World War II Veteran Receives High School Diploma

Information Courtesy of Charles Bookout

After 75 years, World War II veteran, Jerry Dunlap, 94, was awarded his high school diploma. With the help of Terry Frazier and the Weakley County Board of Education Office, Dunlap's dream of a diploma came to fruition.

Just one credit short of graduating, Dunlap was conscripted and sent to the Western Theater. He often wished he had completed the one necessary credit, but life and lack of time got in the way.

In the spring of 1944, like many 18 year-old high school seniors, Dunlap was preparing to graduate. At the time, he didn't believe graduating from Gleason High School was at the top of his priority list.

As war raged in the European and Pacific Theatre, young men like Dunlap felt "duty called." In May 1944, lacking one English credit from receiving his diploma, Uncle Sam drafted Dunlap.

From rural Gleason, Tennessee, he was sent to Camp Croft in South Carolina for basic training. On New Year's Day 1945, Dunlap sailed from the Boston Naval Yard to Le Havre, France.

Dunlap found himself in the thick of combat at Moselle River. Not wanting to relive war stories, Dunlap shares very little in terms of his time in combat, but did share the fact that several of his buddies were killed on both sides of him. He often wondered why he survived; fate, luck or divine intervention.

As U.S. forces advanced closer to Berlin, Private First Class Dunlap, Company G, 354 Infantry Regiment, 89th Infantry Division, received the order to halt the advance at Dresden, Germany. High command sent the directive to allow the Russian forces to take the German capital city.

Analog Radio Temporary Fix to Radio Communication in McKenzie

McKENZIE (March 11) — During the regular meeting of the City of McKenzie Board of Mayor and Council, dealing with the lack of radio communication for first responders was the main topic of discussion. Police Chief Craig Moates and Fire Chief Brian Tucker were tasked last month by the council to provide a solution to the drops in radio communication.

The “best option” was the purchase of an antenna with installation on the water tower adjacent to city hall. An estimate of $47,864 was provided from B&E Electronics of Jackson for the purchase and installation of the digital antenna along with other necessary equipment. There was still no guarantee of the quality of the digital radio service.

During the discussion, the council was made aware of the digital system (digital trunk) currently used is not the same system used by state agencies such as the Tennessee Highway Patrol (P25). In short, the City of McKenzie can not communicate directly with state agencies using the current radio system.

Chief Moates provided the possibility of purchasing new portable radios for the first responders.

The recommended radios use both digital and analog signals. Currently, the police department has temporarily moved away for the digital radios and back to analog due to the poor quality of coverage. The purchase of radios would cost the city approximately $44,000 but still does not solve the digital issue.

Concerns were noted by council members and Chief Tucker about not advancing towards digital.

While the analog is the backup system for first responders, it is not the new trended technology.

Weakley and Henry counties are moving towards digital and the likelihood of closure of analog gateway is a possibility in the future.

With no clear solution to the problem, the council has asked for the state to provide an analysis and guidance on the possibilities.

The council was informed the police and fire department needs a new console. It was agreed upon to issue an RFP (request for proposal) for the purchase of a new console in the 2020-2021 fiscal year.

In other business, the police department requested the ability to purchase up to three vehicles. The council will allow the police to purchase up to three as they come available.

The money used to purchase the vehicles will come from the drug fund. Currently, the drug fund is showing a balance of $115,035.90; the average cost of a used police vehicle is $26,000.

Under department reports, the new digital water meter installation is complete, and the sewer repairs are nearly complete as limited patchwork remains. The public works department is preparing for mowing season and once weather permits crews will commence with tree trimming.

The park and recreation department is readying ball fields as league ball was scheduled to begin in the upcoming weeks. With the COVID-19 influx, league ball has been postponed. Security lighting has been updated at the municipal park and Mulberry Park.

The next scheduled meeting of the Board of Mayor and Council is April 9 at 6 p.m.

On May 7, 1945, a week after Adolf Hitler's suicide, Germany surrendered to Allied Forces. Dunlap was sent stateside on a ten-day furlough; then ordered to report to Camp Swift, Texas awaiting deployment in the Pacific with the promised invasion of Japan.

Following the detonation of atomic bombs over Hiroshima and Nagasaki, on August 15, 1945, Japanese Emperor Hirohito surrendered. With the war over, Private Dunlap was mustered out of the Army in April, 1946.

Soon he turned his attention to finding a job and marrying Martha Brawner of Pillowville. He began working for the Gleason Foundry then later for the Milan Arsenal. Finally, he started his own welding shop and remained there for over thirty years, retiring in 2001.

After retirement, he stays active in the hay and cattle business alongside his son-in-law Howie Cooper, daughter, Verna and his two grandchildren, Caleb Cooper and Camille Legens. He also makes time for his three great-grandchildren, Jack Cooper, Avery Kate Cooper and Harper Legons. Many spring and summer days, Dunlap can be found in the hayfield or mowing his yard or as he says “just sittin’ under the shade tree.”

Representative Andy Holt Speaks to Chamber Forum

HUNTINGDON (March 13) — State Representative Andy Holt (R-Dresden) was the featured speaker at a forum at the Carroll County Chamber of Commerce building in Huntingdon.

Holt said the General Assembly continues to address bills and work toward its annual budget. He said the state is the envy of the country with $1 billion in surplus and all its highways paid for. Nashville is number one in foreign direct investments.

He indicated the state is pushing more phonics-based English-Language Arts programs. He noted his children are homeschooled and learn through the phonics-based programs.

The state, under Governor Bill Lee, is pushing for more criminal justice reform. The state has over 30,000 prisoners.

The Governor is also pushing for Constitutional Carry for handguns, allowing citizens to carry without having a permit. The legislation enhances punishment for misusing or stealing firearms.

Legislation entered by Holt to require five-member citizen panels to review public library books stalled in committee. He said he hoped to make sure the books, funded by public funds, should be age and subject appropriate for children. The legislation included fines or imprisonment for the librarian for placing inappropriate materials in the school for children.

Holt said he has served in the Tennessee General Assembly for 10 years and has placed his fellow lawmakers in uncomfortable positions. He said he was accused of censorship, but he said his intent to protect the children.

David Duncan, director of schools for the Hollow Rock-Bruceton Special School District, said the state often issued mandates for local school districts but does not provide the financial resources. He said one provision is to require Level 3 and 4 teachers in the lower grades. There are not enough available certified teachers to fill those positions, said Duncan.

Sheriff Andy Dickson said his staff meet with the department's medical services provider to create a new policy for entry into the jail.

All new inmates are screened for body temperature and asked questions about their travels and whereabouts. Department employees are also not allowed to return to work with elevated temperatures.

All persons serving weekend sentences and those who have been cited to report to the Carroll County Jail have those obligations deferred to April 10, when they should return to the jail to continue their sentences or receive new instructions.

City of McKenzie Taking Preventive Measures Against Virus

In a letter provided by McKenzie Mayor Jill Holland, she states, "The number one priority of the City of McKenzie is the safety of our citizens, and our focus is to be proactive to prevent the spread of the Coronavirus. We know that by acting early, we have a better chance of minimizing the effects of the virus. Although some of the measures we will take may seem like an overreaction to some, they are strictly preventive in order to keep our citizens safe."

According to Mayor Holland, the following are some of the first preventive measures the city is taking to lessen the spread of the virus:

• Driving School will be on-line until further notice. Participants will get a phone call or letter regarding directions for this.

• City Court dates are June 1 and after for any new citations.

• Those who have a current court date are being rescheduled over the next 8-10 weeks. They will either get a phone call or letter regarding this. They will be asked to stay in their cars or wait outside city hall until a member of the court comes to get them when their case is called.

• There will be no movies at the Park Theatre after Sunday, March 22.

• There will be no recreational sports practices or games after Thursday, March 19—April 13.

• Non-critical city meetings and events will be vetted before confirmation that the meeting will take place.

• The essential services of the City of McKenzie will still be available, however, the extent of the services will be on a day-to-day basis depending on the impact of the virus in our community.

She added, "We will do our best to keep you informed of additional measures which will help to ensure the safety of our citizens. Please go to coronavirus.gov for additional information to protect yourself and your family.

We pray that all of you are safe and healthy, as we deal with this health issue."

Carroll Academy is Closed for Two Weeks

HUNTINGDON — Carroll Academy is closing for two weeks effective Monday, March 16, 2020.

Carroll County General Sessions Judge Logan and school administrator Randy Hatch decided to close the alternative school.

The CDC actually suggested all schools close for eight weeks or longer. CA administrators will re-evaluate at the end of the two weeks.

Public schools in Benton and Henry (Henry County, not Paris Special) at this time are closed for the same two weeks.

Last week, Hatch developed a contingency plan which includes continued academic classwork and intensive court supervision of students. School officials are able to monitor CA students easier than the public schools because enrollment is about 60 students in grades 6-12.

The Tennessee Supreme Court ordered no in-person court until April 1, which includes juvenile court. Many of the students are court-remanded to attend Carroll Academy.

The decision was reached with communication with Judge Donald Parish, Judge Logan, Carroll County Mayor Joseph Butler and Hatch have been in constant communication to reach this decision.

The Tennessee Department of Health is providing updated confirmed cases by county at <https://www.tn.gov/health/cedep/ncov.html>. The information provided by the state website is updated daily and contains other pertinent information surrounding COVID-19.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), confirmed cases in the US will likely increase, but we can all do our part in controlling spread of the disease by following a few simple instructions:

HELP PREVENT THE SPREAD OF COVID-19

1. Wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds.

Moore-Wrinkle Family (Part IV)

The Legend: Bailey Moore Wrinkle

The cliché “hind-sight is 20-20” has summed up nearly a year’s worth of research. Working on the Moore-Wrinkle family story for the last month has made me wish I had been more keenly aware of the senior generation that made McKenzie thrive.

From my childhood, I have a few fleeting memories of Bailey Moore Wrinkle. They were of him at his store and a newspaper article with him helping return an antique ship to the states. It was not until just recently I discovered Mr. Wrinkle might have been the most interesting individual ever to call McKenzie home.

Bailey Moore Wrinkle was the last owner of Wrinkle Hardware which provided over a century of service to McKenzie. Born June 10, 1929, Bailey Moore was the second child to Amos Bailey Wrinkle and Elsy Louise Keiper Wrinkle.

He served in the U.S. Navy from 1948-1952, serving in the Far East and Korean War. He served on a tank landing ship (LST) ship during his military service. In 1961, Bailey Moore bought his father's store.

In 2000, at the age of 72, he and 27 other former WWII, Korean and Vietnam War sailors traveled to Crete to return an LST back to the United States. The average age of the sailors was 72. The ship was a combination of two LSTs pieced together to make one decent ship.

He was the city's former fire chief, past president and a charter member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce (Jaycees) in McKenzie, past commander of the American Legion (Post 37), and a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He was the past president of the McKenzie Lions Club and past president of the McKenzie Chamber of Commerce.

The following information comes from the McKenzie Banner archives on Bailey Moore Wrinkle's adventure on the LST-325:

It was a harrowing experience in sailing the old WWII warship 4,350 miles from Gibraltar to Mobile Bay, Alabama. Wrinkle was the ship's electrician.

In route, it developed a hole in its hull, which had to be repaired in port. One engine blew a piston, the steering mechanism often failed, the gyrocompass failed, making the crew rely solely on magnetic compasses, one generator failed, as well as some of the pumps.

All the gauges were labeled with Greek writing. The Coast Guard had warned the ship might not be seaworthy because of its lack of safety equipment and the age of its engines and drive trains. However, the old salties were undeterred. They made the trip anyway.

The shallow draft ship arrived in port on Wednesday, January 10, 2001, to a crowd of 4,000 spectators and national media. Wrinkle was the lone crew member from Tennessee so he picked up the nickname ‘Tennessee.’

It is a floating museum with ports of call throughout the eastern United States. Wrinkle often served as a tour guide for visitors.

The LST-325 is the last remaining fully functioning LST in the country. She served in the U.S. Navy during WWII, with the Military Sea Transportation Service (MSTS) in arctic operations in the 1950s, and with the Greek Navy from 1964 until 2000. The LST-325 is now docked in Evansville, Indiana for 11 months of the year and cruises under her own power to visit other cities at the end of each summer.

The ship is owned and operated by the 501(c)(3) non-profit USS LST Ship Memorial, Inc. and she tours the country to educate visitors to the role of the LST in World War II, Korea, and Vietnam Wars.

The following is a message Bailey Moore Wrinkle posted on a message board by the crew of the LST-352:

Hello—I’m Bailey Wrinkle from Tennessee on board as an electrician, crew member of the LST 325 from Crete-Greece to Mobile, Alabama. I am extremely proud to be a member of this crew and to represent the great state of Tennessee and the town of McKenzie. I have acquired a good bunch of new friends with the crew and am totally amazed at what they can repair and put together when the chips are down with so little to work with. This was supposed to be a trip of 50 days. As of this week, I will have some 130 days and some even longer, but Mobile is getting closer. My best to Bobby, Paul, Joel and all my friends. Without their help, this would never have happened. Christine with a broken foot, tell all our friends, Thanks for their interest and support. To Mark and Amy and the grandchildren — Matthew, Kyle, Abby, and Luke, that Pop-Pop has lots to tell you. They said it could not have been done. No Way — To bring a WWII 60-year-old Naval Vessel, LST 325 out of the graveyard - Bring it back to the US from Crete, Greece — No Way, it could be done. (But we did it). Best Wishes, Bailey M.

Bailey was known for his commitment to his hometown and its people. After retirement, he donated the downtown hardware store building to Bethel University. The structure is now used by the Renaissance program.

On May 24, 2015, Bailey Moore Wrinkle died at McKenzie Health Care. He was laid to rest alongside his wife, Peggy Barker, at Mount Olivet Cemetery in McKenzie.

A special thank you to my uncle, Robbie Story, for his work in supplying photos of the last few weeks of the Wrinkle family. Without his work at the Gordon Browning Museum, the research of many of the Weekly 150s wouldn't be possible.

HUNKER DOWN WITH KES

Nobody Got Pinched...(If You Don't Count the Rabbit)

I don't remember St. Patrick's Day when I was a kid. Maybe we lived too far out... A lot of “things” couldn't find us back then. The Grand Ole Opry didn't reach our radios until a week after it was broadcast!

People painted their barns red, not green. None of us had much luck, Irish or otherwise. And all the years we hung around the stove up at Bill Argo's Gulf Station, I never heard one person mention a Shamrock or the Blarney Stone!

I do remember Mom telling us over and over about how her great, great Grandfather Kennedy left Ireland on an overloaded schooner bound for America in 1850. A devastating potato famine scattered the good people of that beleaguered island in every direction.

But apparently didn't many of them make the long trek from the East Coast down to McKenzie, Tennessee. I don't remember any Murphy's, O'Bannon's or Kelly's living near us.

OK, so we didn't dance with leprechauns, get pinched for not wearing green or find a pot of gold stashed out behind Junior's J&J Grocery. We never felt deprived, left out or underprivileged.

We were too busy celebrating the many other “opportunities” we had!

Valentine's Day was a pain in the early going. The “Be Mine Forever” sweet tarts were way more tart than sweet. And you had to give out silly little cards. To boys and girls alike! But, believe me, somewhere along in the middle of junior high, that particular day moved up on the list.

Cut-Out-A-President's-Head-Day wasn't exactly a hoot either. But we celebrated it every February. It didn't seem to do no harm to us...or to George and Abraham. And the silhouettes were most always back, maybe sometimes red...but never a St. Paddy color!

And don't think us prejudiced against green. Far from it! Every other farm in Carroll County had a John Deere tractor parked proudly out by the barn.

We celebrated March by Fly-A-Kite Day. We didn't have to tie a green ribbon on our jeans. We didn't choke down any corned beef and cabbage. And thank goodness, we didn't throw nothing in the Obion River that might give it an emerald tint.

You could buy a cheap model kite up at the Ben Franklin store for 49 cents. A hundred yard ball of twine was even less. We'd get a running start in that field behind the house and have a kite “up” in no time.

The contest was to see who could avoid the trees and get their kite the highest. All went well until Leon got restless. Or bored. Or was losing. Sooner or later, in his inevitable way, he'd figure out a new slant on an old game.

He'd maneuver around you, or run across your path—in order to nose dive his kite into yours. Aw man, you talk about a kite war a hundred feet in the air! Of course, the fight always ended up on the ground. We didn't do any pinching mind you, but a fist upside the head would get your attention.

It was, as Charles Dickens noted, “the best of times.”

We had Stalag 17 Night, based on the 1953 movie, in which William Holden tries to escape from a World War II German POW camp. All you needed was a flashlight, a BB gun or slingshot and a penchant for crawling through the weeds without getting caught.

Roll-A-Log-Day could be a leg breaker. Leon would put me and David Mark “in the field” and kick one of those tree trunks we hadn't split up for firewood off the hill in our direction. You couldn't run. You had to jump the log as it rolled helter-skelter beneath you!

Catch-A-Rabbit Day might have been our best holiday of all. Of course, you had to wait for a snow. And a pretty good one at that! You get over five inches and it would slow down even the fastest rabbit. We'd wait motionlessly behind the trees just on the edge of Archie Moore's largest field.

A big rabbit would take off running and we'd chase after it from three sides. We seldom “scored” but once Leon grabbed a hind leg. Both man and beast went tumbling through the snow. I thought we had him for sure but Leon let go—or the rabbit pulled loose—about the time me and Dave piled on.

You can't tell me that wasn't a heap more fun than drinking green beer...

Respectfully,
Kes

Fighting a Virus with Truth, Transparency

BY KEN PAULSON

As the scope and threat of the coronavirus pandemic becomes clear, people all over the world hunger for two things: an effective vaccine and truthful information about the disease.

The former may be more than a year away, but the latter is critical to stemming the pandemic in the meantime.

This is Sunshine Week, a time each year when people like me write columns about some legislature's wrong-headed move to limit access to public records, and then try to make the case for greater access to public information and transparency in government.

But we're facing something far more dangerous than any state legislature could conjure up. It's a worldwide crisis worsened by governments whose impulse is to hide, control and censor news and information.

When a Chinese doctor shared with his colleagues his concerns that a mysterious new virus might be emerging, he was reprimanded and silenced. The doctor, Li Wenliang, died last month of coronavirus. After China mishandled and hid the virus from the public, the epidemic dramatically worsened. The Chinese government “is now leading a sweeping campaign to purge the public sphere of dissent, censoring news reports, harassing citizen journalists and shutting down news sites,” according to the New York Times.

Similar suppression has appeared in other nations, according to the Committee to Protect Journalists. In Thailand, the prime minister has threatened to arrest journalists who publish “fake news” about the virus and Iran detained a journalist for posts critical of the government's response, according to the CPJ.

But even a democracy is going to be tempted to manage the messaging, as the U.S. did by initially channeling the government's comments through a single spokesman – Vice President Mike Pence. That has improved significantly over the past week.

When the public is desperate for information, government needs to maximize authoritative information from scientists and experts on the public payroll. That appropriately gives Americans what they need to know, and counters irresponsible pundits who have sought to minimize the threat to score political or ratings points.

Most encouraging, though, has been the response of state and local governments, schools and the private sector. Governments at every level resist disclosure and scrutiny, but this has been a refreshing change, with leaders saying: “Here's what we need to do, here's why we're doing it and here's how you can find out more.”

Sports leagues and private businesses, not known for transparency, have been refreshingly transparent. How many emails have you received this week that began “Out of an abundance of caution...”? There are a lot of institutions making tough decisions these days, but they're largely doing it in partnership with the American people.

More than anything, else, though, this crisis reminds us of how wise the first generation of Americans was in demanding a free press. Despite the inevitable accusations by some that the news media were “hyping” this threat, traditional media have been measured and thorough in their coverage, making the most of their on-air medical and scientific consultants. Closer to home, local newspapers and broadcasters have devoted extensive resources to reporting how the virus will affect the communities they serve.

President Trump told the nation last week that “we are all in this together” and that's exactly what needs to happen: the government sharing what it knows truthfully and without spin or bravado, private and public institutions engaging constructively with America's most pressing challenge and news organizations keeping the public informed in a thorough and even-handed way.

In the end, science will prevail in curbing this virus. Yet the path to that victory can only emerge from true collaboration and collective sacrifice, fueled by a shared understanding of exactly what we're up against. That can only come from the free flow of information.

AIN'T GOD GOOD PRISON MINISTRY

A Prayer of God's Armor to Start Your Day

BY CHRISTIE SHEPHERD
Aintgodgoodprisonministry.org
aintgodgood@gmail.com
(731)535-0503

Father God, I come to You today as Your grateful and humble servant and I ask you to forgive me of my sins, both known and unknown. God, I just want to thank you for another precious day. Thank you, Father, for saving me from a life controlled by sin. Father, I ask that you make me strong in the name of Jesus! For it is Your mighty power on which I depend. So, as I start my day I put on the full armor of You Father, to remain strong against the enemy's evil plans. For my fight isn't with this dark world but with the powers and authorities behind it. With Your armor Lord, I can stand up against anything in the evil day to come.

With the belt of truth around my waist, I'll remain strong in my faith Lord. On my chest is Your breastplate of righteousness and on my feet, I walk in Your peace. I'll pick up my shield of faith, for with it I'll extinguish the flaming arrows of the evil one. Father, On my head I wear my helmet of salvation and in my hand is the sword of the Holy Spirit. God, with Your Word as my weapon I resist the devil. I claim through the blood of Jesus Christ that the enemy has no authority over me or my family. In the name of Jesus I bind any evil that's hovering in the air right now and throughout the day and I cast it back in the wilderness. Burn it with Your Holy Spirit Lord, for it is written, "Stand up to the devil and resist him, He will run away from you. Come near to God and He will come near to you!" Father I pray for the lost souls Lord, that they will find your love and through that love, they will find grace, mercy and salvation. Lord, I would ask that You guide my spirit, heart, soul and mind every step I take. For you are my Master, Lord. My Father, my Shepherd. For what is this poor sheep without it's Shepherd? This I pray today in the name of The Father, The Son and The Holy Spirit. Amen.

McKenzie's March Market Canceled

March Market, scheduled for Saturday, March 21 at the McKenzie Farmers Market, has been canceled.

COVID-19 pandemic.

It's possible that the event may be rescheduled, but no plans will be made until the facts surrounding the virus outbreak situation have further developed.

Lifeline Blood Services Facing Shortage

LIFELINE Blood Services of Jackson issued an emergency need for blood. "The blood supply has reached levels that cause grave concern for our communities," said John Miller, CEO of LIFELINE Blood Services. "We must ask that the public please donate blood as soon as possible. Without the response from our citizens, it is very likely that surgeries will be canceled," Miller added.

Recently, with the emergence of COVID-19, blood drives were canceled. This creates an extremely dangerous situation. LIFELINE officials ask that those of you who have a blood drive scheduled at your place of business or worship, please do not cancel." Giving blood is a safe activity and people who present to donate blood must feel well," Miller explained. LIFELINE Blood Services sanitizes all bloodmobiles and the fixed site location daily. "I want to repeat, giving blood is safe," Miller said.

LIFELINE Blood Services at 183 Sterling Farms Drive, Jackson is open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Please give blood immediately. If you live outside the Jackson area, you may check the website, www.lifelinebloodserv.org, to see when a bloodmobile will be in your community. To get more information about how to give blood; call 731-427-4431.

MMC PSA COVID-19

As information surrounding COVID-19 (coronavirus) continues to evolve, McKenzie Medical Center (MMC) wants to inform our local communities with information to protect our patients, neighbors, and friends.

As of March 15, 2020, there are no confirmed cases in Carroll, Weakley, Henry or Benton counties. The Tennessee Department of Health is providing updated confirmed cases by county at <https://www.tn.gov/health/cedep/ncov.html>. The information provided by the state website is updated daily and contains other pertinent information surrounding COVID-19.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), confirmed cases in the US will likely increase, but we can all do our part in controlling spread of the disease by following a few simple instructions:

1. Wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds.
2. Cover your cough or sneeze with a tissue, discard tissue in trash and then wash hands for at least 20 seconds.
3. Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth.
4. Regularly disinfect surfaces like doorknobs and countertops.
5. Stop shaking hands and avoid close contact with people who are sick.
6. Stay home if you are feeling sick.
7. Contact your regular medical provider by phone for instructions.

McKenzie Medical Center is prepared to protect patients while providing regular medical care.

MMC will begin screening all patients arriving at our facility to assess exposure to COVID-19. The screening will consist of a few simple yes or no questions.

For the safety of our patients and staff, we will take the following precautions for patients determined to be at risk:

1. At-risk patient isolation.
2. Patient protective masks.
3. Medical professionals will utilize masks, gloves, gowns, etc. during encounter.

MURFREESBORO (March 12) — The Huntingdon Fillies ended their season Thursday with an 80-36 loss to Clarkrange in the opening round of the TSSAA Class A State Girls Basketball Tournament.

The Lady Buffaloes pulled ahead early and led 13-7 after the opening frame. The second quarter went much the same for a 15-8 Clarkrange advantage and a 28-15 lead at the half.

The Fillies gained some offensive momentum in the third, but couldn't slow down Clarkrange on the other end and were outscored 21-15. Entering the final frame, the Lady Buffaloes led 49-30.

The Lady Buffaloes scored at will in the fourth as Huntingdon went cold again for a 31-6 tilt to close out the win.

Clarkrange's Kassie Monday led all scorers with 25 points, including a three-pointer. Chloe Howard scored 18 with a three. Kaylie Monday had 15 points with a trio of three-pointers.

The Lady Buffaloes shot 60 percent from the field (30-50), 45.5 percent from three (10-22) and 71.4 percent from the free throw line (10-14).

Tyasia Reed led the Fillies with 12 points. Adyn Swenson and Brooklyn Williams each scored seven points. Kaci Fuller had four points, including the team's lone three-pointer.

Huntingdon shot 17.8 percent from the field (8-45), five percent from three (1-20) and 79.2 percent from the line (19-24).

The Fillies won the rebounding battle 34-26, including 19 offensive rebounds to Clarkrange's six.

Huntingdon had 25 turnovers compared to 14 for the Lady Buffaloes.

Clarkrange had 19 steals to the Fillies' seven.

COVID-19

TSSAA Provides Update Regarding Spring Sports

On Friday, March 13, the TSSAA made the following announcement in response to the COVID-19 pandemic:

As the situation continues to evolve daily with COVID-19, we have received a number of inquiries from schools/school systems who are considering suspending classes and/or extracurricular activities for an extended period of time. We are also aware that conversations are taking place at the state and federal level which may impact travel, extracurricular activities and the educational system as a whole.

We would like to remind you that there is no TSSAA requirement for schools to play regular season games in spring sports.

We realize that a number of districts and regions use regular season results for seeding purposes at postseason tournaments. We encourage administrators to begin conversations with other schools in your district/region to discuss how these cancellations will be treated for the purposes of postseason seeding. Should your district/region choose to play a postseason tournament, all schools in your district/region that wish to participate in the tournament must be included in the bracket regardless of how many games each school has played during the regular season.

Scheduling and participating in regular season contests during the spring is totally left up to the discretion of the administration and/or LEA of the schools involved. We realize that the situation is changing rapidly and events around the country are influencing what discretion can or cannot be given to administrators or LEA.

We will continue to monitor the situation and we encourage each member school to consult with their local health department and medical professionals to help with these decisions. Please continue to review the key planning considerations for event planning should you decide to allow regular season play.

COVID-19

BlueCross Basketball Championships Postponed Due to Pandemic

MURFREESBORO (March 12) — The TSSAA made the following announcement Thursday in response to the COVID-19 pandemic:

Following the conclusion of the girls' state basketball tournament quarterfinal round today, we are suspending the remainder of the girls' state tournament and next week's boys' state tournament. Whether we will be able to reschedule these events will depend on the length of the suspension and the availability of facilities.

We intended to conduct the tournaments with restricted attendance as we announced earlier. However, today has seen the suspension or cancellation of championship events by the NCAA and multiple collegiate conferences including the SEC tournament that was being played nearby; the suspension of regular season play in the NBA and the NHL; the closure of university campuses and of several Tennessee public school systems; and the suspension or cancellation of high school championships in multiple other states.

COVID-19 is a public health threat, a threat to our student-athletes and our school communities. With the actions being taken all around us, including the action of our host university MTSU in sending all students away from campus, we believe it would be irresponsible and contrary to the public interest for us to continue our tournaments at this time and risk contributing to the spread of the virus.

We will provide further updates as this pandemic evolves, including updates on whether we will be able to reschedule these tournaments.

MCKENZIE (March 9) — McKenzie High School senior basketball standout Shelby Davis put ink to paper Monday committing to continue her athletic career with the Williams Baptist University Lady Eagles. The signing ceremony was in the MHS Theatre, where Davis was joined by coaches, teammates, teachers, family and friends.

Also on hand was Kala Tyus, assistant coach (and head JV coach) for the Lady Eagles.

The school is located in Walnut Ridge, Arkansas, and the team plays in the NAIA Division I's American Midwest Conference.

In an interview with The Banner, Coach Tyus said of her newest recruit, "We've seen Shelby's determination and hustle. We love her vision on the court. She's a point guard who can shoot and facilitate, and we think she'll make a huge impact on the team."

McKenzie Head Coach Lance McAllister said, "She's been a great leader for four years. She's one of the hardest-working players I've ever coached.

Nobody loves the game as much as Shelby does. She's been a great teammate, and she'll be hard to replace."

Davis told The Banner that she chose WBU because she likes the campus and the coaches and that the community reminds her of McKenzie. She said that the Lady Rebels have been "a family, no doubt." She said that her experience with the team has taught her to work hard on and off the court. "My teammates have pushed me to be the best I can be."

Morning Glory Garden Club Celebrates Tennessee Arbor Day

On Friday, March 6, the Morning Glory Garden Club continued its annual tradition of celebrating Tennessee Arbor Day by planting a white dogwood tree in the downtown Veterans Park. Our special thanks to Jeremy Allen for his assistance.

Arbor Day history: In 1854, J. Sterling Morton moved from Detroit to the area that is now Nebraska. He and other pioneers noticed a lack of trees which were needed to act as windbreaks, to stabilize the soil and to give shade from the sun. He planted trees around his home and encouraged others to do the same. On January 4, 1872, he proposed a holiday to plant trees on April 10 that year. This was known as "Arbor Day." About one million trees were planted in Nebraska on the first Arbor Day. All states in the U.S. now have an official Arbor Day at a time of year that has the best weather conditions for planting trees.

In 1875, Tennessee became one of the first states to adopt this special day. In 1925, the Tennessee legislature set "Bird, Flower and Arbor Day" on the first Friday in April. In 1946 it was changed to the first Friday in March. On Arbor Day, people are encouraged to get their hands in the dirt and plant trees!

Dr. Daniel Sumrok Brings Trauma-Informed Model To Primary Care at Integrative Health Center of McKenzie

BY BRAD SAM
brad@mckenziebanner.com

A local physician has dedicated his career to revolutionizing the medical industry with a trauma-informed model and now looks to implement the methods he's helped innovate at his McKenzie clinic.

Dr. Daniel Sumrok has practiced medicine in McKenzie since 1991, when he was recruited to McKenzie Medical Center by Dr. Volker Winkler. Prior to that, Sumrok was an Army doctor and worked for U.S. Public Health Services. At MMC, his portfolio included obstetrics, family medicine, addiction treatment and emergency care.

After a year at MMC, Sumrok purchased the private practice of the retiring Dr. Sidney Ray. He moved that practice to its current location at 1894 Cedar Avenue in 2005.

Dr. Sumrok also served as the emergency room director at Martin's Volunteer Community Hospital from 2001 to 2011 and had an office in Dresden from 2007 to 2011.

After his stint in Martin, he shifted to addictions medicine full-time, while still offering some primary care.

His addiction patients have made over 23,000 visits to his McKenzie practice.

Going all the way back to 1991, Sumrok has been affiliated with the University of Tennessee's Department of Family Medicine at the UT Health Sciences Center in Memphis. There, he offered clinical clerkship experiences to third- and fourth-year medical students. In the 90's, he offered a women's health fellowship in both McKenzie and Memphis, and it continues in Memphis today. He was a full-time UT employee from 2014-19. He helped begin the Center for Addiction Sciences, which is recognized as America's first Center of Excellence in Addiction Science.

The McKenzie clinic, along with a clinic near Vanderbilt University in Nashville, make up Integrative Health Centers, an ambitious new medical initiative by Sumrok and his two partners, Ryan Chapman and Lee McCormick.

McCormick is the founder of several highly-successful residential treatment centers, including The Ranch in Nunnely, Tennessee (near Centerville). Sumrok was medical director at the facility from 2011 to 2015.

Chapman is an entrepreneur who has achieved monumental success at a young age alongside his own experience with addiction and recovery. At the age of 18, he began working as a cashier at Premier Parking in Nashville and became the owner within four years. Two years ago, at age 34, he sold it as one of the largest parking providers in the nation.

In 2010, McCormick co-founded Integrative Life Center in Nashville, and Chapman became majority owner and CEO in 2018. Sumrok joined the ILC staff in August of last year.

Chapman is IHC's CEO, and Sumrok is the company's Chief Medical Officer.

In an interview with The Banner, Dr. Sumrok described his goals to distinguish his clinic from conventional practices: patient involvement in treatment plans, a safe environment that won't retraumatize patients and creation of individualized treatment plans as opposed to a one-size-fits-all approach.

Under his trauma-informed model, all patients, whether they are addiction patients or primary care patients, receive treatment that factors in their trauma history. Individuals can be assigned a score based on adverse childhood experiences, or ACEs, which include things like abuse, neglect, addiction in the household, parental divorce or separation and bullying, among others.

Sumrok said that research shows many chronic diseases in American adults can be traced back to ACEs, including 80 percent of the top ten causes of death identified by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

A study published recently by Sumrok and colleagues at UTHSC and at the University of Memphis, based on data from addiction patients at his clinic, shows how ACE scores can predict opioid relapse and how trauma-informed treatment can decrease relapses. The study has received national recognition and contributes to a paradigm shift in the medical industry toward trauma-informed care.

Practicing with Sumrok in McKenzie is Allison Castleman, FNP (Family Nurse Practitioner). She is a Greenfield native and a Martin resident. Castleman graduated from the University of Tennessee at Martin as a Registered Nurse in 2011 and from the University of Memphis as an FNP in December 2019. She joined the IHC staff in late February and described her role to The Banner as "providing total care for our patients."

The clinic's LPN is Jason Hodge, a lifelong South Fulton resident and Tennessee Tech graduate.

The office manager is Patsy Mattox, who has worked with Sumrok since he arrived in McKenzie.

Stephanie McClerkin is the patient care coordinator.

Integrative Health Center of McKenzie operates Monday through Thursday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Friday from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Patients can be seen by appointment or walk-in.

IHC anticipates accepting all forms of insurance as well as the uninsured.

The clinic can be reached at 731-352-0603.

Bow Wow at the Barn IV Nets $6,500 for Carroll Humane Society

McKENZIE (March 7) — Carroll County Humane Society hosted 100 at a sold-out Bow Wow at the Barn IV Saturday at The Venue at Waddell Place. Approximately $6,500 was raised for the non-profit's mission to care for animals in need and help them find their "forever homes."

The event was catered by Crossroads Custom Catering, who served a taco bar, fruit and vegetable appetizers and a variety of desserts. Guests also enjoyed various flavors of margaritas served by bartender Destiny Lane.

The popular local band Flash Back performed an eclectic set of hits to keep the party lively and get the guests up and dancing.

A silent auction featured 93 items donated by local businesses and individuals. A live auction was held for three big-ticket items, resulting in exciting bidding wars that brought in extra cash for the worthy cause.

A 40-inch Sceptre television earned $185 from top-bidder Lisa Hawkins. An autographed Marcus Mariota Tennessee Titans jersey netted $110 from Olivia Arnold. The most hotly-contested item was an autographed Derrick Henry Tennessee Titans jersey, which Jeremy King won for $300.

Organizers expressed a special thanks to Ronnie and Donna Waddell, who generously allow CCHS to use The Venue free of charge.

The Carroll County Humane

Society is a no-kill animal shelter in McKenzie, Tennessee. (CCHS does not euthanize to make space or limit the amount of time an animal can stay at the shelter.) It is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization, with funding coming entirely from private contributions, bequests, fundraising and grants. The group cares for approximately 250 animals at one time in the shelter and in foster homes. The goal is to utilize adoption and spay/neuter as the community's animal population control—not euthanasia. CCHS hopes to ensure that all companion animals have a warm, safe, loving home and to assist and educate the public about proper pet care. The organization also gives shelter to abused animals while assisting law enforcement to prosecute their abusers.

Trezevant Board of Alderman Discusses Water, Other Issues

BY BRAD SAM

TREZEVANT (March 10) — The Trezevant Board of Aldermen met Tuesday with a lengthy list of consequential items to discuss, including the ongoing water system issues, city park projects, codes enforcement, access to city property and removal of a radio tower.

Financial officer Jeff Goad spoke to the board about the state revolving loan program and the opportunity to get loans at a rate of less than one percent to overhaul the water system. Needed upgrades to the nearly 60-year-old system will cost approximately $530,000. Regular breakdowns and consistent water loss are causing the department to operate at a loss. Goad noted that if the problems are not corrected, state officials could take over the department and raise rates to the point at which the losses are covered.

Aldermen approved a motion to get a new estimate on the needed repairs and begin the process of acquiring the state revolving loan. This action doesn't include the town committing to anything at this time. Alderman Eddie Granger dissented.

Goad also presented aldermen with preliminary budget numbers to review before the next meeting.

The board voted to declare an unused radio tower adjacent to city hall as surplus property. The tower will be placed on govdeals.com for bids for disassembly and removal by a licensed and bonded party. Also declared surplus were the stoplights previously used at the four-way stop.

Mayor Bobby Blaylock opened bids for the walking track and accompanying parking. The board agreed to forego the parking for now, and a motion was made and approved for the track to be re-bid with a lower required thickness of the pavement and rock bed.

Alderman Granger raised a litany of assorted concerns, and the board took action on several.

Some of the town's property is unprotected at the shop, so a wood panel fence will be installed by city employees at a cost of $3,000.

The town will begin charging rent for parking in the gravel lot across from city hall on April 1. This mainly affects truckers who park their trailers on the lot regularly. The cost for a permit will be $50 per month or $500 per year. Violators will be towed at the owner's expense.

Granger expressed his wishes that the town take action to have properties cleaned up and maintained. He noted that the town has no health officer as called for in the charter. Alderman Ricky Browning, Jr. stated that he knew of someone qualified and willing to perform the role for the town. The board voted to have Browning contact the person about the position.

Granger addressed the town's lack of a tornado siren, and a brief discussion about the need and costs resulted in no action being taken.

Finally, Granger spoke about safety issues at the park and what could be done to make it usable. A couple of citizens in attendance expressed their irritation that ball season was beginning and there was a shortage of available fields in the West Carroll communities. The board and present town employees discussed electrical problems, ground issues and the need for restroom renovations. Aldermen decided to take some quick actions to make at least one ball field accessible, including renting porta-potties, contacting an electrician, repairing the drive and using orange fencing to block off some dangerous areas. More permanent solutions will be determined later. Specifically, some of the unsafe spots in the ground can be repaired using dirt that will be removed to install the walking track in the coming months.

It was briefly discussed that the town is still waiting for CSX to offer a resolution to the Park Street issues, including a large hole and the rail company's desire to close at least one end of the street, which is CSX property.

The meeting adjourned after two hours.

Huntingdon Police Reports

Fake Money — Jerry D. Hilliard, 55, of Huntingdon was charged with criminal simulation for allegedly using fake money at locations around Huntingdon.

According to the report by Officer Brad Allen, the HPD investigated reports of fake $20 and $1 bills marked for motion picture use only being used at Little General and Discount Tobacco, and some were even turned in at the Carroll County Jail, all on February 29 and March 1. During the course of the investigation, a particular vehicle and tag number was identified as being involved in the case, and it was discovered that Hilliard had gotten a ride from the owner of that vehicle to Little General and Discount Tobacco and back to his residence at Hillcourt Circle on February 29. Hilliard was arrested on March 2.

Fun By The Numbers
Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
