Board Grants Water Bill Adjustment

Courtesy Carroll News Leader

HOLLOW ROCK (January 19) — Hollow Rock aldermen made an exception to their rule during the January 19 board meeting to allow adjusting a citizen's water bill more than once in one calendar year.

The December bill for Jeff Crowe, who resides at 140 South Dodd Street, which was due by January 31, was $310. Crowe was present at the meeting to make his plea for an adjustment.

His November bill, which had been $169.17 and was due by December 31, had already been adjusted to $116.41.

Town Recorder Pam Gallimore said since the November bill was quite large it was certain there was a leak outside somewhere since a bathtub leak inside had been repaired.

Crowe said it was discovered that the gas water heater that was in an outside building had a leak that also caused a high gas bill.

"The water heater was running double time to keep up because it had rusted through on the bottom and the gas bill tripled also," said Crowe. "I had to purchase a water heater and it emptied my savings."

Mayor Tim Runions said he was for allowing an exception for the adjustment.

"I've been there before, I know the feeling," said alderman Ernie Smothers, who made the motion for the adjustment which was seconded by Alderman Curt Lumley. Smothers, Lumley and Alderman Maria Crocker all voted for the adjustment. Vice-Mayor Rob Woods and Bobby Brotherton were absent.

His new adjusted bill is $187.08, according to the town recorder.

During the meeting Lumley announced that the fire department is hosting a valentine dance on February 13 at the fire department on Broad Street. The tickets are $20 per couple or $12 for a single ticket. It is from 5 until 9 p.m. The menu consists of pork tenderloin with baked potato, white beans, a soft drink and dessert. A Touch of Grey will play for the dance with a silent auction also to be held.

Lumley reported on the renovation of Fire Station No. 2 at the former Hollow Rock School.

"All the rooms are coming along well," he said.

MTAS Rep Discusses Infrastructure

MTAS representative Dana Deem met with Mayor Tim

Runions and aldermen Ernie Smothers, Curt Lumley and Maria Crocker, following the board meeting to discuss their concerns on different topics that affect the town from time to time.

"We want to have the best for our citizens and the opportunity to seek grants for sewer and water," said Smothers.

Deem said that a Community Development Block Grant can be sought for such infrastructure, but must be closed out by February. Such a grant has a 20 percent match by the town that can be obtained through a wastewater revitalization fund. However, water rates have to be raised every year.

The mayor noted that everything is going up and hinted that the town's property tax rates might have to be raised.

"We might have to visit the property tax this year," said Runions. "Items that it can be used for include street paving, fire equipment and the police." The property tax is now $1.2889 per $100 of assessed property.

Deem noted that the state gas tax will probably be raised in the future, but not this year because it's an election year.

"Since Tennessee has no highway debt, the gas tax will probably be raised before Gov. Haslam goes out of office," said Deem.

Deem pointed out that towns can no longer annex property unless a referendum is approved. Without the opportunity to annex, it can put a burden on towns, especially when a plant locates just outside the city limits and the town has to pay for infrastructure.

The mayor had an insurance question about the use of Fire Station No. 2 as a community center. The former Hollow Rock School has been remodeled so it can be used for both purposes.

"What is the risk for the use as a community center, liability wise?" asked the mayor.

Deem said the use must be added to the insurance policy and a fee structure put in place for use of the center.

Lumley said if the public uses the center, it must be maintained. Deem concluded that an ordinance might have to be passed to regulate the center's use.

The mayor told Deem he would like for someone to come in and do a risk assessment concerning a data breach and some measures that can be taken to prevent this situation.

Another concern expressed by the mayor was the need of a response team in case of a water department emergency since there is only one full time employee in that department.

"We have to run a tight budget and the water fund is really tight," said Runions. "We're understaffed."

Deem agreed that an emergency response team might be considered or the assistance of a commercial company might be the answer. Also, he said a person at the MTAS office might could help out.

"We might need help from someone or a team to help out at night with a water leak," said Runions. "Presently, the town has a 24-hour capacity to run the water tank."

Deem complimented the mayor and aldermen for thinking ahead about the town's needs in the future and what needs to be done in emergency situations.

"It's good to hear you guys thinking along these lines," said Deem.

Gleason Rotary Hears About Local Sobriety Programs

Doug Snider

GLEASON (January 25) — Doug Snider of Gleason told Gleason Rotary members of the recently started Alcoholics Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous programs started at the Rotary-owned facility in downtown.

Snider was the guest speaker at the club. He said the programs meet twice weekly at the Senior Citizens Center. Gleason Rotary provides the facility free of charge for the meetings.

Snider said his earlier life was filled with bad decisions. His life is on the right path now. He is gainfully employed, attends church, and is leading the AA and NA programs in Gleason.

The judiciary in Weakley County is a strong advocate of rehabilitating persons in the system, said Snider. He praised the judges for their determination in that matter.

Attendees at the AA and NA programs range in number from eight to 16 on the two nights. For more information about the programs, please contact the Weakley County judicial system or Mr. Snider.

Gasoline Prices Fall

January 25 — Average retail gasoline prices in Tennessee have fallen 4.4 cents per gallon in the past week, averaging $1.63/g yesterday, according to GasBuddy's daily survey of 3,821 gas outlets in Tennessee. This compares with the national average that has fallen 6.5 cents per gallon in the last week to $1.82/g, according to gasoline price website GasBuddy.com.

Areas nearby Tennessee cities and their current gas price climate:
Chattanooga — $1.55/g, down

5.1 cents per gallon from last week's $1.60/g.

Nashville — $1.64/g, down 4.7 cents per gallon from last week's $1.69/g.

Huntsville — $1.64/g, down 4.4 cents per gallon from last week's $1.68/g.

Including the change in gas prices in Tennessee during the past week, prices yesterday were 24.8 cents per gallon lower than the same day one year ago and are 13.2 cents per gallon lower than a month ago. The national average has decreased 17.5 cents per gallon during the last month and stands 20.0 cents per gallon lower than this day one year ago.

"As the Northeast digs out from the brutal blizzard Jonas, commodities markets are attempting to dig themselves out of their recent hole," said Will Speer, a GasBuddy senior petroleum analyst. "Crude oil futures have lost 18% of value since the end of 2015 and have cleared the way for the retail gasoline price decline. Ample supply has been attributed as the cause of prices falling at the pump. Gasoline inventories sitting at 245 million barrels are the highest the U.S. has seen since March 1990," he said.

Citizens of McKenzie Special School District

The McKenzie Special School District joins school districts throughout the state to salute local education leaders during Tennessee's annual School Board Appreciation Week January 24-30, 2016.

The commemorative week is designed to recognize the contributions made by Tennessee's school board members, including the McKenzie Special School District Board. School boards are given the tremendous responsibility of ensuring the education of the students of Tennessee.

Tennessee school board members are chosen by their communities through election or appointment to manage local schools. They oversee multimillion dollar budgets which fund education programs for more than 993,800 students in approximately 1,823 schools. Their personnel decisions affect more than 69,000 teachers, administrators and support workers. These volunteer community leaders also are responsible for formulating school district policy. Approving curricula, maintaining school facilities, and adhering to state and federal education law. Legal concerns and the complexities of school finance, including budgeting and taxation, require them to spend many hours in board training programs and personal study to enhance their understanding of these issues. Our local board is one of volunteers. They receive no compensation for their time and commitment. They serve because they understand that strong schools build strong communities and the children we serve hold our future.

Our deepest appreciation is extended to the dedicated men and women who make it possible for local citizens to participate in education in our community. We salute the public servants of the McKenzie Special School District Board whose commitment and civic responsibility make local control of public schools in our community possible: John Austin, Chairnan, Greg Barker, Vice-Chairman, Jon Davis, Treasurer, Elaine Brown, TLN Member, Lance Rider, TLN Alternate, Norman French, and Michelle Horton.

Please join us by saying thank you to our school board members during Tennessee's School Board Appreciation Week.

Blizzard! Get Your Milk and Bread!

By Paula Watkins

You, just as I did, made a quick trip to the grocery store last week in preparation for a winter wonderland. I had plenty in the freezer, but I felt that extra canned goods were necessary just in case we were without electricity. I am one who remembers the ice storm of '94. So, we trekked to the store. You need to know that being isolated inside for three or four days is an excuse to indulge in your innermost childhood favorites. That being the case, I encouraged Larry to get a few cans of beanie weenies and enough cans of vienna sausages to hibernate until we have a spring thaw. I did buy apples, bananas, and other fruit, but those purchases did not excite me like popping the lid on the forbidden salt-laden food of yesteryears.

I remember Mother waking us up with the announcement that we would not have school because it snowed during the night. Man, oh man! I still can't remember which excited me the most: the smell of sausage frying, biscuits baking or gravy being stirred to perfection. Momma knew we would need lots of calories to enjoy the day ahead. That memory was my first thought the day after our big snow last week, and I proceeded to make the very same breakfast as if quilting was going to required ten thousand calories. I reasoned that spring was a long way off so a hefty breakfast was permissible. And it was SO good!

We didn't wait for help getting on our coats and toboggans. We didn't have all those fancy coveralls and boots. We had our school coats, something for our heads, and our galoshes. Yep, I said galoshes - or least I think that's the way to spell that word. Plain old black boots if you can understand that word better. They came up just a little past your ankles and they were always packed with snow within five minutes after hitting the back door to leave the warmth of home. You knew better than to go the door to complain that your boots were full of snow. If you did, Momma would say, "Well, just get in the house to warm up." No way! You sat yourself down in the snow, took your boots off, and shook the snow out of your boots. It didn't matter if your socks were frozen to your skin. You could deal with frostbite when you completely wore out. That's when you went to the back door, bellowing and crying that you couldn't get your boots off. They were frozen to the socks which were frozen to your feet. Momma could jerk those boots off faster than anyone I know.

Well, the day of the blizzard last week was the day I realized that our favorite son-in-law had a birthday. So, I got out a card and asked my beloved to please take the card to the mailbox. He put on his boots and enough layers to survive even the worst storm of the century. He made it to the mailbox, got the red flag raised - after knocking ice loose and made it back to the warmth of the house. I thanked him profusely and commenced to think what hearty meal I could fix since he had used so many calories (and I used calories thinking about it). Later that afternoon I announced that I would check the mail since I had not been out to enjoy the smell of snow and the joy of tasting an icicle. I put my boots on and eased down the driveway praying I would not fall and break a hip. I opened the mailbox and among other pieces of mail was the birthday card to Clayton. I had our return address and a stamp on the envelope, but had forgotten to address where I wanted the card to go. Can you imagine that?!! I just know that mailman shook his head the rest of the day.

So the lesson in all of this is that God knows why He keeps senior citizens inside on snowy days. First of all, He knows we have memories enough to fill a book concerning snow days. Second, we do not need to be any more confused that we already are even on the best of days. So, stay inside, watch those children play outside, and if you have time, send some fresh baked cookies out for them. They need the calories more than we do. Enjoy your snow days!

Not All The Mules Are In The Barn

America is not too smart. And that includes me.....and you! We get a good thing going and instead of adding to it, keeping it safe, securing it for the lasting benefit to ourselves and our posterity—we nip it in the bud or either let it die slowly on the vine. Front porches come readily to mind. My goodness gracious, the things that could be learned out there! Pa would “talk up a storm” on World War I and the Great Depression. We only half listened but what entertainment, to say nothing of the historical content. We tuned in with both ears when Aunt Ruby Nell got to giving the sordid details on how Estelle Menard ran off to Paducah with the International Harvester traveling salesman.

The weather, ballgames, politics and world events were reported on, studied, conclusions arrived at and futures set on those old porches. Neighbors came together to visit, swap recipes, gather advice on child rearing and decide how to help a less fortunate friend just down the road.

We slept on that appendage on hot summer nights. We doctored dogs, ate baloney sandwiches and stared hard down the road hoping to be the first to catch a glimpse of any oncoming vehicle. Marriage proposals abounded on those old hallowed porches.....if you could get the pretty, rich, banker's daughter alone in the swing for five minutes.

People today, I reckon, are too busy to congregate on the porch. Or maybe air conditioning has lured them all inside. They get their weather on an app download. We don't seem to be as concerned for our neighbors. Politics ain't as much fun as it used to be. And maybe folks just don't care anymore how Estelle Menard ended up in Paducah.

I'll tell you how bad it's gotten, they're not even putting porches on houses these days!

Mule Day might have been more important than front porches. You start trading mules with a fellow and you can find out a whole lot about him right quick! They used to go at it the First Monday in that vast parking lot down at the end of Broadway Street. I've seen guys trade and swap and barter all day and end up going home sometimes with the same mule they brought. The trade, the dickering, the one-up-man ship was the thing!

You got the short end of it some days. And maybe, next month, you won big. Real mule people could handle both ends of the trading spectrum with equal aplomb. I've listened to stories of mules that could plow four rows at a time, work sunup till dark, watch after the children, leap tall buildings in a single bound..... Presentation was everything if you had a good one to sell. It was ALL you had if your mule wasn't exactly “up to snuff”.

I hate that America has given up on the black and white movie. I remember when Vista-vision and Technicolor first arrived. Those vivid colors lit up the big screen for sure! But we lost a gritty, down to earth element that our “posterity” may never experience. The starkness of the old black and white picture show felt so real.

Life seemed more authentic, a tad less complicated and way more truthful, when you weren't distracted by all the colors.

George Washington, in his farewell address to America, allowed that we ought not to get tangled up in international affairs. Reckon he'd be turning over in his grave today! America was back in another fight with Great Britain a mere sixteen years after Washington's isolationist views were published. Many of our “War of 1812” leaders worked with Washington, they had heard him espouse on the subject first hand.

Wasn't World War I “the war to end all wars”? It just seems to me we could learn something from all of this. And we have. The world has learned how to kill each other with bigger, better, more efficient weapons in each succeeding conflict.

I'm telling you, we can get things so backwards! What's wrong with clinging to the good stuff in life and letting the wars, pestilence, petty grievances and stalemated governments go the way of the car hops at the drive in diner.

Think of the possibilities if we could find a way to get all the world leaders on somebody's front porch on a rainy afternoon. They could talk weather, golf courses they have played, swap recipes and agendas. And who knows, they might come together and help a friend down the road.

You let those distinguished congressmen swap mules with some old timers and I guarantee you, caucusing wouldn't end up in such a stalemate. You could exaggerate, gloss over your shortcomings, point out the other guy's failures...but eventually you'd have to show your product!

And I'm just thinking out loud here, but wouldn't it be great if someone on the national stage showed just a little of the grit, truth and stark reality that was a hallmark of those old black and white movies.

Respectfully,
Kes

First They Came for My Coleslaw

By Clayburn Peeples

So I go into Chick-fil-A one night last week and order a frosted lemonade and a chicken sandwich. And just as I always do, going all the way back to the days when the franchise in the Old Hickory Mall at Jackson was the only one in West Tennessee, I ordered a side of coleslaw to go with it.

“We don't have any slaw,” said the smiling young man on the other side of the counter. “Would you like one of our new kale salads instead?”

What? Kale salad at a fried chicken place? What's going on?

“You mean you ran out of coleslaw,” I asked, somewhat annoyed and tremendously disappointed. My taste buds were yearning for a Chick-fil-A chicken sandwich with dill pickles and coleslaw, and one without slaw on it just wouldn't do.

“No sir. We don't sell it anymore. We've replaced it with our new Superfood Side Salad.”

Of course I just knew I had misunderstood him, because I thought he said that Chick-fil-A doesn't sell coleslaw anymore. “Is there a cabbage shortage or something,” I asked, still not understanding the seriousness of the situation?

“No sir,” he said, still smiling, but glancing nervously now over his shoulder at his shift manager. “We've taken it off the menu for good; we're not going to sell it at all anymore.”

Can you believe it? Not one in 25 places that sell coleslaw offers anything palatable at all, but Chick-fil-A's is actually delicious, or rather was. Good enough to take home.

After cancelling my sandwich order, I stumbled through the parking lot with my frosted lemonade in disbelief. There's an old saying, “what the mind can't conceive, the mind can't believe,” and not being able to conceive, in my wildest fantasy, of our treasured, Southern, close on Sundays, best service ever, best fast food ever Chick-fil-A doing such a thing, I went home to check it on the Internet. Surely the young man had been a new employee who didn't know that they were just temporarily out of slaw.

But no, it's true. As of January 18, 2016, a day that will live in fast food infamy, Chick-fil-A coleslaw will never again grace their stores or crown their sandwiches.

No wonder the stock market is crashing.

And to add insult to injury, they're replacing it with a kale/ Broccolini salad. A “Superfood Side.”

Now you may have thought a Broccolini was one of those new green protein drinks at Starbucks, but no, it's a cross between broccoli and kai-lan, a Japanese plant that looks something like broccoli, but has long, slender stems that are edible in the same way asparagus is.

It was developed in 1993 by Japanese plant scientists, undoubtedly descendants of the same bunch that gave us kudzu back in 1876.

We all know how that worked out.

But both Broccolini and kale are hot items with the gourmet food crowd now, and the new salad is being promoted as being a “healthy alternative” to the usual side dishes offered by fast food restaurants. “Kale,” a woman told me just the other day, “is about the healthiest vegetable you can eat.”

Actually, there's nothing healthy at all about it. It's dead. Dead things can't be healthy. Kale may be nutritious, and therefore healthful, but it is not healthy. People can be healthy, and a kale plant, in the ground and growing may be healthy, but once harvested, it can only be healthful. Nothing we eat is healthy. If something is healthy, it is well, and dead plants and animals are definitely not well.

I know. I know. Everybody uses the word “healthy” to describe food these days, and dictionaries even say it's an excepted usage, but everybody also says “ain't.” That doesn't make it right.

But I digress. Back to the kitchen. What else do the guys at corporate headquarters in Atlanta have in store for us? What's next on the chopping block? Sweet tea? Will they take the regular mayo off the condiment bar? Is nothing sacred to these guys?

How could this have happened? Chick-fil-A is a fried chicken place for goodness sake. Their main product is fried chicken. They even sell it for breakfast. Along with biscuits and gravy! They even sell lemonade milkshakes to folks like me. Something tells me people interested in “healthy options” in foods aren't stopping in that often.

As a consolation to outraged people like me, the company posted their secret recipe for coleslaw on the Internet so people can make it at home, and I appreciate that, but I don't eat their chicken sandwiches at home; frankly, I usually eat them in the car in their parking lot, and I'm obviously not about to carry a container of coleslaw around with me.

I knew the Chick-fil-A company had been trying to position itself as an upscale, trendy fast food restaurant (if there is such a thing) and I knew they had been tinkering with their menu recently, but this decision caught me totally by surprise.

I never slaw it coming at all.

Deadline Extended to Apply for ACEP-ALE Program

NASHVILLE — The Natural Resources Conservation Service has extended the deadline for Tennessee producers to apply for the Agricultural Conservation Easement Program – Agricultural Land Easements (ACEP-ALE) to Friday, January 29, 2016. The original deadline was January 15, but the new deadline will allow more time for producers to compete for 2016 funding. Producers are encouraged to apply at any time throughout the year but deadlines have to be set to evaluate the applications.

“NRCS helps farmers, private forest landowners, and partners to achieve their conservation goals using our technical expertise, Farm Bill funding, and sound conservation planning,” said Kevin Brown, Tennessee State Conservationist. “Conservation easements are an important tool to help these landowners and partners voluntarily provide long-term protection of our nation’s farmland, wetlands, and grassland for future generations.”

The 2014 Farm Bill consolidated three previous conservation easement programs into ACEP to make it easier for diverse agricultural landowners to fully benefit from conservation initiatives. NRCS easement programs have been a critical tool in recent years for advancing landscape-scale private lands conservation.

In FY 2014 and FY 2015, NRCS invested more than $600 million in ACEP funding to help landowners engage in voluntary conservation to provide long-term protection of an estimated 250,000 acres of farmland, grassland, and wetlands through more than 750 new easements.

To participate in the ACEP-ALE program, landowners must agree to limit the use of their land for non-agricultural purposes and to develop and implement a conservation plan if they have fields designated as ‘Highly Erodible Land.’ The farmland must contain productive soils or historic archaeological sites, or support a state or local program policy.”

ACEP-ALE applicants (eligible entities) must be state or local units of government or a non-governmental organization. Applicants must have an established farmland protection program that purchases agricultural conservation easements for the purpose of protecting agriculture use and related conservation values by limiting conversion to nonagricultural uses of the land.

USDA provides up to 50 percent of the appraised fair market value of the conservation easement in this voluntary program. The landowner retains ownership and continues to use the land for agricultural purposes.

In addition to ACEP-ALE funding, $6 million in ACEP-WRE (Wetland Reserve Easements) funding is available in Tennessee under the Mississippi River Basin Initiative to help protect lands along the Mississippi River.

WRE allows landowners to successfully restore, enhance, and protect habitat for wildlife on their lands, reduce damage from flooding, recharge groundwater, and provide outdoor recreational and educational opportunities. Eligible landowners can choose to enroll in a permanent or 30-year easement.

Producers should visit with their local NRCS Service Center, if they are interested in applying for ACEP-ALE or ACEP-WRE funding.

For general information about the ACEP program, please contact Laura Persinger, Realty Specialist, at (615) 277-2597, or visit the Tennessee NRCS website.

Haslam Announces 2016 Legislative Agenda

NASHVILLE — Tennessee Gov. Bill Haslam today announced his legislative agenda for the 2016 session, continuing his focus on education, public safety and efficient and effective state government.

“A major focus this session will be on the next step in the Drive to 55: making sure our colleges and universities are organized and empowered in the best way to increase student success and the number of Tennesseans with a postsecondary degree or credential,” Haslam said. “You’ll also see a focus on public safety with legislation that makes smarter use of prison bed space and stiffens penalties for the most serious offenses driving Tennessee’s violent crime rate, including continuing to address domestic violence in Tennessee.”

The governor’s legislation, sponsored by Senate Majority Leader Mark Norris (R-Collierville) and House Majority Leader Gerald McCormick (R-Chattanooga), includes:

The Focus On College and University Success (FOCUS) Act is the next step in the Drive to 55: ensuring that Tennessee’s public colleges and universities are organized, supported and empowered in their efforts to increase the number of Tennesseans with a postsecondary credential to 55 percent by 2025. To enhance student success across higher education, the legislation provides more focused support for the Tennessee Board of Regents’ (TBR) 13 community and 27 technical colleges; increases autonomy by creating local boards for Austin Peay State University, East Tennessee State University, Middle Tennessee State University, Tennessee State University, Tennessee Technological University and the University of Memphis; and strengthens the Tennessee Higher Education Commission (THEC).

The Higher Education Authorization Act aligns the for-profit higher education sector with the Drive to 55 by reshaping its regulatory framework, providing fast-track authorization for currently accredited institutions and directing THEC to redesign regulation for non-accredited institutions. This statute was last updated in 1974, and these changes will transform a cumbersome and outdated structure in order to increase productivity and modernize consumer protections.

The Public Safety Act of 2016 is an initial step in implementing recommendations by the Governor’s Task Force on Sentencing and Recidivism. Of the 12,588 people entering state prison last year, 5,061 – or 40 percent – were probationers or parolees sent to prison because they violated supervision conditions. The bill retools community supervision to reduce the number of people returning to prison for probation and parole violations when their noncompliance does not rise to the level of a new criminal offense. This legislation also addresses the most serious offenses driving Tennessee’s violent crime rate by establishing mandatory minimum sentences for those convicted of three or more charges of aggravated burglary, especially aggravated burglary, or drug trafficking and increasing the penalty for three or more domestic violence convictions to a Class E felony. The legislation would also allow law enforcement to seek an order of protection on a domestic violence victim’s behalf.

To address concerns raised regarding the selling of human fetal tissue, the Fetal Remains

Act requires increased reporting of the disposition of fetal remains, prohibits reimbursement of any costs associated with shipping an aborted fetus or fetal remains and establishes a mandatory interim assessment process for an ambulatory surgical treatment center performing more than 50 abortions annually.

The Efficiency in Handgun Permitting Act improves the process for gun owners and lowers the fee associated with obtaining a handgun carry permit. It extends the current five-year handgun carry permit to eight years, lowers the initial handgun permit fee from $115 for five years to $100 for eight years and expands the renewal cycle from six months to eight years after the expiration of a permit before a person must reapply as a “new” applicant. Under this proposal background checks will continue to be conducted at the time of initial issuance and at the time of renewal. Additionally, an internal background check will be conducted in the fourth year of the eight-year permit.

“The Fetal Remains Act strengthens accountability and transparency for surgery centers performing abortions,” Haslam said. “The procedure for obtaining a handgun carry permit can be more customer friendly without harming the integrity of the permitting process, and this legislation achieves that.”

The governor will also have legislation around a budget-related initiative in education.

A total of 42 bills have been filed on behalf of the administration, but the above pieces of legislation represent the governor’s priorities.

For more information on the governor’s bills, visit www.tn.gov/governor/topic/2016-legislation.

Winter Storm Jonas Blankets Area with Snow

Winter Storm Jonas roared into Carroll County early Friday morning and dumped approximately six inches of snow. Areas north and east of the county received more accumulation.

Students in Carroll County did not attend school on Friday but returned Monday. Henry and Weakley counties both missed school on Friday and Monday.

The Banner asked readers to submit their photos for publication.

Jamison Peevyhouse, Director of Weakley County

EMA dubbed this storm the #NOPEstorm early Friday morning. The message was, whatever it is that you think you need to get out and get from the store — NOPE, not today, not with the roads as bad as they are. Stay home. Stay safe. The Banner used this hashtag in its online photo contest.

The response was great and exceeded the space the newspaper can devote to snow photos. Here are just a few of the submitted photographs.

MCKENZIE (January 21) — Local VFW Post 4939 presented Bethel University a flag Thursday night at its regularly meeting in memory of David “Dustin” Finch who was killed serving our country in Iraq in December 2010. Dustin was a student at Bethel from 2005-2009 and a major contributor to the football program for four years.

Along with the flag, a certificate was presented to Associate Athletic Director Brad Chappell, who represented the University.

Joining Chappell in the ceremony were, McKenzie Mayor Jill Holland, Staff Sergeant Tony Lane, and Carroll County Sheriff Andy Dickson. VFW Post 4939 commander is Junior Milam.

The certificate of authenticity read as follows: So that all shall know: This Flag was Flown over the U.S. Army Kandahar Ammunition Point, Kandahar Airfield, Afghanistan During Operation Freedom Sentinel.

Presented to Bethel University in Remembrance of # 41 David “Dustin” Finch, the certificate read: So that all shall know, this flag was flown in the face of the enemy and bears witness to the nobility of our cause, then dedication of the Soldiers and Civilians that served under it and the sacrifices laid upon the altar of Freedom. It was flown with great pride and honor in remembrance of September 11, 2011, the United States of America and the World.

Flown12 November, 2015

The Wildcat Football program and Bethel University continues to honor Dustin with a tribute in the Kermit Holland Wildcat VIP Suite. A shadow box with photos and the following message from the coaching staff and players reads: “Dustin Finch is a true Wildcat. He will live forever in our minds and hearts. We are proud to have him a member of our family.”

Also included is the following Bible verse from 1 John 3:16: This is how we know what love is: Jesus Christ laid down his life for us. And we ought to lay down our lives for our brothers and sisters.

“Dustin was built to be in the Army,” Bethel Head Coach Chris Elliott said. “He was really happy with the decision he made. Dustin was the kind of guy who would do anything we asked him to do and do it with a smile on his face. We are extremely sad to have lost Dustin, but are very proud to have him as part of our program. He has been and always will be a Wildcat.”

Elliott recruited Dustin Finch from Humboldt High School to play at Bethel, where he played several positions, including linebacker.

“He was the kind of guy that I would want 150 players just like him,” Elliott said. “He will always be a part of our family.”

The jersey # 41 will never be worn again by a Wildcat in honor and memory of Dustin Finch, Our Wildcat Hero.

The VFW certificate and flag will hang on the VIP suite at football next to the Dustin Finch shadow box.

Lady Wildcats Ranked #2 in NAIA Poll

Best Ranking Ever In Program History

Courtesy Bethel SID

KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI (January 19) — The Bethel Lady Wildcats, riding a nine-game winning streak were ranked in a tie for second in the NAIA Division I Women's Basketball Coaches' Top 25 Poll released Tuesday. It is the best ranking in program history.

Bethel improved to 17-3 overall and 8-0 in SSAC play with their 60-43 win Monday night over Coastal Georgia. They are 12-1 in Crisp Arena on the year and 59-6 in the history of the building.

Despite an injury riddled season, Coach Chris Nelson's Lady Wildcats have won fourteen of their last fifteen games. With their victory over the Lady Mariners, Bethel moved to 22-0 against SSAC opponents in Crisp Arena.

The Lady Cats have ten games remaining during the regular season with five of those in the friendly confines of Crisp Arena. Five of the next seven games are on the road, meaning Bethel closes out the regular campaign with three straight home games. The ten games are split home and away with No. 24 Loyola, Martin Methodist, Mobile, Blue Mountain and William Carey. All of those teams have .500 records or better in the tough SSAC. Loyola is tied with Bethel at the top of the league with an 8-0 record. Mobile, Martin Methodist and Blue Mountain are all 5-3 while William Carey is 4-4.

Commenting on the ranking, Nelson said, “We embrace where we are. We are proud for our team and program. Our ladies and coaching staff have worked hard but we all know and also embrace the fact we have tons of basketball to be played with key conference games coming up.”

MCKENZIE (January 21) — McKenzie hosted Clarksburg for a pair of district basketball games at an early starting time on Thursday, moving the games up from Friday in expectation of the incoming winter storm. McKenzie's Homecoming has been moved to this Friday, January 29.

Both home squads easily claimed victories. The Lady Rebels jumped ahead early en route to a 40-32 win. The Rebels fared similarly, starting hot and keeping the pressure on the Rockets to earn a 74-51 victory.

HUNTINGDON (January 19) — Huntingdon hosted McKenzie for a pair of district hoops contests. The Fillies were dominant on both ends of the court, earning a 69-34 win. The Rebels jumped out to a large lead in the first, but had to hold off Mustang rallies in both the second and third quarters to seal a 51-40 victory.

Fillies 69, McKenzie Lady Rebels 34

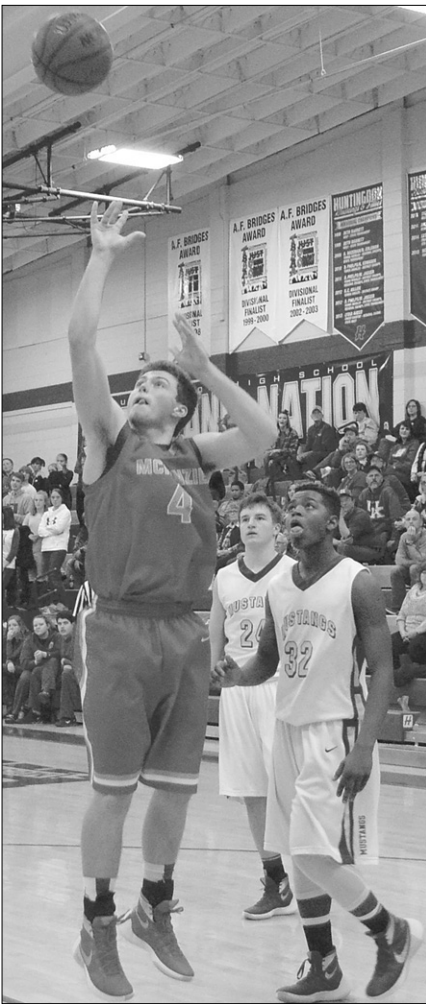

The Fillies opened on a 12-0 run and led 15-3 after a quarter. Kaitlin Belew scored 8 points, Jessica Keith had 4, and Leann Webb hit a three-pointer. Lady Rebel Jacey Davis had a pair, and Emma McDaniel hit a free throw.

Huntingdon extended the lead in the second frame, outscoring McKenzie 18-12. Belew scored 5 points, and Allyn Swenson had 5 as well, including a three-pointer. Keith had 4, and Webb and Cheyenne Childress each had a pair. Lady Rebel Anna Comer scored 4 points, Shelby Butler hit a three-pointer, McDaniel had 3 points, and Davis added a pair. At the half, the Fillies led, 33-15.

The Huntingdon offense found a groove in the third quarter, outscoring the Lady Rebels 24-11. Belew scored 8 points, Taylor Smith had 7, including a three-pointer. Keith again had 4, Webb and Carson Hatch each had a pair, and Childress hit a free throw. Comer scored 4 points for McKenzie, including a three-pointer. Caleigh Britt had 3 points, and Davis and McDaniel each had a pair. Heading into the final frame, the Fillies led, 57-26.

The Fillies closed out with a 12-8 fourth quarter, with Jasmine Dupree, Emily Williams, and Leah Hayes each scoring GLEASON (January 19) — The West Carroll boys were in the right place at the right time the most during the fourth quarter against Gleason.

The War Eagles rallied in the fourth quarter to overtake the Bulldogs and prevail by a 68-65 margin.

West Carroll's Antonio Walker was the final War Eagle in the right place, intercepting a Gleason inbounds pass with 1.8 seconds remaining to deny the host squad a chance to tie the game.

WC's Jack Johnson led all scorers with 24 points.

The Bulldogs (6-9, 3-6 in District 13A) had led for much of the contest – enjoying an 11-point advantage in the third quarter before West Carroll began its comeback.

In the evening's opener, the Gleason girls overcame the Lady Eagles' size advantage to triumph 42-28.

Gleason hosted McKenzie on Tuesday evening, while West Carroll entertained Dresden the same evening.

On Friday, the Bulldog squads play at Dresden, while West Carroll is scheduled to host Big Sandy.

War Eagles 68, Bulldogs 65

All was going in the Bulldogs' favor early in the third quarter with an 8-0 run to begin the frame.

Tracy Perry offered a pair of buckets during the spurt, while Lawson Roberts contributed a bucket as did Lucio Solano.

Gleason's biggest lead of the evening occurred after Perry's second deuce of the run, which made the count 47-36 in the Weakley Countians' favor.

The two teams traded scores for the next two minutes before West Carroll closed the period with five tallies (a Carson Robinson three-pointer and a pair of Zach Heckert free throws).

With three quarters complete, the Bulldogs were ahead 56-52.

The War Eagles continued their run through the start of the fourth quarter as WC scored the first nine points of the period to complete a 14-0 run.

Mustangs, Lady Lions Net Wins

By Kenneth Coker
Dresden Enterprise Sports Editor

DRESDEN (January 21) — In District 13A hoops action, the Huntingdon Mustangs claimed solo control of second place in the district behind McKenzie via a 69-55 besting of the Dresden Lions.

With the triumph, the Huntingdon boys improved to 10-7 (8-2 in 13A), while Dresden fell to 9-9 (6-3). In girl's action, the Lady Lions bested the Fillies, 51-43, to procure a season sweep of the Fillies and first place in the district. With the loss, Huntingdon shifts into the #2-spot in the district.

Mustangs 69, Lions 55

The Lions led early, but not often on Thursday evening.

Dresden's Alex Warren gave his team an early lead with a bucket, but Huntingdon's Tyrese Mebane responded with a bucket to knot the score.

A Warren free throw and a Dresser Winn deuce put the host squad on top, 5-2, before the Mustangs embarked upon an 11-2 run to close the first period with a 13-7 advantage.

Huntingdon's scoring was balanced during said spurt with Macon Bullock responsible for a three-pointer, while Keaton Pearson, Davion Phillips and Dylan Johnson all added a bucket.

Bullock began the second period with a three-pointer off a screen and Johnson followed with a trifecta to give the Mustangs a 19-7 advantage.

Dresden responded with an 8-2 run that included a pair of Winn baskets, a Brice Williams deuce and a Quincey McDonald basket.

Ahead 19-15, Huntingdon answered by scoring the game's next 10 points to lead, 31-15.

Responding, Dresden orchestrated a 7-0 spurt to pull within single digits – down 31-22 after a Warren second-chance bucket.

One final Mustang basket led to a 33-22 cushion at halftime.

Dresden cut the Huntingdon advantage to eight points midway through the third period, but the Mustangs ignited for a 9-2 run to lead 49-34 with eight minutes to play.

Dylan Yates paced the host squad with a pair of three-pointers during quarter No. 3.

The Lions were only able to get within 10 points on two occasions (following a pair of Isaac Davidson free throws and a Davidson bucket) during the final frame as both McDonald and Winn fouled out along the way.

Yates led all Dresden scorers with 15 points, while Warren totaled 11. Winn – who scored 23 the first time the two teams met – was limited to eight points by the Mustangs.

Pearson poured in 24 points to lead Huntingdon. Phillips, Bullock and Johnson all also reached double digits with respective point totals of 12, 11 and 10.

Lady Lions 51, Fillies 43

The Lady Lions struggled offensively through the first quarter, missing their first 14 shots from the field and didn't score its first point until nearly six minutes were gone from the clock.

Meanwhile, the Fillies – who sit in second place a half-game ahead of Gleason after Thursday's defeat – didn't fare much better, making only two shots from the field along with seven free throws during the opening period.

Late in the opening quarter, Dresden began to find the net as Mary Grace Davis made a pair of shots and Hailey Browning added a deuce and two free throws.

The Lady Lions trailed 11-8 after one quarter of play.

Dresden kept the deficit at no more than three points for the first three minutes of the second period.

Then, a pair of Browning free throws pulled the Lady Lions within a tally – down 14-13 with 4:37 to play before halftime.

Huntingdon's Allyn Swenson stretched the Fillies lead back to three points with a pair of free throws.

However, Dresden's Alexis Osteen drained a three-pointer to tie the game at 16.

On the ensuing play, the Lady Lions' momentum continued to build as Browning stole the basketball and drove in for a bucket.

Browning went on to make two more free throws, while Davis added a deuce off a steal before Swenson broke Dresden's 9-0 run with a bucket.

In addition, Osteen added two more three-pointers before the first half concluded to lift the Lady Lions to a 28-23 advantage.

A Davis basket along with a pair of Millie Bryant deuces comprised a 6-0 Dresden spurt to open the third period and create a double-digit advantage.

The Fillies battled back, though, with LeAnn Webb offering a pair of scores along the way. Webb's second bucket pulled Huntingdon within a possession – down 36-33 late in the third quarter.

Dresden's Alex Dunn responded on the following possession with a bucket, though, to result in a 38-33 advantage with one quarter remaining.

Rapidly, the Lady Lions stuffed in a pair of scores early in the fourth frame to lead 42-33.

The Fillies kept pace as the points spread stayed at nine points until the 3:08 mark of the fourth period when Belew made a bucket and the scoreboard showed 46-39 in Dresden's favor.

A minute-and-a-half passed before a Browning bucket was added to the total with 1:33 to play.

With time winding down, Huntingdon was unable to chip away at the Lady Lions lead as the host team claimed the eight-point triumph.

Browning guided Dresden offensively with 15 points, while Davis totaled 10. Osteen completed play with nine tallies and Kasey Gallimore offered six points – all in the second half.

Huntingdon (14-3, 8-2) had Jessica Keith and Taylor Smith tied for the team lead in the points department with each offering 13. Belew completed play with seven tallies, while Swenson ended the game with six.

Lady Rebel Anna Comer led all scorers with 14 points. Jacey Davis had 9.

Rachel Tucker and Macy Ward led Clarksburg with 7 points each. Tucker had a pair of three-pointers.

Rebel Jack Surber led all scorers with 18 points, including 4 three-pointers. Chase Kelley scored 13, including a trio of three-pointers. Tyler King had 10 points.

Devin Wildridge led Clarksburg with 11 points, including a pair of three-pointers. Mason Boyd scored 10, also with a pair of three-pointers.

War Eagles

...From Sports Front

West Carroll pulled to within a point when Johnson made a free throw after a technical foul was assessed against Gleason head coach Chris Leo.

WC went ahead on the possession after the technical foul when Heckert made a bucket to make the score 57-56 with 6:11 to play.

Two more War Eagle buckets resulted in a 61-56 advantage at the conclusion of the 14-0 run.

Solano, who totaled four three-pointers for the game, broke West Carroll's momentum with a three-pointer. Then, Roberts made a free throw before Paul Richmond stole the basketball, finished with a layup and drew a foul in the process.

Richmond's subsequent charity toss also fell through the net as the Bulldogs led 63-61 with 3:06 remaining.

Two minutes later, West Carroll went ahead 65-64.

Gleason wasn't finished, though, as Richmond added a free throw to tie the game at 65 when just under a minute to play.

Robinson added a War Eagle free throw to break the tie, but West Carroll struggled to put the Bulldogs away as Wyatt Butler missed a pair of free throws with 30 seconds left in the game.

Likewise, Gleason had struggles at the free throw line as Solano was unsuccessful on two tries with 20 seconds to play.

The War Eagles made it a three-point game with 5.4 seconds remaining when Walker bottomed a pair of freebies.

Moments later, Robinson's aforementioned picking of a Bulldog pass assured West Carroll the dramatic victory.

Gleason set the net on fire during the first quarter with six three-point baskets during the opening frame.

The Bulldogs' top scorer was Perry with 19 points. However, Perry was scoreless in the fourth quarter.

In addition to Perry, the Bulldogs had Solano with 14 tallies, Richmond with 13 points and Roberts with 10 markers.

Aside from Johnson, two other War Eagles (Robinson with 14 points and Heckert with 10) reached double digits in the scoring department.

Lady Bulldogs 42, Lady War Eagles 28

Size didn't matter in the evening's opener as the Lady Bulldogs overcame West Carroll's superior height.

The Lady Eagles held the upper hand for some of the first quarter, leading 11-5 with less than four minutes remaining.

From there, Gleason closed the quarter on a 7-2 run to pull within a point with eight minutes played.

Lady Bulldog Kesley Borneman put an exclamation mark on the first quarter with a buzzer-beating three-pointer as WC led 13-12.

Gleason's second-quarter effort was highlighted by a stifling defense effort that shut out West Carroll.

Meanwhile, the Lady Bulldogs totaled a dozen points in quarter No. 2 to lead 24-13 at halftime.

Borneman knocked down a pair of three-pointers during the second quarter while Lillian Nichols – who matched up with 6-foot-4 Arkansas State signee Madison Heckert for much of the game – added four tallies off a basket and pair of free throws in the period.

Gleason upped its lead in the third quarter by besting West Carroll 12-7 in the frame to hold a 36-20 advantage with one square remaining.

Borneman made a three early in the third period to give the Lady Bulldogs their biggest lead of the outing – 39-20.

From there, Gleason closed out the triumph with its lead never dipping below double-digits.

Borneman paced the Lady Bulldogs with 14 points, while Nichols offered 10 and Jayden Green finished with nine.

Green's time on the floor was limited in the first half due to foul trouble.

West Carroll's leading scorer was Alexis Patterson with 10 points.

Gleason did an admirable job of minimizing Heckert's offensive impact, limiting the future Division I player to eight points. Heckert did have six blocks, though.

West Carroll's Deidre Clark contributed seven points.

Huntingdon Police Department Reports

Domestic Assault

•A Huntingdon man was arrested Jan. 16 for allegedly attacking a Huntingdon woman at their mutual residence.

Investigator Joey Hedge charged Kenneth C. Hayes of 1200 Cotton Lane with domestic assault. According to Hedge's report, officers responded to a call from Hayes' residence regarding a domestic incident. Resident Carol Orr told officers that Hayes had struck her in the chest and nose and had grabbed her by the arms, causing bruises, which were observed by officers.

•Police are investigating the recent burglary of a Huntingdon home.

Jerry Melton of 11815 Lexington Street told officers on Jan. 17 that he and his wife had left their house at around 3 p.m., and when they returned at around 5:45 p.m., they discovered that someone had broken in through the side door. According to Melton, jars containing approximately $200 in change were stolen from the kitchen.

Theft/Vandalism

•Warrants have been issued for the arrest of two Shelby County adults and two out-of-county juveniles who allegedly stole several items and caused property damage at a local department store.

Investigator Joey Hedge signed arrest warrants against John Martez Jones and Stefon Gebratae Jones, both of Memphis, for theft over $1,000, vandalism over $500, and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Juvenile summons for theft over $1,000 and vandalism over $500 have been issued against the two minors. According to Hedge's report, the four entered Wal-Mart in Huntingdon, broke into a display case, took several smart phones, and left the store without paying for them. The smart phones were valued at $4,423, while damage to the display case was estimated at $1,346. Hedge stated in his report that the four have been identified as the same suspects who were caught in the act committing a similar crime at another Wal-Mart store.

Debit Card Fraud

•A warrant has been issued against a Huntingdon man for allegedly using someone else's bank information to make a purchase without permission.

Thomas W. Mayo of 509 Hillcourt Circle faces a charge of fraudulent use of a debit/credit card. According to the report by Investigator Joey Hedge, Clarksville resident Margaret Decker told officers on Jan. 11 that someone had made a $67.18 purchase on her bank account at the Wal-Mart pharmacy in Huntingdon. A review of Wal-Mart security surveillance revealed Mayo using Decker's account to make the purchase. Decker said that she used to live at the same residence with Mayo but had moved out back in December.

McKenzie Police Department Reports

Vandalism-according to a report filed by MPD patrolman Jeff Winberry, on January 18, the officer received a call regarding vandalism that had been done outside of Fred's Super Dollar via the cutting of electrical cords to Pepsi and Coca-Cola machines sometime during the night. Upon arrival, the store manager informed the officer that store employees had moved the machines in the past because they were being unplugged. Estimated damage to each machine was $100. The store manager stated that he would contact the respective machine owners relative to the damages. The matter is still under investigation.

Assault-according to a report filed by MPD Sergeant Cody Coleman, on January 19, Gabrielle S. VanDyke, 20, Harrison Street, Paris, came to MPD to press assault charges on Jazzlyn M. Price, 19, Highway 70, Huntingdon. Leah M. Taylor, 19, Smith Avenue, McKenzie. Vandyke informed the officer that while she trying to move out of her dorm room on the campus of Bethel University, an argument began between her friend and,

Price and Taylor. Stepping between the adversaries, Vandyke said Taylor reportedly struck her before the dorm resident director stopped the conflict. Leaving the room, VanDyke said she was then punched under the eye by Price. After taking victim and witness statements, Bethel security assisted the officer in locating Price and Taylor, who were arrested for the listed offense and transported to Carroll County Jail with bonds issued for the assailants in the amount of $500 each.

Criminal trespass-according to a report filed by MPD Sergeant Trey Boucher, an employee of Mid-Way Materials, Oak Street, McKenzie stated that on January 21 at around 6:00 p.m., she observed a man later identified as Thomas R. Hoskins, McKenzie, inside the business' fence while the business was closed. Upon being located by the officer, Hoskins admitted that he was on the property at the time reported. Hoskins was then charged with the listed offense and cited into Carroll County General Sessions Court.

Carroll County Sheriff's Reports

Drug Possession

•A Jan. 15 traffic stop in Atwood resulted in the arrest of a Trezevant man and the recovery of illegal drugs.

Deputy Jason Walker charged Tyler Kane Wright, 18, of 3415 Highway 105 with possession of methamphetamine. Walker reported that he pulled over a blue Chevrolet pickup truck driven by Wright due to a broken tail light. According to Walker, Wright appeared to be under the influence of some kind of drug. When asked, Wright gave officers permission to search his vehicle. One officer spotted a small container laying on the ground under Wright's vehicle. Inside the container officers found two small plastic bags containing approximately 0.2 grams of meth. A review of Walker's vehicle-mounted camera clearly showed Walker throwing the container under the truck.

Fun By The Numbers
Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

McKenzie Regional Hospital Selects Employees of the Year

MCKENZIE (January 18, 2016) — McKenzie Regional Hospital has identified several employees as outstanding leaders in their designated fields for 2015. Karen Petty has been named overall Employee of the Year, Kim Bell-Webb was selected as Non-Clinical Director of the Year and Ricky Scott was selected as Clinical Director of the Year. These awards are the highest honors bestowed on hospital employees each year.

“Health care requires a special blend of great people skills, tireless energy and the ability to work well under pressure,” says Michael Morrical, chief executive officer. “People who work in health care share the common desire to help others and make a difference in people’s lives. It’s a pleasure to recognize our employees for their dedication to our patients, and to providing outstanding care.”

Employees are nominated for the award by their hospital peers, based on their commitment to patient care, their professionalism, and their contributions on the job.

Camp Tyson Book Is Now Available

PARIS — The book, “As If They Were Ours: The Story of Camp Tyson, America’s Only Barrage Balloon Training Facility” has arrived at the Paris-Henry County Chamber of Commerce office.

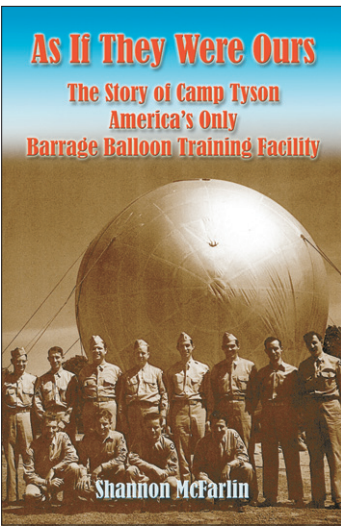

The book relates the history of Camp Tyson, which was a WWII Army camp located in the town of Routon a few miles outside of Paris. The book was written by Shannon McFarlin of Paris, who interviewed over 100 people for the book, including former soldiers who served there, people who worked there, people who housed soldiers while the camp was being built, people who ran area businesses associated with the camp and couples who met because of the camp and later married. Several McKenzians were interviewed in the writing of the book.

The cost is $20. For persons from out-of-town and out-of-state, cost of the book will be $25 to cover shipping costs. The phone number of the Chamber office is 731-642-3431.

Camp Tyson was unique and historic for several reasons:

–As the only such facility in the U.S., the soldiers who served there had an experience unlike any other soldiers anywhere.

–Camp Tyson was responsible for the transformation of Paris from a small town to a city, with its influx of hundreds more construction workers, soldiers and their families and subsequent modernization of its infrastructure to accommodate its new citizens.

–Of special significance, Camp Tyson was the home of the all-black 320th Barrage Balloon Battalion, which was the first battalion to rush onto the beaches on D-Day. They were trained for that battle at Camp

Tyson and their accomplishments have been largely unheralded. McFarlin was able to track down soldiers who were trained there and were at D-Day for interviews

–Additionally, both Italian and German prisoners of war were held there during and after the war. McFarlin interviewed former soldiers who remembered the German and Italian prisoners.

Most of the book is written from first-person interviews. Additionally, McFarlin received many documents never before seen as a result of a Freedom Of Information Act request, as well as many documents from the Library of Congress and other government sources.

The book chronicles the history of the camp, from its construction through its use during the war, the closure of the camp and its subsequent purchase by the Spinks Clay Co. The book is published by Merriam Publishing.

McFarlin has bachelor’s and master’s degrees in history and public history from Murray State University. She is the News Director for WENK/ WTPR and also writes for Paris! Magazine.
