bratton, Katelyn Santiago, Kaitlyn French, Mason Gross, Alayna Schuck, and Trent Taylor.

Seven graduates earned District Distinction by achieving a cumulative 3.0 GPA and earning an industry certification. These students include Callie Bratton, Jordan Hinson, Bianca Kinney, Astin Patterson, Brady Snider, Chase Snider, and Lynsey Wimberly.

Ten seniors are graduating with State Distinction. To earn this, a graduate must have an overall B average and either have a composite score of 31 on the ACT, participate in one of the state's All-State Musical Organizations, earn 12 or more semester hours of transcribed postsecondary credit, participate in at least one of the Governor's Schools or earn a nationally-recognized industry certification. These graduates include Callie Bratton, Olivia Frazee, Kaitlyn French, Jordan Hinson, Bianca Kinney, Astin Patterson, Brady Snider, Chase Snider, Ana-Kate Welsh, and Lynsey Wimberly.

Three Central graduates scored a 26 or above on the ACT including Olivia Frazee, Robert Miller, and Ana-Kate Welsh while three other graduates earned the Tennessee Tri-Star Scholar Award by scoring a 19 or above on the ACT and earning an industry certification. These graduates were Callie Bratton, Jordan Hinson, and Lynsey Wimberly.

Six graduates earned the Community Service Award by completing 10 or more hours of volunteer community service each semester a student is in high school. These graduates are: Callie Bratton, Destiny Dillingham, Kaitlyn French, Robert Miller, Trent Taylor and Ana-Kate Welsh.

This year's C-Award, which is obtained by earning two athletic C's and one academic C, was won by Andrew Morrow and Dalton Williams. Morrow earned the right to wear a red, white, and blue cord along with a "Citizen Soldier" stole by enlisting with the Tennessee National Guard. He reports soon to basic training and will attend college in the fall.

Nine graduates participated in the Red Cord Program through Lifeline Blood Services. These students donated lifesaving blood. They are Emily Behzad, Brent Cole, Rikki Graser, Kevin House, Dillon Ivy, Cameron Sala, Alayna Schuck, Chase Snider, and Jordan Hinson.

After the awards, Salutatorian Callie Britton told the audience in her address, "It is finally here, the moment we've waited for the past 13 years of our lives. It has been a long road, but we've made it. It is an honor to stand before you today as we close this chapter in our lives." Britton encouraged her fellow graduates to remember two things as they all move on to the next chapter of their lives.

"First, our school's mantra, 'Once a Tiger always a Tiger'. Anyone who has attended Central High School knows you become a family over the long years you spend here together. Secondly, remember this, Isaiah 41:10 says 'Fear not, for I am with you; Be not dismayed, for I am your God. I will strengthen you, I will help you, and I will uphold you with My righteous right hand.' Times may seem troublesome along this new path ahead of us but with the Lord, you can overcome any obstacle in your way."

Valedictorian Ana-Kate Welsh told the audience and fellow graduates, "It seems as if we have waited for this moment our entire lives, but now that it's here, I find myself looking back, remembering the past and all of the memories we have shared."

She went on to say, "When you spend every day together for 13 years, you share each other's heartache, happiness, laughter, and tears. We have watched each other grow into the wonderful young men and women we are today. However it's time to accept the change and say farewell to this part of our lives." Following the addresses, Special Honors, Awards and Scholarship Awards were recognized by Principal Norvel.

Diplomas were awarded and the new Central Alumni formed a receiving line and accepted the traditional coin from Superintendent David Duncan before throwing their mortar boards in the air in final celebration of their accomplishment.

Clarksburg Graduates 17 in Friday Commencement

CLARKSBURG (May 10) — Clarksburg High School graduated 17 seniors during a commencement ceremony Friday evening in the gymnasium.

Following the processional to “Pomp and Circumstance,” Principal Lori Leasure welcomed all and congratulated the soon-to-be graduates.

Next, a video was shown featuring photos of each senior. The senior class song, “Memories are Made of” by Luke Combs was then played.

Class Historian Sydney Segraves delivered her speech, beginning with a quote from author John Green, “One day, you are 17 and planning for someday, and then, quietly, without you ever really noticing, someday is today.

And then someday is yesterday. And this is your life.” She elaborated, “This time last year, I was dreaming about and planning for high school graduation. And just like that, the day is here. Classmates, this is our life.”

Segraves concluded, “Tonight marks the beginning of our ‘someday.’ It’s scary because we do not know what the future might hold. Some of us will go to work and some of us will go to school. We will all have to find our place in this life.”

Next, salutatorian Riley Carden spoke, opening with a quote from Rocky Balboa, “It ain’t about how hard you hit, it’s about how hard you can get hit and keep moving forward.”

Carden continued, “Tonight, the seniors of 2019 will begin a new stage in their lives. Life will bring many new challenges and new adventures. Many of us will leave the familiar safety of homes to start our own new personal journey. This journey will be filled with adventure, sadness, laughter, tough times and happiness. So, remember, when life knocks you down, rise up and meet the challenge.”

Principal Leasure then noted that Valedictorian Amber Shepherd would not be delivering an address due to “circumstances beyond her control” and asked those in attendance to keep Shepherd and her family in their thoughts.

Numerous awards and scholarships were then presented and it was noted by Director of Schools Dr. Tim Tucker that the 17 seniors had received a total of over $246,000 in scholarship offers.

Each senior came forward and was presented a diploma by Principal Leasure and Board of Education Chairman Corey Bartholomew.

Then, a abundance of roses were handed out by the graduating class to parents, teachers and other loved ones.

The class was joined by the audience in singing the Alma Mater, then the ceremony ended with the new alumni throwing their mortarboards proudly into the air.

Clarksburg High School Class of 2019 graduates were: Jordan Paige Aubuchon, Gail Renea Beckham, Bryck Alan Lee Bridegan, Riley Grae Carden, Mathew John Evans, Aleah Danielle Gant, Jessica Lily Jones, Robert Abraham Lindsey, Emily Anna Moore, Nathan Michael Reed, Sydney Paige Segraves, Amber Mae Shepherd, Rebecca Ann Swinford, Macy Jo Ward, Austin Keith West, Shy'Ann Amari Williams and Eryka Marlana Yewell.

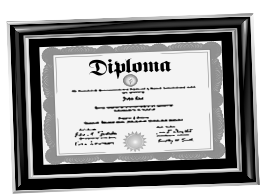

Congrats to all Seniors 2019!
