McKenzie Native to Attend The Citadel

Scott Sam, a 2012 graduate of McKenzie High School, recently completed the third and final phase of Nuclear Power Training for the U.S. Navy and has been accepted to attend The Citadel.

After finishing first in his first two phases, Machinist's Mate Sam finished second in the final phase. During that training in Goose Creek, South Carolina, near Charleston, Sam applied for the Seaman to Admiral (STA-21) program. Applicants must achieve high scores on tests in training and receive the recommendation of superiors to be considered. They must apply to five potential schools to attend, and upon acceptance, the Navy will assign successful applicants to a school, with consideration of the sailor's preference. Sam was accepted to his first choice, The Citadel, The Military College of South Carolina, located in Charleston. He was the only sailor in his class accepted to the historic school. After two months of STA-21 officer training in Newport, Rhode Island, Sam will return to South Carolina and begin college in May. In 36 months, he will graduate with a degree in electrical engineering. Then, he will be required to repeat the last two phases of Nuclear Power Training and will then be deployed as an officer. Upon learning that he would be attending The Citadel, Scott and his wife, Tiffany, also a McKenzie native, purchased a home in Goose Creek.

Carroll County Electric Board

Rate Consultant Discussed

By Ernie Smothers
smothers@mckenziebanner.com

HUNTINGDON (February 26) At the start of the regular monthly meeting of the Carroll County Electric Board, board member Dr. Jerry Atkins accepted CCED General Manager's request to serve as Chairman on behalf of John Mann, who was absent due to breaking his arm and six ribs due to an ice-related fall the previous week.

Addressing the board, CCED General Manager Danny Brawner said, "I would like for the board to consider hiring a rate consultant. We really need one, especially now that T.V.A. is requiring us to provide payment on demand for services up front rather than later. We need a consultant in place to assist us in assessing cost structures, and provide general support and analysis in economic decisions relative to customer rate reviews. T.V.A. is preparing to make a lot of restructuring changes, and it would definitely be to our customers benefit to hire a consultant that can assist us making cost-effective decisions and keep up with changes as they are implemented. We must be able to balance income with expenditures, and a consultant could help us with providing an outlook to changes before they impact us."

Board member Terry Howell asked, "Can consultant service packages be customized to allow us to utilize only the services we need?"

Brawner replied, "Yes. We can set our package up to allow for consultation on specific areas. Other electric departments near us are using consultants to help them analyze and implement changes and upgrades that help them to keep their costs and rates down."

Acting Chairman Atkins said, "Comp (Former CCED GM Lynn Compton) and the board have down a great job in the past of holding costs down, but times are changing, and we need to look into possibly hiring a consultant. We need someone that can help us plan and avoid any potential financial complications."

Brawner responding, "All I'm asking of the board is to consider the possibility of hiring a consultant. No action is required regarding this matter at this time. We will continue to gather names of companies and individuals who provide consultation services along with costs for you to consider moving forward."

Continuing, Brawner asked the board to be mindful of new technologies that are being developed that could greatly improve the company's service to its customers.

He said, "We have recently purchased about 500 electric meters that are outfitted with electronics that allow our meter readers to take readings from the road. We have asked our readers to pinpoint meters on their routes that are problematic to reach due to muddy roads, fencing areas, or menacing animals. Eliminating eight to ten of those stops daily greatly improves the number of meters they can read during a day."

He added that technologies are being employed by some companies to allow for meters to communicate with each other and file readings at a central location.

He said, "We currently have four meter readers out there. Even if we employed the new technology to collect meter readings in a centralized location in the future, we would still need one reader on the job in case a problem arose. Some electric companies even have technologies in place that allow them to read meters at the office and turn meters on and off at the office. Think about the savings that would provide in the long run. Anyway, all of these upgrades cost money, and we will address them as time goes by. I am thankful that our system is in good shape financially, but there will come a time when we must make necessary investments for upgrades as needed."

Anderson, Blount Honored At Retirement Luncheon

By Ernie Smothers
smothers@mckenziebanner.com

HUNTINGDON (February 27) With 76 years of combined work experience, it is safe to say that Johnny Blount and Ricky Anderson know their way around Carroll County's expansive electric grid.

Friday, before a large crowd assembled in the Carroll County Electric Department's dining hall, family members joined with CCED employees and administrators to honor the two veteran employees at their retirement luncheon.

Following welcoming comments by CCED General Manager Danny Brawner and prayer by CCED employee Anthony Boyd, attendees dined on a delicious barbeque meal and desserts.

At meal's conclusion, Brawner said, "Today, we are here to celebrate the retirement of Johnny Blount and Ricky Anderson. Both of these men have served our company faithfully for many years, and I am honored to be a part of their retirement ceremony."

Addressing the large crowd, Blount tearfully thanked employees and administrators past and present for their kindness to him during his years on the job.

He said, "It's been an enjoyable time for me working here, and I thank the Lord for being given the opportunity to work for such a fine company and with such good people. In my 36 years of service, I've been part of a lot of work in both good weather and bad. I also enjoyed the time our crew spent working with other utilities on job sites. Whatever we encountered, our crews always did things safely. Mind you, I have had my share of scrapes and scratches over the years, but nothing serious or life-threatening. We always worked safe and looked after each other out there. I'm proud of all we did."

Pausing to gather himself, he said, "Honestly, I consider all of you here today family. I have spent as much or more time with you all than I have spent at home, especially during bad ice storms and so forth. I thank my wife and children for keeping the home fires burning while I was away. I am looking forward to retirement and enjoying time with my loved ones. I am thankful for this blessing," concluded Blount.

Brawner presented Blount with a plaque of appreciation for his service and a gold retirement watch.

During his speech, Ricky Anderson said, "I guess I'm a man of few words. I don't have as much to say this afternoon as Johnny did, but I do want to say that I have enjoyed working with my fellow employees through the years. I've been here 40 years, and some of those times were pretty tough due to storms and such. All-in-all, I enjoyed my time here, but, I am ready to go. Thank you all for your friendship."

Brawner presented Anderson with a plaque of appreciation and gold retirement watch.

Tennessee Department of Safety and Homeland Security Commissioner Bill Gibbons and Tennessee Highway Patrol (THP) Colonel Tracy Trott presented Sullivan and Dispatcher Andrew Lawson with the 2014 Trooper and Dispatcher of the Year awards, respectively, at a special ceremony held Wednesday evening in Murfreesboro.

The THP also recognized troopers and dispatchers in each of the agency's districts across the state, as well as honored those in specialized units, specifically for investigations, interdiction and commercial vehicle enforcement (CVE). The top-10 troopers were also recognized for DUI and seat belt and child restraint device enforcement, while five troopers were honored for their work in stopping hazardous moving violators.

"Our state troopers and dispatchers serve on the front line in helping to ensure public safety for all Tennesseans. They truly are the finest public servants and most deserving of recognition. I'm glad that we were able to honor their commitment to the safety and security of Tennessee," Commissioner Gibbons said.

"The two honorees exemplify the very best of what it means to be a trooper and dispatcher," Colonel Trott said. "Trooper Sullivan works tirelessly to reduce crime and keep our roadways safer, while Dispatcher Lawson's professionalism, decisiveness and calm under pressure probably saved the life of a trooper on his shift. It was my privilege to recognize them as the gold standard in their professions in 2014," he added.

Trooper Michael Sullivan led the 10-county district in DUI arrests with 128 and finished second in impaired driving arrests statewide. He consistently produces as a DUI task force member working the midnight shift in Henderson County, arresting 155 individuals, including 16 felony apprehensions. Trooper Sullivan also investigated 76 crashes and issued 1,117 citations for violations, while conducting 97 commercial motor vehicle inspections last year. A 13-year veteran of the THP, Trooper Sullivan looks beyond the citation and accepts any duty or task assigned.

Dispatcher Andrew Lawson was named the 2014 Dispatcher of the Year after handling an incident involving Trooper Eric Miller on May 2, 2014 on Interstate 75. Trooper Miller had initiated a traffic stop at approximately 8:20 a.m. on that day. Moments later, Dispatcher Lawson noticed that the trooper was no longer communicating with dispatch, but sounded as if he was in a struggle. Dispatcher Lawson requested assistance from Loudon County 911 and maintained telephone contact, while coordinating with other troopers to respond to the scene. Soon after, Trooper Miller made contact and requested assistance, advising that the suspect fled the scene. During the struggle, shots were fired and the suspect attempted to run over Trooper Miller. Dispatcher Lawson determined Trooper Miller's location in an attempt to make contact with the suspect vehicle. This event lasted for several hours, during which time, Dispatcher Lawson relayed information to other agencies and maintained constant contact with troopers on the scene. He remained calm throughout and presented himself as a seasoned professional.

The THP Fall Branch District earned the 2014 District of the Year award and District Captain Stephen Street took home the colonel's achievement award after reducing traffic fatalities in the region by 11.3 percent from the previous year. State troopers in the district also increased DUI arrests 29 percent and seat belt citations by 122 percent, compared to 2013. The Greene County Scales Complex also placed unsafe commercial vehicles out of service at a rate of 41 percent, while commercial vehicle drivers were placed out of service at an 11 percent rate. Both rates were above the national average.

County to Honor Retirees

Three persons will be honored upon their retirement at the county of Carroll during the February meeting of the Carroll County Commission.

Patsy Jarrett is retiring from the Sheriff's Department after working since 1997 at the Carroll County Jail.

Judy Dill is retiring for the Carroll County Property Assessor's Office, where she has worked since 2001.

Pam Williams is retiring from the Carroll County Register of Deeds Office, where she has worked since 1994.

Each will be honored during the Monday, March 9 meeting of the Commission.

In other business, the Commission will consider a resolution to add Nature's Trail Lane to the Carroll County Road System. It is a new asphalt road built by Mark Dillahunt into a subdivision off Baker Road. The Carroll County Highway Department recommended the addition.

The Carroll County Commission meets 7:00 p.m. at the Carroll County Office Complex. The public is invited to attend.

Trezevant Mayor Mitchell Recovering from Icy Fall

Slipping on the ice is a constant danger in the wake of a winter storm in West Tennessee, and it can happen to anyone.

Trezevant Mayor Dennis Mitchell, also a Milan police officer, fell prey to the risk on Saturday, February 21, when he fell down the steps of his front porch, breaking his collarbone and possibly injuring his rotator cuff.

The injury didn't slow Mitchell down too much, as he returned to work in Milan the following Monday.

In a telephone interview with The Banner, Mitchell said that he was blessed. "It happened to my left side, and I'm right-handed, so I can still do my work."

With more winter weather possible later this week, he's advising his constituents not to make the same mistake he made. "I should have listened to the emergency management professionals on TV: If you don't have to be out, stay in!"

Former Vice President Reports for Jury Duty

Even serving as vice president of the United States doesn't get you out of a civic service in Davidson County, according to The Tennessean newspaper.

Al Gore walked through the doors of the Nashville courthouse Monday morning headed for jury duty. He wore a suit and waited in line with 168 other people called to report, jury coordinator Ronny Nollner said.

For a while, the two-term former vice president went mostly unrecognized.

Gore brought his lunch to jury duty and had cleared his schedule, a sign he was ready and willing to serve.

McKenzie, Huntingdon Reverse Request to 9-1-1 Board

By Joel Washburn
washburn@mckenziebanner.com

CARROLL COUNTY (FEBRUARY 26) In January, representatives from both the City of McKenzie and the Town of Huntingdon requested to be the primary point for emergency 9-1-1 in their respective service areas. In February, both withdrew those requests, and instead, asked the sheriff's dispatchers, who are the frontline contacts from 9-1-1 calls, to make the initial dispatch of the two cities' fire and police departments.

Of the eight municipalities in the county of Carroll, only McKenzie and Huntingdon have around-the-clock dispatchers for the emergency services. Presently, all 9-1-1 calls are first directed to the Paris Street dispatch center in Huntingdon and then redirected to the appropriate city. The caller often has to make the request for emergency services to both the 9-1-1 phone operator at the sheriff's dispatch center and to the respective city dispatcher once the call is transferred.

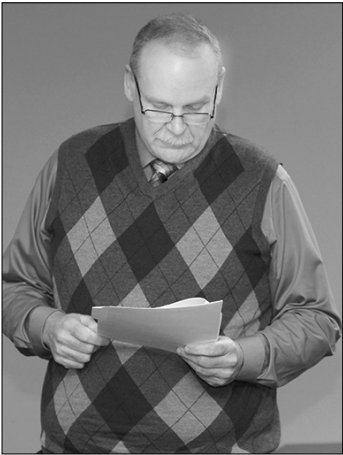

Walter Smothers, director of Public Safety for the Town of Huntingdon, requested the sheriff's department process the initial call and immediately dispatch the appropriate service provider and then transfer the caller to the Huntingdon dispatch for any further information. McKenzie Mayor Jill Holland, McKenzie Fire Chief Brian Tucker, and McKenzie Police Chief Craig Moates also made a similar request.

Tucker said the sheriff's dispatcher can "tone out" (activated the personal pagers) the fire department and the on-duty firefighter can make the decision as to the level of emergency response necessary. The dispatch by the county will reduce response times, said Tucker.

Kristy Meggs, director of the 9-1-1 services said an agreement, known as interlocal government agreement, is necessary for 9-1-1 to provide those dispatch services with McKenzie and Huntingdon.

Mayor Jill Holland asked if the other municipalities, for whom 9-1-1 performs emergency dispatches, has an interlocal agreement. Meggs responded that those municipalities were "grandfathered" in since the sheriff's department has always dispatched for those services.

McKenzie did request to have a PSAP answering station as a backup station in case the main station in Huntingdon is rendered unserviceable. However, the city said it did not want to pay the connectivity fees as discussed in the January meeting. Smothers said the backup station in McKenzie is the appropriate location in case a disaster wipes out the county's and city's dispatch centers in Huntingdon.

In other business, the 9-1-1 Board discussed the possibility of selling its Dillahunt Lane, Huntingdon office building and consolidating all 9-1-1 operations and administration into the 126 West Paris Street location.

Carroll County government is considering applying for a grant to construct a new dispatch center on the campus of the Carroll County Jail to have all dispatch, administrative and jail operations of the Sheriff's Department on one campus.

Meggs questioned who would pay for the relocation? Sheriff Andy Dickson said the Sheriff's Department would pay for the relocation of its equipment.

It was noted that the grant process and construction could take a few years to complete.

Purchase of a network of digital radio equipment, including mobile, handheld, and base stations, along with land-based signal repeaters was bid at $493,017.52 by B&E Electronics. The 9-1-1 Board will provide $487,501.20 of the funding for the radios. Radios will be distributed to the Carroll County Sheriff's Department, Carroll County Fire Department, and the Emergency Management Agency. Sheriff Dickson said the county would essentially have two radio systems once the new radios are purchased.

The Board also voted to change auditors to Goodwin and Associates after some unsatisfactory results with Cowart, Reese, Sargent, CPAs in recent years.

"As a family-oriented company, I am pleased to welcome Barry back to E.W. James as part of our senior management team," said Lee Ann James, CEO of E.W. James and Sons Supermarkets. "Like others in our family, Barry started his career working for E.W. James and built his foundation in retail grocery by understanding the importance of providing customers with the freshest produce, meats, and bakery products. Barry used this experience to become a proven leader with a strong track record in our highly competitive and ever-changing industry."

"My grandfather started E.W. James with the belief that the success of the company depends upon our ability to treat employees and customers as if they are a part of the James family," said Barry James, president of E.W. James and Sons Supermarkets.

Mr. James continued, "I realize our dedicated employees and loyal customers have faced a lot of uncertainties during recent years, but I want to ensure them that I am truly committed to the continuation of this tradition where customer service and satisfaction are our number one priority. E.W. James is here to stay in McKenzie, and I will work hard every day to gain their support so our company will remain one of the leading grocers in the community."

"My grandfather always said 'The sale is not final until the meal is enjoyed.' This concept embodies my future outlook for E.W. James, and I encourage everyone to visit one of our stores and see why we want to earn your business and make you part of our family at E.W. James," stated Mr. James.

In his new role as president of the company, Mr. James will be responsible for managing the day-to-day operations of 13 grocery stores (8 E.W. James stores, three Save-A-Lot stores and two Cash Saver stores) in 10 communities throughout northwest Tennessee and southwest Kentucky. He will also lead efforts to grow the company by reinvesting in the grocery stores for all markets.

Ms. James said, "We are very fortunate to have Barry assume the role of president of E.W. James, given his dedication, experience and proven leadership. He truly embodies the spirit and essence of what has made E.W. James one of the leading grocers in our region, and I believe our grandfather would be proud to know he is part of the team that will shepherd our company into the future."

How Do Mutual Funds Compensate Investors?

As you probably know, a mutual fund may contain many different types of investments, such as stocks, bonds and government securities. But as an investor, you need to pay attention not only to what goes into your mutual fund, but also what comes out of it — namely, the three ways in which a fund can compensate you.

Let's take a look at these three avenues:

- Dividends and interest — A mutual fund earns income from dividends on stocks and interest on bonds. The fund pays out nearly all the income it receives over the year, in the form of a distribution, to you and the other fund owners. Usually, you have the choice of taking the distribution check or reinvesting the earnings to purchase more shares. If you don't actually need the income to boost your cash flow, you'll certainly want to consider the reinvestment option, because it's an easy and cost-efficient way of building your share ownership. Keep in mind, though, that whether you take the distribution as a check or reinvest it, you will still owe income tax on the dividends.
- Capital gains distributions — You will receive your share of any net profits the fund makes from selling investments. Mutual funds usually make these capital gains distributions annually or semi-annually. You can choose to automatically reinvest these distributions back into your fund, thereby purchasing more shares. Even if you reinvest the proceeds, you'll incur taxes, but as long as the gains are long-term, you'll only have to pay the capital gains rate, which will likely be 15 percent for you.
- Increased share value — Generally speaking, you invest in a mutual fund because you are hoping its price will rise over time. When its price per share — its net asset value — does rise, you can sell your shares for a profit. As long as you've held them for more than a year, you'll just pay the capital gains rate, rather than your normal income tax rate.

Of course, there are no guarantees when it comes to earning a profit from mutual funds: some funds decline in value and never recover. So, when choosing a mutual fund, you'll need to carefully evaluate a number of factors, including these: What are the fund's overall objectives? Has its management team been in place long? Does it have a good track record? While past performance can't guarantee future results, you can get a sense of how a fund has done in different economic environments by looking at its history over five or ten years.

To sum up: You'll need discipline and patience when investing in mutual funds. You'll need the discipline to continually reinvest your dividends and capital gains distributions so that you can accumulate more and more shares. And you'll need patience to wait for an increase in share value, which is not guaranteed, and which, in any case, may take years to develop.

But if you have this patience and discipline, you may find that mutual funds can help you make progress toward your financial goals. So, look for quality funds that are appropriate for your situation and risk tolerance. Your search may well be worth the effort.

MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

Traffic Cameras

Being a few miles to the right of the “Tea Party” I decided to express my opinion regarding the traffic cameras. I have two main “trigger points” that can really get under my skin. One of these are people who do not think that they should have to play by the same rules as everyone else for one reason or another. Perhaps it is their social position. Maybe their income. Maybe who they are or who they know. Whatever the case may be, when they succeed...this is what I call corruption.

The traffic cameras take all the politics out of speeding tickets. The fact is, it does not matter if your wife has gone into labor, or if you have cut off a finger. If you are not driving an ambulance, police car, or some other vehicle that has the proper lights and siren, you are not to speed. Your wife going into labor or your child breaking their arm does not give you the right to put my loved ones life in danger by driving recklessly. Furthermore, if the need for speed is that great, call an ambulance. A picture is worth a thousand words and the fact is that the cameras are very accurate. If the picture shows that you were speeding, or running a red light, then you were. The cameras allow law enforcement to spend time protecting our homes, schools, and businesses rather than pulling over speeding motorists.

Lastly, it is my opinion that, for the most part, those who are against the traffic lights are the people who are rarely given a ticket when pulled over by a law enforcement officer. Because of some type of connection, political or social, a “special” license plate, some type of badge in their wallet, they are not use to having to play by the same rules as everyone else and these cameras have thrown that little world of theirs all out of balance. The cameras should not only stay up but their numbers should be greatly increased. I would love to see the average speed of traffic between Three Way and Jackson be 60 mph instead of 70 mph during rush hour. Only the use of about 12 cameras, 6 on each side of that 5-6 mile stretch, would make that possible and there is absolutely no doubt in my mind that within 6 months of their implementation the average speed down that stretch would drop back to 60 mph, where it should be.

Sincerely,
R. Max Arnold Sr.

Life’s Biggest Challenge

By Paula Watkins

Having recently celebrated my birthday was cause for reflections of personal accomplishments and goals I've yet to achieve. Some birthdays can quietly come and go. This birthday made me realize that there is no point of return – the crossing-over event, so to speak. No turning back! Just back your ears and go against the forces that refuse to defy gravity and will never let you do what you did fifty years ago. Heck, I have found out that there are some things I cannot do now that I did ten or even five years ago!

Just to say, “We’ve been there”- think back when you could jump on that bicycle and ride with the greatest of ease. I “jumped” on Larry’s bicycle a while back and was determined to ride for thirty minutes – thirty minutes. First of all, the neighborhood girls saw me coming and ran in the house screaming that Mrs. Paula was riding a bicycle and she was going to wreck. Well, I didn’t wreck for another twenty minutes anyway, and I would not have wrecked then if a car had not been speeding up behind me! The curb was too close to my path of navigation and I spilled over on the grass. Have you ever experienced an inside body tremor?? That fall caused my bones to shake in a series of vibrations that would have equaled the earthquake of 1812. I sat there for a minute and said a prayer of thanksgiving that no bones were broken and the only damage was grass stains to my favorite pair of capris. I then began the process of jumping up and getting back on that “horse”. Yeah boy! I realized that I couldn’t get up unassisted, praying the whole time that no one had seen this “over-the-hill” performance. I thought I was going to have to crawl to my neighbor’s front porch. I did finally get up, and I did finish that bike ride while experiencing aftershocks the whole way home.

And for the benefit of those of you who remember other childhood antics, I’ll share a few more past times we used to challenge each other. You remember the pogo stick? Yep, I just bet you do! I was so thrilled if I could last fifteen “jumps”. We literally had to cause Linda Gregg Coleman to fall before she would stop jumping. She could stay up on that thing for so long that you just got plain bored watching her. How about cartwheels, back flips, and three-legged races? Nope, nope, and nope for yours truly! My cartwheels looked like a lobster that had been pulled out of the water – arms and legs drooping! And no one wanted to be my partner when we had three-legged races.

Now the age of reality has arrived. No jumping up and down bleachers to watch a game – go cautiously up the steps and sit down with a sigh of relief that once again you made it. No trying to sprint to the car when it begins to rain – walk slowly! You have enough sense to know you are not going to melt. And the ice we have just experienced?? Do not even go there! I watched our sweet neighborhood girls right themselves when they slipped and marveled at their coordination. I slipped one time during this mess, and grabbed the door of my car, easing in the seat and swearing the whole time I would not venture out again until I could see pavement or the green grass of spring.

Thankfully, I do have goals that I want to accomplish. I want to catch that big old fish – I just do not want to sit on a river bank or in a boat for more than one hour. Surely that is possible?? I am really not crazy about fishing, but I sure would like to brag about the one that did not get away. And the biggest of all personal goals is very petty when I really think about it. I sure would like to be able to fold a fitted bed sheet! Don’t show me any tutorials, or Martha Stewart videos about folding sheets. I usually become so frustrated that I fold until I see no bunched-up mess. I think, “What’s the use? I may pass before someone discovers this jumble!” When I seriously consider what’s ahead, I realize that forgiveness is a trait I will always have to work on. Loving my fellow man will always be a priority, and, above all, humor has to be prevalent every day for the rest of my life. Heck no! I do not enjoy the aches and pains, but I sure am glad I ache and have pain – it means I am still alive and kicking! To you and yours...

Hunker Down with Kes

Blood Is Thicker Than Water

ISIS, Taliban, Al-Qaeda... I don’t know what they’re calling themselves this morning. But I did read with semi-shock last week the statement that it is not a Muslim thing. Nor is it Islam. It’s just a rogue terrorist group with no ties to any religion, group or nation.

I thought of Neville Chamberlain. Remember him? He was the English Prime Minister who went to Germany in September of 1938, conferred with Hitler and returned home amidst a whirlwind of hoopla to boldly proclaim, “Peace in our time”. What is that old saying about people who are not well versed in past history... they are prone to repeat it!

Hitler, of course, even as he talked to Chamberlain, was moving his men into Czechoslovakia. He invaded Poland one year later. Peace is easier to declare than it is to keep. And what a slippery slope for the unaware!

We’re being told these “terrorists are just a small percentage of the Muslim population”. That ought to make you shudder! There was only a handful of American colonists in 1775 clamoring for outright revolution against the British Empire. Most, even the disgruntled ones, were looking for some solution other than war. They were English descendants, for goodness sakes! They didn’t like the forced taxation or their lack of representation in the British Parliament. But surely they could reason with King George and iron out the problems. We’ll muzzle Sam Adams and Dr. Joseph Warren and soothe over this whole misunderstanding...

It don’t take many! The Nazi Party in Germany in 1941 was well under ten percent of the population.

You can bet there were more than one or two peace-loving Germans working around the clock in the big new factories, mounting machine gun turrets on those Panzer tanks. Undoubtedly, many common soldiers cursed Hitler and the war as they dug in on the cliffs overlooking Omaha Beach. That didn’t deter them from “doing their duty” when our boys rolled ashore on that damp morning in June.

Think of our own Native Americans at the Treaty of Fort Laramie in 1851. The Indians agreed to “allow safe passage” for European-American migrants over the Oregon Trail. The Indians reasoned they could use the fifty thousand dollar annuity our government offered in the deal and besides, “There are not that many of them”.

To add insult to injury, the Indians didn’t get the money as promised. I guess the wind quit blowing and rivers stopped flowing... Chief Red Cloud repeatedly warned the Sioux nation through moon dances, etchings on buffalo robes, smoke signals, drum talk and sign language, “Don’t sell your enemy short”.

My goodness, we are paying congressmen, presidents, secretaries of state, CIA directors, etc., big bucks to keep us safe. I hope they are earning it! And I’m also hoping many of those fellows turn out to be some kin to Red Cloud.

I don’t mind Muslims, radical or not, defending their territory in Iran. I do mind them defending it in Detroit. I don’t think that is a hard policy, foreign or domestic, to understand.

And I’m a little leery of this attempt to group folks into “good ones” and “bad ones” in any category. Daddy used to ride Leon all the time about his wild shenanigans. He whipped him “for a while” when the truth came out about the cow in the school auditorium. He whipped him again over the “Buick in the lake” incident. He set him down and had a long talk bout the missing traffic light up at Cedar and Main. Daddy impressed emphatically on us that reprehensible action by any one of us was a reflection on all of us.

If a Baptist messes up in Baltimore, I’m embarrassed. If a Baptist wins the Good Samaritan Award in Budapest, I’m “humble but proud”. I root for every American at the Olympics. I really like several of the foreign golfers on the PGA Tour, but I pull for the Americans to win. It is only natural.

If a group of good ole boys from Phoenix City, Alabama, decided to attack Korea or Djibouti, our government wouldn’t let them get past the Georgia state line. The people in this country would condemn them in a heartbeat. We may not like Korea or even know where Djibouti is, but decent folks in this land would demand decent action from our citizens. Do you mean to tell me other nations, groups, religions, tribes, clans, races and/or kinkfols couldn’t do the same?

If the good ole Muslims in the world are really good ole Muslims, it’s time for them to stand up and say so! Or even more to the point, it’s time for them to take some family members to the woodshed.

Daddy, if he were alive today, would say to them, “There ain’t no half way, you’re in or you’re out”. And you can rest assured his advice to some of our government leaders would be pretty clear, “Stupid is as stupid does.”

Respectfully,
Kesley Colbert

Somewhere in Time by Clayburn Peeples

“Is it this Sunday, or next Sunday,” the man asked, “that we go on daylight savings time?”

“Do I tell him it’s not daylight savings time, that it’s daylight saving time,” I asked myself, “or do I just tell him which week it starts?”

I decided to sort of pretend I didn’t notice. “Daylight saving time begins the second Sunday in March,” I said, and then we both complained about all the appliance clocks we’re going to have to reset this weekend.

But I got to wondering, why we tend to add an “s” on the word “saving” in daylight saving time? The word “saving,” as I understand it, is used in the term as a modifying verbal adjective. It’s like “saving” for a rainy day, not like a “savings” account. It tells us that the new time will be a daylight saving kind of time, thus is a compound modifier which, I think, means there should actually be a hyphen between the two words, as in daylight-saving.

But, there’s not, of course. Just like there’s no “s” at the end of the word “saving.” Or at least, there shouldn’t be, but so many people add one anyway that even some dictionaries now include the incorrect spelling as an acceptable usage.

Which is odd, but no odder than the fact that we call it daylight saving time in the first place. It doesn’t save any daylight at all. If anything, it switches it from morning to night in the summer, and then back again in the winter. It would be more accurate to call it daylight shifting time, or even more accurately, daylight time shifting, but that sounds almost spooky.

We didn’t call it “daylight saving time” at first. When it was first implemented in America, in 1918, (in an attempt to save fuel for World War I) it was called “fast time.” In England they called it, and still do, “summer time.”

Seven months later, when the war had ended, “fast time” did too. It was repealed by Congress, over Pres. Wilson’s veto, due to farmers’ opposition.

Following that, some states, and cities as well, still observed “fast time,” and as you might suspect, this created a hodge-podge of time zones across the country, a system that prevailed until World War II when the entire nation again changed its clocks to save energy, this time calling the change “war time.” They even referred to United States time zones as Eastern War Time, Central War Time and Pacific War Time. After Japan’s surrender, in 1945, they briefly changed the names of the zones to Eastern Central, and Pacific Peace Time.

In England, during the war, they set their clocks forward two hours, and this resulted in what was referred to as “double summer time.”

After the war, here in the United States, cities, towns, and states were again free to set their watches any way they chose, and they did, leading to what Time Magazine referred to as “a chaos of clocks.” By 1965, there was such diversity of time zones that in the state of Iowa alone there were 23 different starting and stopping dates for what people had by this time begun calling, “daylight saving time.”

In Minnesota, the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul couldn’t agree on when daylight saving time should begin, and St. Paul started it two weeks earlier than its sister city, Minneapolis, did. On a 35-mile bus route from Steubenville, Ohio, to Moundsville, West Virginia, there were seven different time changes.

Things were brought under control, more or less, in 1966 with the enactment of the Uniform Time Act, which standardized the period of daylight saving time to be from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October, but states still had the option of opting out of daylight saving time if they chose to, but if a state did observe daylight saving time, it had to use the nationally sanctioned dates.

Eight years later, in 1974, Congress extended daylight saving time to 10 months due to the Arab oil embargo. The following year they reduced that to eight months, and then in 1976 they went back to beginning on the last Sunday in April. That date was pushed up to the first Sunday in April in 1987, giving us a daylight saving season of about seven months. Even that wasn’t enough for daylight saving time advocates, however, and in 2005, they prevailed upon Congress to change the law yet again, and add another month to the season. So, starting with 2007, we have had eight months of daylight saving time, beginning each year the second Sunday in March and ending on the first Sunday in November.

Whether we need daylight saving time or not remains a highly controversial topic, but whether it’s a terrific idea, or a terrible one, it’s going to happen again this Sunday morning, and 1:59 a.m. is going to be followed by 3:00 a.m.

So set your clocks accordingly, unless you’ve got those fancy modern models with computer chips in them that reset themselves automatically from signals sent out from The National Institute of Standards and Technology. Supposedly, those clocks are correct to one-billionth of a second.

I’m not sure I need that much accuracy. I think I’m going to leave my clock radio just as it is now, ten minutes fast.

Looking Back
From Our Archives...

10 YEARS AGO- McKenzie adopted a new street in a concession over a drive to rename Walnut Avenue “J. L. Seets Avenue” and reiterated intentions to ask local clubs and civic organizations to share the cost of establishing a city flag.

GENERAL

Stephen Price Awarded VFW Honors

Huntingdon Fire Marshal Stephen D. Price has received several awards recently presented to him by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Town of Huntingdon.

He was first recognized by the VFW Post 4939 of McKenzie as Firefighter of the Year. He was then honored by VFW District 8 in Jackson and again on Feb. 14, in Nashville, as the VFW's Tennessee Firefighter of the Year for 2014-2015. Besides plaques, he was presented $125 at Jackson and $500 in Nashville.

The Huntingdon Town Council also honored him a commendation plaque on Feb. 24.

He graduated from Huntingdon High School in 1980. After graduation, he went to Ft. Knox, Kentucky, for basic training with the Tennessee Army National Guard. While serving in the Guard, Stephen earned numerous awards including the Army Commendation Medal, the Army Achievement Medal, Army Service Ribbon, Army Reserve Component Overseas Training Ribbon, Humanitarian Service Medal, Global War of Terrorism Service Medal, and the National Defense Service Medal. Stephen was deployed for two years in support of Operation Noble Eagle (Homeland Security-Airforce). During this time, he was the NCOIC of Air Force Security

Stephen Price
VFW State Firefighter
of the Year

Operations and received the Air Force Commendation Medal. He retired in 2007 with the rank of E7.

Price joined the Huntingdon Fire Department in 1991 as a part-time associate and became full time in 1997. In 2009, he was promoted to the rank of Fire Marshal (Fire Chief) for the Town of Huntingdon.

In 2010, the Town of Huntingdon experienced a major flood. The entire fire department worked many hours rescuing families in the town from swift, high waters. A second flood in 2014 was a call to action for the chief and other fire dept. members. Fire Station #3 was damaged because of the high waters and had to be completely remodeled.

Up-to-date improvements that have been added have been officer training every quarter, new equipment including a new ladder truck, and the Jaws of Life rescue equipment. This was a goal of Stephen's and was made possible with the help of Mayor Dale Kelley and the Town Council.

One of Stephen's special memories with the Fire Dept. occurred in June 2007, when he rescued a 94-year old handicapped resident from inside her burning home. Stephen kicked open the kitchen door and brought the lady out to safety. A memory like this of being able to help others is his main goal. Being a firefighter is an important achievement in his life.

Stephen is married to the former Wendy Holladay. They have two children, Heather, who is a second grade teacher at Huntingdon Primary School and Adam, a Criminal Justice major at Bethel University.

Accompanying him to the Nashville event were his wife and son, and Randy and Sherry Crossett. Randy is Huntingdon's public works director and codes enforcement official.

Huntingdon Puts West Camden Landfill on Notice

Courtesy of the Carroll County News-Leader

The Town of Huntingdon Mayor and Council approved an administrative order issued under the authority of the town's Sewer Use Ordinance at the Feb. 24 meeting in connection with the dumping of leachate into the town's lagoon.

West Camden Landfill (WCL), owner and operator of a Class I solid waste disposal facility at 2410 Highway 70 West in Camden, has been dumping wastewater discharge into Huntingdon's Highway 22 Bypass wastewater treatment lagoon since Nov. 15, 2012.

According to the administrative order, Huntingdon is working with WCL to resolve issues related to the concentration of cyanide within the wastewater from Camden.

Huntingdon issued a verbal warning and a notice of violation to the WCL on June 10, 2014 and Jan. 29, 2015, indicating that West Camden Landfill has violated its Industrial Wastewater Discharge permit on nine separate occasions between April and Dec. 2014.

Through an agreement between Huntingdon and West Camden Landfill and ordered by Public Works Director Randy Crossett, the WCL must perform certain activities by the dates established.

Within 180 days of the order, WCL must complete its investigation into the chemical reaction production of sulfides and cyanides within the existing leachate pre-treatment system and implement modifications to reduce the cyanide concentration within the permitted requirements. Also, within the 180 days, WCL must be in compliance with the cyanide limits set forth in its permit.

WCL must provide Huntingdon a monthly update of progress associated with the investigation and testing of the chemical modifications of the existing leachate pretreatment system.

Non-compliance with the order will subject WCL to penalties authorized by the Sewer Use Ordinance.

Crossett said, currently, West Camden Landfill samples weekly, and the Town samples semi-annually. All results of sampling are reported to Huntingdon in a quarterly report. However, any violations are required to be reported within 24 hours of discovery. The Town reports semi-annually to Tennessee Dept. of Environment and Conservation (TDEC). The Town's records are reviewed on site annually by TDEC, and an audit of the Pretreatment Program is conducted every three years. EPA inspects TDEC annually.

Text message alerts

Public Safety Director Walter Smothers told council members that the police department has the capability of sending mass text messages to the cell phones of persons who wish to receive them. These messages will disseminate in the event of severe weather conditions in the area, any evacuations if needed, missing children or missing elderly alerts, road conditions including flooded roads, planned electrical outages and many other potential uses.

To receive these messages on a cell phone, just text the town zip code, 38344, in the message area of a text message and send the message to 888777, or go to the website that is hosting the mass text messaging platform and sign up. The website address is local.nixle.com/register.

He said the Huntingdon Department of Public Safety is dedicated to providing the best in community protection, awareness and information sharing.

Commendation Awards

Two people, who have distinguished themselves recently by being recognized by different organizations, were presented certificates of commendation at the Feb. 24 Huntingdon Town Council meeting.

Kevin Renfroe was recognized for being selected by The Progressive Farmer as one of the five honorees of America's best Young Farmers and Ranchers for 2015.

"Kevin is part of the large farming operation of Renfroe Farms located on the Browning Highway," said Mayor Dale Kelley. "We are proud to have the Renfroe family, his mother and father, David and Vicki, and his wife, Ashley with us tonight."

Fire Marshal Stephen Price was honored for being named the state Veterans of Foreign Wars 2014-2015 Firefighter of the Year. He was also named as the top McKenzie VFW Post 4939 firefighter and also for the same honor for District 8 VFW.

Board, Committee Appointments

On the Board of Zoning Appeals, Andrew Maddox was appointed to a three-year term ending March 1, 2018. Jennifer McMackin was reappointed for a three-year term ending March 1, 2018.

Rep. Holt: Republicans, Democrats Joins Forces to Outlaw Traffic Cameras

By Representative Andy Holt

NASHVILLE, February 26, 2015 — Newly elected Senator Lee Harris (D-Memphis) and I would seem like total polar opposites politically. He's from the big city of Memphis; I'm from a small town in rural Tennessee; He's a Democrat, I'm a Republican; He's black, I'm white; He's in the Senate, I'm in the House. Unfortunately, many would draw a seemingly logical conclusion that we don't like each other-- that we would seek to oppose and discredit one another. Given the national political environment, it is an easy assumption to make.

However, nothing could be further from the truth. Actually, in the few short weeks I have spent with Senator Harris, I have grown to love and respect him. He is brave, bold, responsible, and exactly what the people of Memphis need in a Democratic State Senator.

While Senator Harris and I may not find common ground on many policy issues, we are linking arms on a huge issue for many Tennesseans; outlawing traffic cameras in the Volunteer State.

The presence of traffic cameras in the Great State of Tennessee is a festering wound to the free and sovereign people of this state. We've heard the fallacious arguments in favor of traffic cameras time and time again.

They generate revenue for the city: Since when did your constitutional rights have a price-tag? Did I mention that the vast majority of revenue is sent to out-of-state companies running the cameras, which has resulted in millions of dollars leaving Tennessee's economy?

They reduce accidents: The only studies and data that show this outcome are funded by the cities and companies making millions of dollars off of the cameras, making such studies and data inherently biased. In fact, non-bias, independent studies show that traffic cameras actually increase accidents.

The list goes on, and each argument is just as easy to defeat.

The truth is simple. The vast majority of Tennesseans oppose having the right to face their accuser usurped by out-of-state companies. Also, many law enforcement agents I have spoken with have privately told me they oppose cameras because it creates anger, distrust and angst among the citizens they serve, which they feel puts them at greater risk. It is unfortunate that these law enforcement agents must remain silent due to fear of losing their job should they rock the boat.

As a Memphis city councilman, Sen. Harris voted against traffic cameras multiple times. Now, as a newly elected member of the Tennessee General Assembly, Sen. Harris was the first Senate co-sponsor of the "Tennessee Freedom From Traffic Cameras Act". Sen. Harris will undoubtedly be attacked by his city officials, but his resolve to stand for Tennesseans will never be forgotten by me.

Democrats and Republicans can work together for the greater good of Tennessee, and I pray we see more of this.

To the people of Rocky Top, please join the fight by calling Sen. Harris to thank him for his stand. Also, please be sure to call members of both the Senate and House Transportation committees and tell them this simple message: "Please pass the Tennessee Freedom From Traffic Cameras Act. My rights are not for sale."

ONE-POT EASY CHICKEN

Use 6 quart slow cooker

6-8 medium sized potatoes, quartered
1-2 large onions, sliced
3-5 carrots, cubed
1 teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
5 pounds chicken, skin removed (quarters or legs and thighs work well)
1 small onion, chopped
¾ teaspoon black pepper
2 teaspoon whole cloves
2 teaspoon garlic salt
1 tablespoon chopped fresh oregano
1 teaspoon dried rosemary
½ cup lemon juice
Mix together potatoes, sliced

onions, carrots, 1 teaspoon garlic salt, and ¼ teaspoon black pepper in bottom of slow cooker. Rinse and pat chicken dry. In bowl mix together chopped onions, ¾ teaspoon black pepper, cloves, and 2 teaspoon garlic salt. Dredge chicken in seasonings. Place in slow cooker over vegetables. In small bowl mix together oregano, rosemary, and lemon juice. Pour over chicken. Cover. Cook on low 6-8 hours, or until vegetables are soft and chicken juices run clear.

GREEK CHICKEN

Use 6 quart slow cooker

6 medium-sized potatoes, quartered

3 pounds chicken pieces, skin removed

2 large onions, quartered
1 whole bulb garlic, minced
½ cup water
3 teaspoon dried oregano
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon black pepper
1 tablespoon olive oil
Place potatoes in bottom of slow cooker. Add chicken, onions, and garlic. In small bowl mix water with oregano, salt and pepper. Pour over chicken and potatoes. Top with oil. Cover. Cook on high 5-6 hours or on low 9-10 hours.

DILL LEMON CHICKEN

Use 4 quart slow cooker

1 cup fat-free sour cream
1 tablespoon fresh dill, minced
1 teaspoon lemon pepper seasoning
1 teaspoon lemon zest
4 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves

Combine sour cream, dill, lemon pepper, and lemon zest in a small bowl. Spoon one-fourth of the sour cream-lemon-dill mixture into bottom of slow cooker. Arrange chicken breasts on top in a single layer. Pour remaining sauce over chicken. Spread evenly. Cover. Cook on low 3-4 hours or until juices run clear.

Region Loss Ends
Season at 26-4

By Brad Sam

McKENZIE (February 24) — The Rebels' 23-game winning streak was snapped Tuesday and their season was ended as the Falcons of Lake County defeated their hosts, 58-46, in the opening round of the Region 7A Tournament.

McKenzie held a thin lead after a quarter, but Lake County tied the game early in the second frame and jumped out to a 9-point halftime lead. After trailing by as much as 14 in the third, the Rebels battled back, cutting the deficit to a pair halfway through the fourth. The Falcons answered with a brief run and then kept pace in the final minutes to seal a 58-46 road win.

The loss ends the season for the Rebels and ends the high school careers of seniors Edwin Dudley, Breshaun Oglesby, Tyree Owens, Montryll Robinson, Reed Austin, Janson Davis, and Braden Nanney.

Thirty seconds in, Rebel Jack Surber nailed a three-pointer, answered by Falcon Tyler Estes with a deuce. Darius Johnson split a pair of free throws for Lake County to tie the game, and then Rebel Tyree Owens took the ball coast-to-coast to regain the lead. Jamario Jones re-tied the game with a minute and a half remaining, but Rebel Chase Kelly responded with a put-back. Johnson

McKenzie Boxer Chris Edlin

Primed for World Title Shot

By Ernie Smothers

McKENZIE (February 26) — As snow and ice encamped his carport, McKenzian Chris Edlin unleashed a fiery barrage of punches into his Everlast punching bag. Circling the bag, Edlin's intense facial expression and forceful bearing starkly contradicted his usual friendly demeanor.

Meet Chris Edlin, the boxer. Concluding his heavy-bag pummeling, Edlin said, "Under normal conditions, a heavy punching bag's surface doesn't start cracking for a couple of years. I have hit this bag so hard and so often over the last ten months that it's really beginning to crack. I spend a whole lot of time in this carport hitting the bag, jumping rope, and shadow boxing. It's not easy, but I love it."

Every morning around 6:00 a.m., Chris' neighbors have grown accustomed to watching him hit the bag, work on core exercises, and run the streets of town.

Seated in his living room, Chris continues, "It's all about consistency. For me, boxing parallels life. You will get out exactly what you put into it. Talent will only take you so far. After that, you have to dig deep and find the inner fire to push yourself beyond your limits. You have to be self-motivated and willing to suffer pain and fatigue. Training is not an option. I've always been a self-starter. I don't need anyone to push me."

knotted the game again with half a minute left, but Owens sank a jumper at the buzzer to give McKenzie a 9-7 lead after a quarter.

A quick foul sent Rebel Edwin Dudley to the line for two made shots. Falcon Jamario Jones responded with a quick deuce, and Rashaun Taylor added another to knot the game at 11-11. A minute later, Falcon Tyler Estes scored to give his team its first lead. Jamerquan Jones drained a three to up the lead, and Estes added two more shortly after. Falcon Stavonski Wilkes split free throws, and, a minute later, Estes put back a rebound to cap a 14-0 Lake County run. Dudley returned to the line on the ensuing possession, splitting the tosses. Then, Falcon Anthony Strayhorn scored to put Lake County up 23-12. With a minute remaining in the half, Jack Surber sank a three-pointer to cut the Rebel deficit, but Wilkes responded with a put-back on the other end. Jamerquan Jones split a pair of free throws with time running short, but Rebel Breshaun Oglesby had enough time to drive coast-to-coast and cut the deficit to 17-26 at the half.

Oglesby opened the second half by taking the ball straight to the hole to gain some Rebel momentum, but Jamario Jones answered just as quickly on the other end. A Rebel foul sent Shai'kese Blevins to the line for one-of-two shots made, and, a minute later, Tyler Estes scored for a 31-19 Falcon lead. Lake County began chewing up the clock, and two minutes passed before Estes scored again. Rebel Jack Surber answered with a put-back after two offensive rebounds. Tyree Owens split a pair from the line, and Oglesby scored to cut the Rebel deficit to 24-33. Falcon Rashaun Taylor and Rebel Montryll Robinson swapped deuces, and Darius Johnson notched a pair of charity tosses for Lake County. Oglesby scored with a minute left in the third, answered by Johnson in kind. The final seconds saw a foul call on Oglesby result in a technical foul against Rebel Coach John Wilkins, misses on both foul shots, and an Oglesby old-fashioned three-point play just before the buzzer. Entering the fourth quarter, McKenzie trailed 31-39.

Seconds into the final frame, Rebel Breshaun Oglesby drew a foul and split the free throws. On the ensuing Falcon possession, Rebel Chase Kelly stole the ball and turned it around to Tyree Owens for a quick two. Another Oglesby foul resulted in another technical foul assessed against the McKenzie coaches, and Falcon Rashaun Taylor hit both freebies. Rebel Jack Surber responded with a three, and the deficit was down to four points. Falcon Jamerquan Jones hit the first of two free throws, and on the missed second shot, Jones and Kelly battled for the rebound and were assessed offsetting technical fouls. Two minutes later, Kelly hit a free throw and snagged the rebound himself on the missed second shot. After a couple of moves under the basket, he put it in to cut the Rebel deficit to 40-42. On the following play, Kelly was called for his fifth foul, sending him to the bench. Darius Johnson split the charity tosses with four minutes remaining in the game. Next, Falcon Jamario Jones scored, followed by Johnson, to increase the lead to seven. Oglesby came back with a deuce, but Johnson responded in kind. Johnson then split a pair at the line, and Rebel Edwin Dudley answered with a lay-in. Jamerquan Jones went to the line to hit two tosses, and Tyler Estes added a putback with one minute remaining in the game. Rebel Montryll Robinson got to the line quickly, hitting both shots and cutting the deficit to 46-54. Forced to foul, McKenzie sent Jamario Jones to the line, where he hit both tosses. With twenty seconds left, Jones hit a jumper to seal the Lake County victory at 58-46.

Rebel Breshaun Oglesby and Falcon Tyler Estes led the scoring with 14 points each. Rebel Jack Surber had 11 points, including 3 three-pointers. Falcon Darius Johnson scored 13 points; Jamario Jones had 12 points.

survive. You have to be ready to fight when you step through the ropes. You have to believe that you deserve to be inside that square. When I'm in the ring, I always believe that I can beat my opponent. It's not about being cocky-it's about being confident. The only way to get to that place mentally and physically is to train hard. When I'm training, I sustain a regimented lifestyle. I maintain a strict diet of 3,000 calories per day and work intensely on my skills and stamina. One day each week, I go through a demanding training session at the Paris-Henry County Boxing Club. I spar against young, strong kids that are 20-22 years old. It always makes me feel good when the trainers over there tell their kids, 'the old guy is slick.' I use my experience to hold my own against them. I'm also willing to take the hits when they come. It's about attitude."

Gazing at his coveted poster of undefeated heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, he said, "I am preparing to fight for the world title belt against Canada's George Sanders in July at the Ringside World Championships in Kansas City, Missouri. Although our boxing styles are similar, I have watched fight videos of Sanders. I think that I can beat him. Some boxing experts probably wouldn't give me a shot at winning the world title, but I believe that this tournament is mine to win. I am determined to bring the world amateur Master's Division world championship title belt back to McKenzie and Carroll County."

He continued, "At age 52, I am the oldest boxer ever in the history of West Tennessee boxing. It makes me feel good when people from all over Carroll County and beyond tell me they think it's great that I am still boxing. I am thankful and humbled by their support. They fuel my fire and make me more determined to win the championship. I want win it for them and me."

He paused, "I work for the county juvenile court system, and I am always telling the young people that I counsel to never give up. I tell them to prove people wrong that tell them that they are no good and will never amount to anything. I tell them to not allow anyone to set the limits on what they can achieve. We should all live by that."

Returning his gaze to the Marciano poster, he said, "You know, Rocky has always been my greatest boxing inspiration. His daughter sent me this poster in 1981 after I met her at a boxing competition. Throughout his long career, no matter who he faced, Rock never lost a fight. He gave boxing everything he had and left the game unbeaten. He said one time that a boxer will box for as long as he can stand it. He was right."

Reflectively, he continued, "I thought I had fought my last fight when I lost a close, three-round decision in 2010 to Sammy Butler for the master's division lightweight world title at Ringside in Kansas City. I felt at that time that I had given boxing my all and that I could hang up the gloves with no regrets. But, boxing was not finished with me. The thought of competing was always in the back of my mind."

During his absence from the "Sweet Science" (a term of endearment for boxing), Edlin, at the urging of award-winning senior Olympian and current Hollow Rock-Bruceton Director of School's David Duncan, began competing in Tennessee Senior Olympic events.

In record-breaking fashion, Edlin's mercurial 6.76 time in the 50-meter dash at the Northwest Tennessee Senior Olympics in Dyersburg on October 14, 2014, broke the former state record set by Bob Van Fleteeren. In all, Edlin claimed six gold medals that day in the 50-meter, 100-meter, 200-meter, 400-meter, and 800-meter events as well as the softball throw and qualified to compete in the Senior Olympic State Finals in Franklin in June 2015.

At an earlier Senior Olympics meet held in Williamson County on June 21, 2014, Chris posted a blistering time of 1:05 to win gold in the 400-meter. Still, the boxing gloves beckoned.

Pausing, Edlin said, "When I made the decision to fight again, I went back into training full force. Although I have always competed in the 130-135 pound weight class, I'm dropping down to the 123-pound bantam-weight class for my title shot in July. I'll stay at 130 pounds until a week before fight and then drop to 123 to make weight. After that, I'll rehydrate and be ready to go."

Smiling, Edlin conceded that the life of a boxer can be lonely.

He said, "Although I love being around people, I am a bit of a loner. A boxer has to be selfish somewhat to invest the excessive amount of time required to train and fight. Before my first fight, I was golfing at Bethel under scholarship. I golfed there all four years. When I became interested in boxing, a few people told me that I would not be good at boxing. Without knowing it, they threw a match on my competitive fire. It compelled me to want to prove them wrong. Although I lost my first fight, it didn't matter. Boxing was in my blood, and I knew that it was for me."

From his humble start, Edlin rose to win two West Tennessee Golden Gloves Championships (1985 and 1989) in the novice and open class divisions. After opening and coaching the McKenzie Boxing Club from 1990-94, Chris stepped away from boxing to devote his life to his children.

On June 8, 2010, Chris, then age 48, returned to the ring to become the only Carroll-County to ever win a national boxing title by taking the Master's (35 and older) TITLE championship in Ripley.

Concluding, Edlin expressed his love for his mother and father.

"My dad was Charles Edlin. He was a fine person. My mom is Phyllis Edlin. I am blessed to have had the two greatest parents that ever lived. They helped me and molded me for life. They taught me through their strong work ethic to be productive and accountable. Although mom is 75, she does not act or look anywhere near her age. She is healthy and has an incredible, amazing time. I am so thankful and blessed. Last but most importantly, I give God all glory. The Lord has allowed boxing to shape my character. Boxing, in turn, has helped me to draw closer to Him."

Lady Cats

...From Sports Front

Moo Moo Williams led Bethel with 19 points and five rebounds. Jackliann Street followed with 12 tallies and seven rebounds. Ke Ke Drake had her 16th double-double of the season with 11 points and 14 rebounds. Tayla Foster had a season low nine points but grabbed a game-high 15 rebounds.

Although both teams struggled from the field, Bethel's 10 three-pointers proved to be one of the deciding factors in the contest. Bethel held an overwhelming advantage over LU's 30 boards with a season-high 60 rebounds.

Janeicia Neely led the Lady Pack with 18 points.

Coach Chris Nelson was happy with the outcome and the way his team responded in the second half. "I told our kids at halftime we had a chance to do something special against a great team on the road. We were really good at times and it was a great effort by our ladies.

We cut down on our turnovers and did a better job protecting the ball. Moo Moo made some great plays and I thought she was the best player on the court tonight. Tayla struggled from the field but did not hang her head and contributed with 15 boards. Jack made some key plays in the second half. Ke Ke was a warrior as always. Mari-ah hit a huge three while Cayla and Shamon both played well off the bench. We have work to do Saturday, but to run the table during the regular season would be special."

Mustangs

...From Sports Front

Huntingdon was led by the scoring of Keeton Bailey (18) and determined rebounding of Sadarius Hutcherson.

With the loss, the District 13A runner-up Mustangs concluded their season at 13-9.

Tigers 61, Mustangs 47
Nearly four minutes of opening-frame action passed before Halls took a 2-0 lead via center Myron McKinney's deuce off the glass. On the ensuing Tiger possession, McKinney was fouled down low and converted two charity tosses. Warming up offensively, Halls added a deuce from the right side by Tavon King, two charity swishes by McKinney, and a jumper from King to lead Huntingdon at the 1:51 mark, 10-0. Responding, Mustang Davion Anderson notched two free throw attempts and Sadarius Hutcherson nabbed an offensive rebound and scored as Huntingdon trailed at the end of the first canto, 12-4.

Halls quickly built their lead to 20-4 via a jumper by Trevon Levis, two steal-and-scores by Tyrese Johnson, and a two-pointer off the glass by Malik Rogers. Responding, Mustang Keeton Bailey bottomed two three-bombs and scored via steal, and Davion Phillips added a putback as Huntingdon cut the Tiger lead to 24-14. On the ensuing Mustang possession, Davion Anderson ripped a tri-fecta and Hutcherson followed with a putback as Huntingdon narrowed Halls' lead to 26-19 at the break.

Resuming play in the third period, Mustang senior Macon Bullock quickly scored via baseline drive. Following a deuce and charity swish by Tiger McKinney, Huntingdon unleashed offensively as Bailey scored in the paint, and Dylan Johnson assisted Bailey down low. Stealing the ball on Halls' next possession, Bailey sailed coast-to-coast to score to reduce the Tiger lead to 29-27 at the 4:27 mark. Battling back, Tiger Rogers arched a deuce from the left side before Huntingdon countered via a Bailey assist to Hutcherson and D. Johnson deuce to knot the game, 31-31, at the 2:14 mark. Signaling for timeout, Halls' head coach unleashed a blistering tirade on his team. Responding, Tiger King nailed a deep trey from the right side; Levis scored via steal, and King added two charity swishes as Halls scored seven unanswered points to build their lead to 38-31 at the end of the third quarter.

Early in the final frame, Mustang Bullock scored via baseline drive. Erupting offensively, Halls coupled a trey, steal-and-score, deuce by King and reverse lay-up by McKinney to widen their lead to 48-35 at the 5:27 mark. Underdeterred, Mustang Bullock ripped a three-pointer and D. Johnson scored inside as Halls led, 50-40, with 4:18 remaining on the game clock. Continuing his excellent play, Tiger King netted a pair of deuces and two charity tosses and Levis scored in the paint as Halls stretched their lead to 58-40. Huntingdon countered via an Anderson putback, a Bailey steal-and score, and an Anderson drive to trail, 58-46, at the 1:09 mark. Capping his team's solid, 80-percent free throw production (15-18), King netted two charity swishes in the waning seconds of play as Halls celebrated their 61-47 win.

Lady Rebels Host Softball Clinic

MCKENZIE (February 28) — The McKenzie High School Lady Rebels hosted a softball clinic Saturday to give young players in two age groups a head-start on training for the upcoming spring season, hoping to help groom some "Future Ballers" for the Lady Rebels for years to come.

Nearly fifty girls, split into age groups of 4-8 and 9-14, learned from Lady Rebel players the basics of hitting, throwing, catching, and running, at the appropriate level of difficulty.

At the end of each session, each participant was given a prize and a "Future Baller" T-shirt. Then, one player was awarded the "Softball Grammy" for their hard work and cooperation, a tradition of every McKenzie softball team practice.

Cats Win in Big Easy, 82-76

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA — (February 26)- Loyola University is located in the uptown section of New Orleans and in the end the Bethel Wildcats used big three's from Gary Pollard and Cole Nelson from downtown to beat the Loyola Wolf Pack 82-76 Thursday night in a key SSAC battle in the Crescent City.

Clutch free throw shooting by Nelson and Johnny Williams in the waning seconds enabled Bethel to win and improve to 21-8 and more importantly to 11-6 in the league. With the win Bethel has an opportunity to finish as high as third in the regular season conference race. LU fell to 13-12 and 7-10.

Caleb Hardy was huge with 19 points and seven rebounds. Pollard finished with 16 points. Both Marcus Burnett and Williams had 10 each. Daniel Kuhl led the Pack with 19 points. Free throws kept LU in the game hitting 23-of-27 attempts. Bethel was just 18-of 29 from the line.

Coach Jeff Britt challenged his team and was happy the way they responded. "In our last several time-outs we told our kids to dig in and not let the game get away as we had done our last two games at home. They responded well and I'm proud of their composure and tenacity. We had so many players to step up at the end. Caleb, Cole, Johnny, Marcus, and Gary all made big plays. We have another big one Saturday at William Carey and we look forward to the challenge."

MES Celebrates Read Across America Day

McKENZIE (March 2) — Teachers, students and many special guests celebrated National Read Across America Day at McKenzie Elementary on Monday, the birthday of the late Dr. Seuss. The festivities began as soon as the children walked into the doors and lasted all throughout the day. Popular Dr. Seuss character The Cat in the Hat and his mischievous companions Thing 1 and Thing 2 greeted and entertained the students in the cafeteria during breakfast. Classes were visited throughout the day by students from McKenzie Middle and High Schools, including many members of Future Teachers of America and Dan Ridley's Honors English III class, who read aloud books from the MES library. Students visiting the library were also treated with readings from the older students and fun with the characters. Some even joined The Cat and his friends to film a video dancing to the 2014 hit "Happy" that will be used in a compilation for this year's MHS Great Pretenders. Special treats and snacks were delivered to the children during the day as well. The day's events were originally planned for an evening in the previous week, but were rescheduled due to weather.

MES librarian Carol Nanney says that parents will have an opportunity later this month to join in on the reading fun. On Thursday evening, March 26, MES will host "Spring Into Books". It will be half-price night at the Scholastic Book Fair, the Dr. Seuss characters will be back, and refreshments will be served. During that school day, students may dress as their favorite book character.

Bethel Students Visit Oak Manor

(Courtesy Andrea Scarbrough) Bethel Game Night was held on the night of February 24 at Oak Manor Health Care Center in McKenzie Tenn. Fifteen student volunteers from Bethel University and residents from Oak Manor enjoyed playing games such as Dominoes, Rummy, Rook, and Sorry. Laughter filled the dining hall as students and residents shared stories and reminisced. The residents of Oak Manor are looking forward to March 24th when more of Bethel University's wonderful volunteers will be back for another fun night of activities.

Huntingdon Police Reports

Attempted Burglary/Vandalism
•The Huntingdon Police Department is looking for the person or persons responsible for causing damage at a local business while apparently trying to break into the building. According to the report by Sgt. Richard Crossno, officers responded to Fred's Dollar Store on High Street in Huntingdon after receiving a call about phone wires being cut behind the building. Upon arrival, a phone repairman showed officers where the phone lines had been cut. Officers also discovered a hole had been cut into the wall on the northwest side of the building. According to Crossno, it is unlikely that anyone was able to enter the building through this hole due to objects blocking it on the inside. Damage to the building was estimated at over $500.

DUI
•A Huntingdon woman was arrested for allegedly driving in an intoxicated state during a Feb. 25 traffic stop in the Wal-Mart parking lot in Huntingdon.

Patrolman Michael Krause charged Terry D. Dodd, 52, of 407 Jamison Court with DUI (first offense). According to Krause's report, officers responded to a domestic call at Dodd's resident and discovered that Dodd had left the residence in a red Jeep Cherokee in an intoxicated state. After having been alerted about the vehicle, Krause observed a red Jeep Cherokee traveling on Veterans Drive and pulled in behind it. The vehicle then turned into the Jackson-Hewitt parking lot, ran over the curb, traveled about 30 yards through a grassy lot, ran over another curb, and parked in the Wal-Mart parking lot. Krause pulled in behind the vehicle and spoke with Dodd, who was driving the Jeep. According to Krause, Dodd tried to conceal an open beer in the vehicle's cup holder by placing a bag of coins over it. When asked, Dodd told Krause that she had consumed four beers. Dodd performed poorly on field sobriety tests.

Assault
•A Bruceton man was arrested Feb. 22 for allegedly threatening his father outside a local restaurant. Investigator Joey Hedge charged Michael P. Dupree, 26, of 113 North Cedar Street with domestic assault. According to Hedge's report, Dupree's father, Emanuel Dupree, told officers that while he was leaving the parking lot of Wendy's in Huntingdon, his son threw a cup of tobacco spit on him. He also said his son made verbal threats, causing him to fear for his safety.

Shoplifting
•A Huntingdon woman and a McKenzie man were charged Feb. 21 for allegedly stealing items from a local department store. Investigator Joey Hedge charged both Sherrie D. Wisdom of 347 Woodlawn Avenue and Christopher N. Curtright of 236 Maple Street with theft under $500. According to Hedge's report, Wisdom and Curtright took eye cream and hair gel from Wal-Mart in Huntingdon without paying for these items. The items were priced together at $45.92.

Carroll County Sheriff's Reports

Domestic Assault

•A Huntingdon man was arrested Feb. 19 after allegedly attacking his wife at their mutual residence.

Deputy Mike Mulligan charged Timothy Ray Story, 37, of 2720-B Buena Vista Road with domestic assault. According to Mulligan's report, he responded to Story's residence after receiving a call about a domestic incident. Upon arrival, Mulligan found Story standing at the end of his driveway. Story told Mulligan that he and his wife, Paula Story, had gotten into an argument, and she had left their residence on foot. About that time, Paula Story came walking back to the residence along the road. She told Mulligan that during their argument, her husband had pushed her, hit her, and pulled her hair, causing her to fear for her and her daughter's safety. When asked about it, Timothy Story told Mulligan that the argument had indeed turned physical and that he was the main aggressor.

Burglary/Breaking and Entering

•The Sheriff's Department is investigating the recent burglary of a residence on Highway 77 near Huntingdon.

Julia Edwards told officers on Feb. 24 that someone broke into her home at 22419 Highway 77 by kicking in a side door and then took a number of items from the residence. The stolen items included a gaming console valued at $400, $1,000 in video games and movies, a toolbox and tools valued at $50, and a shop vacuum valued at $100.

Reckless Endangerment

•A Huntingdon man was arrested after allegedly endangering the lives of children during a March 24 traffic incident on Highway 70 East.

Deputy Tommy Decanter charged Austin Blake Hollingsworth, 22, with reckless endangerment. According to Decanter's report, Hollingsworth, Clarissa Robins of Big Sandy, and two small children were traveling along Highway 77 when Hollingsworth made Robins stop the car. Hollingsworth allegedly took the car keys from Robins and threw them into a nearby field, leaving the children in a vehicle parked partially in the roadway in a dangerous part of the road.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEE'S NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL ESTATE

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS:

That, WHEREAS, by Deed of Trust dated November 8, 2002, of record in the Register's Office of Carroll County, Tennessee, in Trust Deed Book 495, page 1159 with a Modification and Extension Agreement recorded in Trust Deed Book 623, page 785, ROCKET, PHILLIP BEASLEY did convey in trust, to CURTIS MAYO, TRUSTEE, a tract of land hereinafter described, to secure the payment of the indebtedness described in said Deed of Trust to BANK OF GLEASON; and,

WHEREAS, said Deed of Trust provides that in the event of default in the payment of the debt secured by said Deed of Trust, when due, or in the event of failure to comply with any of the conditions and/or covenants of said Deed of Trust, the whole amount of the unpaid principal sum, together with all interest due and accrued upon the same, together with all other payments agreed to be made, shall, at the option of the holder, become due and payable immediately without demand or notice thereof; and,

WHEREAS, W. Kent Jones was appointed Substitute Trustee by Appointment of Substitute Trustee, as provided for in Trust Deed Book 640, page 165, Register's Office of Carroll County, Tennessee; and,

WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust and there have been other violations of the conditions of said Deed of Trust, and the owner and holder of said debt has instructed the undersigned Substitute Trustee, to foreclose said Deed of Trust.

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the authority in me vested as such Substitute Trustee, I will on the 13th day of March, 2015, offer for sale and sell in front of the Courthouse in Huntingdon, Tennessee, at the hour of 10:05 a.m. to the last, highest and best bidder, for cash in hand, free from the equity of redemption, homestead, dower and curtesy rights, and all other rights or exemptions of every kind, and all unpaid taxes, to effect satisfaction of principal, interest and costs due on said promissory note(s) and Deed of Trust aforementioned, as well as to pay all attorney's fees and costs necessarily incident to this foreclosure, the following tract of land, situated in the 4th Civil District of Carroll County, Tennessee, more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at a stake on the south margin of David Street, it being the northeast corner of Lot No. 30; runs thence south 32 degrees west with the east line of Lot No. 30, 216.5 feet to a stake; thence east 100 feet to a stake; thence north 32 degrees east 218 feet with the west line of Lot No. 32 to a stake in the south margin of David Street; thence west with the south margin of David Street 100 feet to the point of beginning and being Lot No. 31 of the First Addition to Long Subdivision, a plat of which is recorded in Plat Book 1, page 13, of the Register's Office of Carroll County, Tennessee. Description taken from previous deed. Being all of that property as shown in Map 2-O, Group C, Parcel 32.00, Assessor's Office of Carroll County, TN.

For source of title see Deed Book 295, page 436, in the Register's Office of Carroll County, Tennessee.

The street address of the above described property is believed to be 150 David St., McKenzie, TN but such address is not part of the legal description of the property sold herein and in the event of any discrepancy, the legal description herein shall control.

The debtors' equity of redemption, homestead, dower and all other rights or exemptions of the debtors are waived in said deed of trust, and the title is believed to be good, but said real estate will be sold and conveyed by me as Substitute Trustee and not otherwise.

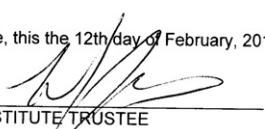

OTHER INTERESTED PARTIES: NONE

Said sale will be made by Substitute Trustee only, without covenants of seizin or warranties of title, and title will be made subject to any unpaid taxes and assessments and all valid restrictions, liens, covenants or easements, if any, of record on said property.

The right is reserved to adjourn the day of the sale to another day certain without further publication, upon announcement at the time and place for the sale set forth herein, or with publication setting out the new date, time and place for the sale.

This law firm is acting as a debt collector. This is an attempt to collect a debt and any information obtained will be used for that purpose.

Dated at Huntingdon, Tennessee, this the 12th day of February, 2015.

CALENDAR

FAMILY CAREGIVER
SUPPORT GROUP

A monthly caregiver support group open to persons caring for family members meets at 7 p.m. on the first Tuesday of each month at First United Methodist Church, 16 McTyeire St., McKenzie. This is an opportunity to share and learn from other people facing the ongoing challenges and frustrations of caregiving. It's an hour each month when you can get practical answers and support from people who know exactly what you are going through. If you know someone who would be interested in joining this group, please pass the word on to them.

FAMILY AND COMMUNITY EDUCATION FCE TO MEET

Family and Community Education FCE (formerly known as 'Home Demonstration' and 'Homemaker' Clubs) is an international organization with 4591 Tennessee members. Members are formed locally into active Boards and Clubs that represent families and communities and become the pipeline for research-based information, current educational programs, events, and education from the University of Tennessee and the US Department of Agriculture. Carroll County has three FCE clubs that meet various dates and times for everyone's convenience. Meetings are open to everyone. The public are welcome to join a group and experience exciting opportunities to learn new skills, be proactive in the community, stay abreast of current agricultural issues, enjoy great food and meet wholesome "down-home" folks.

Pennye Mays is Carroll County's FCE County President and can be contacted at (731) 986-4902. The Extension Agent for Carroll County is Gwen Joyner and she can be contacted at (731) 986-1976.

Carroll County Very Special Arts Festival

By Ernie Smothers

HUNTINGDON (February 28) — Surveying the crowd gathered inside the Carroll County Civic Center, Carroll County Learning Center Principal Linda Furr said, "I am so pleased with the large turnout and the number of exhibit booths at this year's event. Support for the Very Special Arts Festival has always been good, and we are grateful for that."

The annual event is sponsored by the Carroll County Board of Education and Carroll County Learning Center.

Following welcoming comments by Carroll County Schools Superintendent Johnny McAdams, students and faculty from the Carroll County Learning Center Preschool Class led attendees in the Pledge of Allegiance.

James Turk sang a beautiful rendition of the National Anthem before delivering an inspired performance of the song, "This Time It's Me."

Taking the stage, members of Kappellers Tae Kwon Do of McKenzie entertained the crowd with a high-energy demonstration featuring synchronized training routines, leaping and spinning board-breaks, and spirited sparring.

Capping the day's entertainment was the vocal performance of the Carroll County RSVP Choir.

CCLC thanks the following booths and individuals for participating in the event: Carroll County Coordinated School Health, Carl Perkins Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse, Kapellers Tae Kwon Do And Mixed Martial Arts, Northwest Tennessee Head Start, Huntingdon First Baptist Church, Curt Taylor-DJ and Master of Ceremonies, 100.9 The Farm Radio, The McKenzie Banner, The Carroll County News-Leader, Knights of Columbus Council 9754-concession services, South Carroll Special School District Special Education Department, Carroll County Women of Farm Bureau, Aileen Davis, Bethel University Educational Department, Huntingdon Special School District Special Educational Department, West Tennessee Sarcoidosis Support Group, Bethel Eastside FCE, Mary Wood, West Carroll Beta Club, Carroll County Technical Center, West Carroll FCCLA, and Carroll County Civic Center.

The Dixie Welcomes the Atlanta Pops Orchestra in March

HUNTINGDON — Enjoy an evening of entertainment with the Atlanta Pops Orchestra at The Dixie Carter Performing Arts & Academic Enrichment Center Saturday, March 21 at 7:30 p.m.

The program, "Pops and Songs of the South," features classic Pops tunes by Cole Porter, Andrew Lloyd Weber, and Johnny Mercer and a musical journey through the South with popular melodies and songs from Tennessee and the Deep South to the Bayou.

The Atlanta Pops Orchestra, celebrating its 70th anniversary, is the premier provider of live popular orchestra music programming for the state of Georgia, the southeastern United States, and beyond. With a rich history spanning seven decades, the Atlanta Pops Orchestra has captivated audiences throughout the world with a diverse repertoire of popular music.

Dr. Jason Altieri is the current Music Director of the Atlanta Pops Orchestra and Associate Conductor for the Reno Philharmonic. He is also a strong advocate for young musicians through his position as Director of Orchestras at the University of Nevada and with guest conducting engagements with youth orchestras all over the United States. He is a native of Georgia and grew up in a musical family with both parents being members of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra. He completed high school at the Dekalb Center for the Performing Arts and received a Bachelor's Degree in Music Education at the University of Georgia. He pursued advanced degrees in conducting from Michigan State University.

"Pops and Songs of the South" is sponsored by WRJB 95.9, Magic Valley Publishing, the Camden Chronicle, and the Carroll County News-Leader.

Tickets are $25 each and are available at The Dixie box office in downtown Huntingdon, by calling 731-986-2100, and online at dixiepac.net.

See you at The Dixie!

Henry Countians Voting On Sales Tax Hike

Paris — For voters in Henry County, the early voting period for the upcoming special election on a local option sales tax referendum began February 25 and continues to March 12. Election day itself is March 17.

Voters will be asked whether the sales tax should be raised by a half-cent from 2.25 percent to 2.75 percent — the same as it is in some neighboring Tennessee counties.

There will be plenty of opportunities for voters to cast ballots. The Henry County Elections Commission is open from 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. weekdays. It also will be open two Saturdays during the early voting period—on February 28 and March 7. The office will be open from 9 a.m. until noon on those Saturdays.

The Elections Commission is located in the county courthouse annex on West Washington St. in Paris.

The additional revenue will help fund the county of Henry, municipalities, and the two school systems — Paris Special School District and Henry County Schools.

The county insists that the loss of liquor taxes to Benton County and in McKenzie and Bruceton helped create shortfalls in tax revenues.

Bethel University Renaissance to Present "Easter with Renaissance" March 20-21

MCKENZIE — Bethel University invites you to "Easter with Renaissance" Friday March 20 at 7 p.m. and Saturday March 21 at 2 p.m. This event will feature all aspects of the Renaissance Program. Join us at the Bouldin Auditorium in the Dickey Fine Arts Building on campus for this incredible concert.

"Easter is a special time for everyone at our office," commented Matthew Holt, Executive Director of Renaissance. "We are looking forward to this event, but are most excited about what it represents: a celebration of what God has done for us! I sincerely hope that you and your family and friends will join us as we worship together, lifting up and magnifying the King of Kings and the Lord of Lords."

Tickets are $10 for Adults and $5 for Children 12 and under. To reserve tickets at will call, contact the Renaissance Office at (731) 352-6980 or email us at renaissance@bethelu.edu. Tickets are available at the Renaissance Office located at 28 Lee Avenue on the square in McKenzie, Tenn., from 9 a.m.-4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Baptist Huntingdon Goes Live With Electronic Health Record

Huntingdon — March 1, 2015— Baptist OneCare, Baptist Memorial Health Care's new electronic health record powered by Epic software, went live at four Baptist hospitals, including Baptist Memorial Hospital-Huntingdon, on March 1.

Baptist Memorial Hospital-Union City, Baptist Rehabilitation-Germantown, located in the metro-Memphis area and Baptist Memorial Hospital-Booneville in Booneville, Miss., also went live.

The March 1 go-live represented the last of Baptist's multi-phased go-live plan for the 15-hospital system, which began in January 2014 with metro-Memphis area Minor Medical Centers and 60 Baptist Medical Group clinics in Tennessee and Mississippi.

The Baptist OneCare system creates a single patient record that both caregivers and patients will be able to access. The EHR aims to maximize efficiency by reducing the need for duplicate tests and patients having to give the same information to multiple caregivers, according to Beverly Jordan, vice president and chief clinical transformation officer at Baptist. Patient privacy is protected the same way it would be with a written record.

The biggest convenience for patients is MyChart, a free app accessible via Smartphone or computer that allows patients to schedule appointments, refill prescriptions, direct message their care providers with the option of including photos, access lab results and much more.

Patients can sign up for MyChart by going to mychart.baptistonecare.org.

"We are so excited to roll out Baptist OneCare in our hospital," said Susan M. Breeden, administrator and CEO of Baptist Huntingdon. "Our staff has spent many months preparing to facilitate a smooth transition, and patients will be thrilled with the ease, convenience, and ultimately, enhanced care experience that the EHR allows us to provide."

In July 2012, Baptist signed a contract with Epic, a software vendor based out of Verona, Wis.—paving the way for the 15-hospital system's transition to a new electronic health record. The project involves all 15 Baptist-affiliated hospitals along with its clinics and financial systems. All 15,000 Baptist employees and 4,000 affiliated physicians will be affected by the project.

Baptist chose Epic after conducting a great deal of research and involving colleagues in numerous demonstrations, which more than 2,500 attended. Baptist took colleagues' feedback into deep consideration before making a decision, according to Baptist leadership. Baptist colleagues played a role in branding the Epic-powered software as Baptist OneCare.

With more than 300 customers, Epic serves more than 50 percent of the U.S. population and approximately two percent of the world's population. Epic is known for making software geared toward use by mid-size and large hospital systems. KLAS' 2013 Best in KLAS Report rated Epic as the No. 1 software choice in a number of categories, including acute care, ambulatory care, pharmacy care, and radiology, among others. KLAS is an independent company that measures vendor performance to help hospitals make informed decisions.

About Baptist Huntingdon

Baptist Huntingdon offers internal medicine, family practice, general surgery, orthopedics, otolaryngology, pediatrics, urology, pathology, cardiology, gynecology, pain management, radiology, an award-winning home care and hospice program, plus a recently opened geriatric-psychiatric unit, the first of its kind in the area. The home care and hospice is rated in the top 25 percent in the nation by HomeCare Elite™. Baptist Huntingdon is also a recipient of the prestigious Tennessee Quality Commitment Award.

Vanderbilt to Locate Medical Helicopter in Paris

By Shannon McFarlin
WENK/WTPR News Director

Paris — Following a vote Thursday night by the Henry County Medical Center board of trustees, Vanderbilt Life Flight will be building an air ambulance operation on the hospital grounds.

The vote was split 3-2 and followed presentations by both Vanderbilt Life Flight and Air Evac, both of which were interested in locating on the HCMC grounds. Air Evac, which already has area headquarters in Martin, made a presentation last month.

HCMC Administrator Tom Gee said it appeared the board members voted to go with Vanderbilt Life Flight over Air Evac because of the information contained in the presentations and input from the medical staff.

"I think what they heard in the Vanderbilt presentation and the input from our medical staff regarding the quality of the Vanderbilt Life Flight operation is probably what swayed the votes," Gee said.

According to its website, Vanderbilt Life Flight has transported more than 33,000 patients to hospitals in Nashville and destinations around the world. It is Tennessee's largest not-for-profit air medical transport program, providing service via six helicopters (five bases and one helicopter serves as backup), one fixed wing aircraft (airplane) and four ground ambulances. It has kept an accident-free safety record since its inception in 1984.

Life Flight transports to all Nashville hospitals and has immediate access to the region's only Level I Trauma Center, Burn Center and Children's Hospital, all at Vanderbilt.

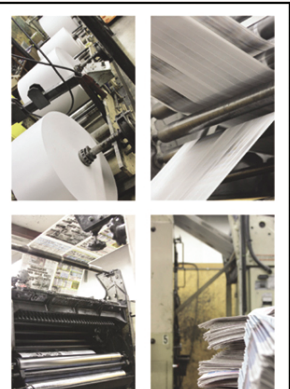

Life Flight is a key part of a trauma system that includes pre-hospital care, definitive care, rehabilitation and injury prevention.

According to Life Flight's presentation, it plans to spend $10 M which will locate a headquarters and helicopter at the local hospital.

Gee said Life Flight will locate its headquarters on the HCMC campus and will be staffed "around the clock. They'll be ready to go in a moment's notice."
