Town Accepts Donation Of Reminisce Inn

Courtesy Carroll County News-Leader

The Town of Huntingdon is the new owner of the former Reminisce Inn that was once known as the historic Johnson Hotel.

The donation was made during the July 14 council meeting.

“The deed was delivered last week,” Mayor Dale Kelley told council members. “We appreciate the donation very much.”

Making the donation were William Bird, Dwayne and Judy Bird, Thomas and Barbara Bird with developer Ed Miller handling the deal.

The mayor said there is no designated use for the building at this time.

The three-story frame structure that was built in 1907 sits at the corner of 19770 East Main St. and Third St. and near the building that will eventually house the town’s general government offices and the headquarters for the Huntingdon Historic Museum and Huntingdon High School’s Alumni Association.

The first reading of the town’s budget and property tax passed. See related story in separate article.

Council members passed a compliance amendment for the town’s Tennessee Money Purchase Pension Plan in conjunction with the recent Supreme Court ruling relating to same sex marriage and the definition of a spouse.

“The amendment is required to comply with IRS rulings to recognize the term “marriage” to include a marriage between same sex individuals recognized under state law and the terms “spouse”, “husband and wife”, “husband” and “wife” to include a same-sex spouse,” said the mayor. “We are required by the state of Tennessee to adopt this amendment.”

In other business, the council members:

- Were informed by the mayor that the final inspection of the Phase I addition to Kelley Sports Complex has been closed out. He said that Phase II construction for the addition of ball fields will begin this fall. He commended the town employees for doing a great job.
- Were advised that the surplus property sale of five Police Department vehicles brought $8,485.69 through the website, GovDeals.

- Entered into an agreement with Tegrah Engineering relating to the 2011 CDBG Disaster project. The cost of the engineering for the “Big Ditch” that runs through the town that assists with flood control will be $50,000. This project is 100 percent grant funded.

- Granted two requests for park usages. Portia Tharpe was granted use of Edwards Park in order to host a community day and back to school bash on July 25 with a rainout date of Aug. 1. The Carl Perkins Center was given permission to use both fields at Edwards Park for a fundraiser kickball tournament on Aug. 8 and also the use of the pavilion at Veterans Park from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Sept. 4 to cook and have as a pickup location for their Boston butts fundraiser.

- Heard from council member Tim Tucker concerning a recent baseball tournament held at Kelley Sports Complex. He complimented the town of Huntingdon employees’ that included Wayne Jackson and the grounds crew for doing a wonderful job in keeping the fields in shape and looking nice. “There were lots of favorable comments about the park,” he said.

Trezevant Approves Certified Tax Rate

By Brad Sam
brad@mckenziebanner.com

TREZEVANT (July 14) — Town officials recently received the certified tax rate handed down from the state of Tennessee for Trezevant, and aldermen voted to approve the rate at Tuesday’s regular monthly meeting. The new rate of $.7075 is up from the previous rate of $.69.

Rather than generating new revenue, the new rate will achieve the same level of revenue, as a recent reassessment has lowered the taxable value of affected properties. Therefore, most property owners will not see an increase in the amount their property tax payments.

Aldermen were hesitant to approve the rate increase, especially in the absence of Mayor Dennis Mitchell and Alderman Debbie Rogers, but ultimately agreed that the state’s rate was necessary to keep revenues steady for the recently-passed budget and that there was no reason to delay its passage.

In other business, Alderman Teresa Goodrum relayed to the board a request from a citizen to sell items at the parking lot across from the gazebo throughout the week. The lot is owned by CSX. The town has been operating under the terms constituted by the grant that was used to pave the lot, stating that the lot must remain available for parking Monday through Friday. No board member of official present was sure whether those stipulations were still in effect. Alderman Pam Bryant made a motion that, if it was discovered that the rules were no longer in effect, citizens could set up in the lot throughout the week. The motion carried unanimously.

In a follow-up with The Banner, town officials announced, “The Town of Trezevant will neither grant nor deny access to the lot.”

Carroll County Electrical Board

Board Approves $201,000 Insurance Package

By Ernie Smothers

HUNTINGDON (July 17) — During the regular monthly meeting of the Carroll County Electrical Board, board members, at the recommendation of CCED General Manager Danny Brawner, approved retaining the services of Huntingdon Insurance Company for the company’s workers compensation, general liability, auto, officers’, and directors’ insurance for $201,000.

Brawner noted prior to the vote that the premium had decreased from $210,000 the previous year.

Brawner informed the board that the new high-wattage breaker for Noranda had been delivered.

He said, “The new breaker will replace the 1952 model breaker currently in use at Noranda. We looked into old replacement parts which are expensive and hard to find, and ultimately decided that it would be more advantageous from a price point to purchase a new breaker. You may have also observed new electrical lines with yellow covering crossing Highway 70 near the Carroll County Jail. Those lines emanate from the primary power system in New Johnsonville and will power Huntingdon, Bruceton and McKenzie. “

Board member Bob Keeton, Jr. asked Brawner if the new lines would be energized before TVA introduces their new commercial and residential optimal use rate scale that increases consumer consumption costs during peak usage times.

Brawner responded, “Yes. The new breaker and lines will be energized and tested before the new TVA optimal rating scale goes into effect on October 7. We will be ready to go.”

In final business, the board welcomed new member James Halford Sr. of Atwood, who replaced Paul Moore of Atwood. Moore’s two-term tenure on the board concluded in June.

BRUCETON (July 14) — During the regular monthly meeting of the Town of Bruceton, alderman, at the motion of Vice Mayor Cliff Sturdivant and second by Scotty Higdon, unanimously approved the second reading of Ordinance 15-05, repealing Ordinance 05-05.

The board, at the motion of Sturdivant and second by Renee Ford, approved Ordinance 15-04 Sewer Service Charges, amending Title 18, Section 114 of the Bruceton Municipal Code. Voting in favor of Ordinance 15-04 were Sturdivant, Higdon, and Ford. Alderman Robert Cole abstained from voting.

In new business, the board approved a request from town retirement plan manager Trans-America to nominate new City Recorder Annie Hand as trustee.

Following discussion and approval of financial statements for June as presented and comments from Mayor Robert T. Keeton III regarding the street departments’ trimming of tree and cleaning roadways, the meeting was adjourned.

Little General Plans Larger Trezevant Store

By Brad Sam
brad@mckenziebanner.com

TREZEVANT (July 14) — Ryan D. Higginbotham, Director of Business Development for Cox Oil Company, Inc., was a welcome guest at Tuesday’s meeting of the board of aldermen. The board, absent Mayor Dennis Mitchell, was pleased to hear the company’s plans for investment in the town in the form of a $700,000, 2,700-square-foot Little General store. And although Higginbotham said that the plans were “not set in stone,” aldermen were also optimistic that the town could provide a solution to a flooding issue that concerns the company.

The new store will be triple the size of the current store and will be built where the former West Carroll Pharmacy building stands. The old Little General will continue to operate adjacent to the construction site of the new store. The new store, which will feature a larger kitchen and eventually a drive-thru, will require more employees to operate. The gas pumps will not be moved from their current positions.

Higginbotham expressed the company’s concerns over the flooding that periodically covers the lot and has, at times, reached into the current store. The planned foundation will put the building two feet higher, but does not forgo the possibility of a flood. He also pointed out that, regardless of the building, the flooding poses a serious threat in the event of an underground fuel tank leak.

The Cox representative suggested it might be possible to reroute the drainage that runs down to and across the back of the row of buildings, but admitted that there may be other possible solutions. It was decided that Higginbotham would have an engineer come to evaluate and confer with local officials to decide what options exist. The matter will also be discussed at the Planning Commission meeting on Thursday, July 23 at 6 p.m.

Both the present town officials and Higginbotham were excited and optimistic about the new store. He said, “We’re trying to make an investment here. I hope it shows the community we’re here to stay. We appreciate the city of Trezevant.”

Rep. Holt Memorializes Rodney Chandler

By Ernie Smothers
smothers@mckenziebanner.com

MCKENZIE (July 16) — Encircled by musical instruments inside Chandler Music Company, Tennessee Representative Andy Holt presented a proclamation signed by himself and Tennessee Speaker of the House Beth Harwell to the family of the late Rodney Chandler honoring Mr. Chandler for his many years of service to the community.

Presenting the proclamation to Chandler’s daughter, Karen Chandler Allen, Holt said, “When I heard of Mr. Chandler’s many great accomplishments, I wanted to recognize him.”

Responding, Karen said, “My dad would have been so proud of this-it probably would have made him cry. This is a great honor, and we are thankful to you for honoring my father in such a special and meaningful way.”

Jackie Allen told Holt that Chandler Music Store has been serving the public since 1963.

He said, “Mr. Chandler has been providing quality musical instruments to people in and around this area for 52 years. I began working here in 1975. We are proud of our store, and thankful for the loyal support of our customers. We look forward to continuing to serve the public.”

PROCLAMATION

The members of this legislative body were greatly saddened to learn of the passing of Rodney Chandler.

Mr. Chandler was an exemplary public servant and consummate professional who worked assiduously to improve the quality of life for his fellow citizens in numerous capacities.

Rodney Chandler was born in Carroll County on November 12, 1915, to Amon and Ruth Chandler. He was the retired owner and operator of Chandler Music Company in McKenzie.

For fifty years, Mr. Chandler performed background music for the beauty revues at the Carroll County Fair, and, even in advanced age, set all the buttons to program the accompanying electronic drums or horns and the tempo to appropriately match the music he was performing while onlookers watched in amazement.

Although the Carroll County Fair was his home stage, Mr. Chandler also performed at other fairs and festivals.

In addition, he participated in the Carroll County Fair Senior Day events, often taking home the Oldest Man trophy.

During his company’s 52 years in business, Chandler Music has outfitted many churches and bands with music instruments and equipment.

The business will continue to operate under the leadership of the Chandler family.

Mr. Chandler was a faithful member of Fairview Missionary Baptist Church where he served as a choir director and a deacon. He was also deeply devoted to his family and endeavored to remain true to family values of the highest order.

Mr. Chandler was preceded in death by his parents; his wife, Jewel Chandler; his daughter, Gloria Kay Chandler; three sisters, Covie Chandler, Rena Miller, and Alice Kirksey; and three brothers, Alden, Wallace, and Kenneth Chandler.

His memory is cherished by his loving daughter, Karen (Jackie) Allen; his son, Gary (Wanda) Chandler; his sister, Ivy (William) Smith; his three grandchildren, Michael Chandler, Joel Allen, and Jadrea (Joseph) Romines; and his three great-granddaughters, Juliet, Jocelyn, and Jessamyn.

Mr. Chandler leaves behind an indelible legacy of integrity and probity in public life, compassion and loyalty in private life, and diligence and dedication in all his chosen endeavors.

Therefore, I, Beth Harwell, Speaker of the House of Representatives of the One Hundred Ninth General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, at the request of and in conjunction with Representative Andy Holt, do hereby proclaim that we honor the memory of Rodney Chandler, reflecting fondly upon his impeccable character and his stalwart commitment to living the examined life with courage and conviction, and express our sympathy and offer our condolences to the family of Mr. Chandler.

Proclaimed in Nashville, Tennessee, on this the 24th day of June 2015.

The hearing is scheduled July 28 prior to the vote on the tax rate and budget. The town's certified rate was $.8846, but the proposed rate is 99 cents per $100 of assessed property. The mayor explained that Carroll County is on a schedule of a property tax reappraisal every four years with the county-wide reappraisal taking place in 2015. The prior year's tax rate of $1.18 was re-certified at $.8846 in order to bring in the same amount of revenue as the previous year. The new rate will finance a General Fund expenditure budget of $4,410,650. The largest expense, $1,041,850 is listed for the Police Department followed by the Public Works Dept. (Street Division), $514,750. Street lighting expense is listed as $128,000. The Fire Dept.'s share of the budget is $477,850 with city hall renovations set at $142,650. The amount of $257,450 is for the Parks & Cemeteries Dept. fund. The estimated General Fund revenues for the new fiscal year

The town increased the employee life insurance benefit from $15,000 to $50,000, effective July 1. Why Nathan Bedford Will Be Celebrated as Long as I’m in Office

By State Representative Andy Holt

DRESDEN July 16, 2015 — On Monday, Tennessee recognized and celebrated the life of Civil War General Nathan Bedford Forrest. On this day, a democratic State Representative from Nashville decided to introduce a bill to end Nathan Bedford Forrest Day. In Memphis, the city council recently voted to exhume the grave of General Forrest and his wife. While I want to believe those wishing to take action have good intentions; they are, for the most part, misinformed.

The very idea of treating someone differently and not awarding them the same opportunities because of the color of their skin is absolutely disgusting. Were he alive today, General Forrest would agree. In fact, General Forrest was one of the South’s first civil rights leaders. A fact lost on many politicians looking to capitalize off of the South Carolina tragedy.

Through Christ, we are called to believe in and celebrate redemption. When we recognize the life of General Forrest, we are doing just that—celebrating the life of a man, redeemed through Christ, that fought for the rights of black West Tennesseans.

After the war, General Forrest spoke with federal authorities controlling Memphis and the Memphis Board of Aldermen to plead with them to train young blacks so that they would not be dependent on government. He argued that blacks were just as capable as whites to be doctors, lawyers, bankers, etc.. The same Memphis city leaders wanting to exhume his grave today, ignored his calls for allowing blacks equal opportunities then. However, that didn’t stop General Forrest from living his own life as an example. General Forrest was CEO of Selma, Marion and Memphis Railroad. As CEO, General Forrest hired and trained hundreds of former slaves. He even granted them leadership positions within the company.

Those that wish to stoke the fires of racial tension in America claim that General Forrest was the founder of the “KKK”. This is not true. The Ku Klus of the mid-1860s was founded by Judge Thomas Jones, Frank McCord and several other Confederate veterans. Two years after its founding, General

Forrest was elected grand wizard of the organization. However, he never dressed in costume. Additionally, no evidence exists showing that General Forrest participated in any Klan activity at all. In fact, only two years after being elected grand wizard, General Forrest ordered that all costumes and symbols be destroyed, and that the Klan be dismantled because it had become a racist organization. In fact, recognizing his will to exercise “moral authority”, the United States Congress recognized General Forrest’s efforts to dismantle the Klan in 1871.

In 1875, the Independent Order of Pole Bearers, an early civil rights organization in Memphis, invited General Forrest to speak at their Fourth of July BBQ. Ignoring the advice of many white friends urging him not to attend, General Forrest accepted the invitation with an open heart. “Go to work, be industrious, live honestly and act truly, and when you are oppressed I’ll come to your relief. I thank you, ladies and gentlemen, for this opportunity you have afforded me to be with you, and to assure you that I am with you in heart and in hand,” declared General Forrest. After a speech that championed equality, unity and love, as large crowd of blacks roared with applause, a young black girl presented General Forrest with a bouquet of flowers, which he thanked her with kiss on the cheek.

Those interested in actually mending racial tension in Tennessee, rather than pandering for quick political points, should be singing the praises of General Forrest. We should be teaching the story of General Forrest to every last school child, not digging up his grave in an attempt to rewrite history. To do so, does absolutely nothing to improve race relations. In fact, to exhume the grave of a civil rights leader should be viewed by those seeking to improve race relations as a hostile action. By the will of his own conscious, not the force of government, General Forrest exemplified redemption, love, compassion and reconciliation.

This is why we celebrate the life of General Forrest. As long as I am in office, because my conscious and faith compel me to fight for unity, I will continue to honor the life of General Forrest.

Hunker Down with Kes

Maxine Bought Dye By The Barrel

Here are some things I ponder late into the night:

Just once I’d like to hear someone say, “Let’s think INSIDE the box!” Come on now, how many more off the wall, way-out-there, lame brain schemes can we survive? There is no shame in normalcy. Ordinary is OK! I like comfortable. There is something to be said about working within the existing system.

I will admit there is a sense of romantic dash surrounding adventure, risk, new ideas.....but everybody can’t be innovators. Small, imperceptible changes within the normal parameters of society have worked for hundreds of years. The tortoise, I believe, won the race.

Buddy was thinking outside the box when he tied those buzzard feathers to our arms and we flew off that high cliff out at the clay pits. David Mark was thinking outside the box when he tried to jump Sugar Creek down at the Mt. Zion crossing in that suped-up ‘56 Chevrolet. Leon couldn’t even see the box when he rode that big horse into the high school auditorium during the beauty pageant practice. He was hoping to enter her in the contest!

I saw an advertisement in a True West magazine that read, “Learn To Play The Banjo Fast”. That’s cost me some sleep. Do you reckon it meant you could learn to play the instrument in a short amount of time? Or did it mean, after one easy lesson, you could play “Foggy Mountain Breakdown” two beats and a half measure faster than Earl Scruggs on his best day?

Maybe it meant you could do both! If that was the case, I wish I’d torn that thing out.....or at least written the number down.

One of Cathy’s assignments in preparation for this year’s family reunion was to bring the “plastic silverware”. Now, I tossed and turned near ‘bout half a night wondering if a plastic silver fork would tarnish.....or if Oneida had that Buttercup pattern in a clear sterling, molded model.

The family agreed there would be too many kinfolks at this shindig to use the good silverware and the clean up would be much easier. Good silverware? Son of a gun, I reckoned we dodged a bullet at this year’s get together. Nobody had to eat off the BAD silverware!

The Confederate flag has been in the news lately and that got me pondering on all the things that would be considered CIVIL about any war. You talk about a short list! I don’t think “courteous”, “politeness” and “well-mannered” was necessarily on either side’s minds when Pickett’s men started racing up that hill toward the Yankee line at Gettysburg.

You can talk about honor in war. Glory. Fighting for your country. Defending the flag. Standing up for what’s right.....but I don’t think any of that makes it civil!

That kinda stuff keeps me up at night. You see in the paper where “The police are called to the scene of a civil disturbance”. That doesn’t sound right even if you are thinking outside the box.

If I borrowed one of my older brother’s shirts and got a smudge on it or, heaven forbid, I dropped his ball glove on the wet ground, his eyes narrowed to tiny slits and his face reddened. “I’m going to have to bust you up some. It’s my only choice.”

I didn’t think to call a time out back then.

But I’ve rolled that picture over in my mind a thousand times as I lay staring at the ceiling. ONLY CHOICE! Wait a minute here. If a choice is involved, you’ve got more than one option. There is nothing ONLY about it! I got beat up a blue zillion times when there might have been another way!

Socrates, who was known to have some walking around sense, famously stated, “I know that I know nothing at all.” Seems to me he knew one thing.....even if it was nothing. And I’m not sure you could be remembered down through the ages by knowing nothing. Sometimes I ponder late into the night because I’m completely befuddled and confused. ‘Course, Socrates was much smarter than me so I might be missing something here.

And we’re not even going to discuss negative income, small crowd, jumbo shrimp or original copy.

When I was growing up Maxine, sometimes aided by her cousin, Dixie Faye, ran a small beauty shop called “Golden Coiffeurs”. I never went in mind you, as they catered to Garden Club members, den mothers and aspiring homecoming queens. I preferred Gene’s Barber Shop just up the street. Maxine had a small sign stuck in the corner of their big picture window that read, “Tattoos in the backroom after five.....while you wait.”

I’ve been studying on that bit of advertising for over half a century. I’m sure the “after five” was because of the aforementioned crowd during regular business hours. What sets my pondering gear in motion is how Maxine handled that tattoo.....when the customer didn’t wait!

Respectfully, Kes

Writing With Ease By Clayburn Peeples

People wear the strangest things. I saw this guy the other day in a T-shirt that said, “If #2 pencils are the most popular, are they still #2?”

The question, of course, was referencing the fact that the most popular pencil in the world, when it comes to the hardness and darkness of the lead, is categorized as a number two.

A number two pencil has a softer and darker lead than most other grades offered to mass audiences. In school, and still today, I prefer a number three pencil which is harder than a number two and thus holds its point longer. My brother-in-law was lamenting the other day that he can no longer find #2.5 pencils to purchase. They, of course, are somewhere in between two’s and three’s, officially classified as medium.

And it’s really hard to find them now. They used to be popular with secretaries for taking shorthand notes, because they needed sharpening less frequently than number two’s, but nobody under 60 even knows what shorthand is, and fewer and fewer people use pencils today for anything at all.

Which I think is a shame. Pencils have a lot going for them, even today. They’re inexpensive enough that it’s no big deal if you lose one; they don’t leak on your shirt or in your pants pocket; you can write sideways or even upside down with a pencil. You could, if you had to, even write underwater or in outer space with one. And you can erase your mistakes with a pencil.

All those advantages may be why 14 billion pencils are still being made, each year. That’s a lot of trees, some 80,000, as a matter fact, but most pencil wood today comes from California incense cedar trees, which grow rapidly and can be replenished quickly.

It wasn’t always so. Up until the early 1900’s, pencils in America were made exclusively out of Eastern red cedar, a non-splintering tree that was extremely common in the southeastern United States, especially in Tennessee.

At first, Tennessee cedar was shipped all over the world for pencil making, but then around the turn of the last century someone realized they could save on the shipping by making the pencils here. Thus, pencil factories sprang up, right here in Tennessee. Shelbyville once had more than half a dozen of them and was known as “Pencil City.”

By the 1950s, just about all of Tennessee’s red cedar was gone, but because of its great central location, Tennessee continued, for a while, to be a major pencil manufacturing capital.

But as the Chinese, and others, got into the pencil game, the American share of the market dropped to the point that today fewer than 15% of the pencils sold in the United States are made here.

Actually, when viewed in the light of history, pencils are a relatively recent invention, one brought about entirely by accident, when graphite, which is what pencil “lead” is made of, was discovered.

In the year 1564 a storm uprooted an old tree in a pasture in the Lake District of England. As local shepherds went to investigate, they found a mysterious black substance beneath the tree that was soft and brittle like lead, but darker. At first they thought the substance was coal, but it wouldn’t burn. No one at the time knew what graphite was, but that’s what they had discovered, a large deposit of pure, solid graphite.

They found they could use this new substance to mark sheep. They referred to it as “black lead,” which is why we refer to pencil graphite as lead, even today, but no pencil actually has lead in it, and you can’t get lead poisoning from being stabbed with one. Pencil “lead” today is made of a mixture of graphite and clay, the amount of clay in the mixture being what determines the hardness of the “lead.”

When they discovered the lode of graphite in England, they didn’t know how to mix the new substance with anything, but they didn’t need to, so after using it in the form of marking rocks for a while, someone came up with the idea of sawing it into small thin strips, wrapping string around the strips and using them for marking and writing. Shakespeare is thought to have written at least one of his plays with such a “pencil.”

But before long someone came up with the idea of encasing the graphite rods in between two wooden slats fastened together, and pencils as we know them were on their way.

But they still didn’t have erasers. At first, graphite marks were erased with moist breadcrumbs rolled into small balls, messy at best. Then, around 1770 someone discovered that you could rub away marks made by “black lead” pencils on paper by use of what then known as “India gum.” India gum became so popular and well-known for rubbing out writing mistakes that people began calling it India rubber, then just “rubber” which is how rubber got its name. Before long they were attaching pieces of that rubber on the ends of pencils.

And those rubber erasers are the main reason I love to write with pencils. As I said earlier, pencils are completely forgiving of mistakes.

Unlike newspaper print. When you make a mistake in a newspaper column you can never erase it away. It lasts forever. Believe me; I know.

County FCE Council News

Carroll County FCE met today in the conference room of the Carroll County Complex. There were 16 present representing 3 clubs: Bethel/Eastside, Macedonia, and West Carroll. The meeting was called to order by our Extension agent, Gwen Joyner. Danita Laman read a few words to live by on "Coping with Stress".

Our first order of business was to vote on whether to have a Soup and Chili or a Spaghetti fundraiser. Soup won with a unanimous vote. Next was to decide on a day. After checking with the Senior Citizens on when the kitchen would be available, October 15 was decided upon. Each club is to provide: 2 soups or chili, 1 box of crackers and 1 pan of cornbread, 2 desserts already sliced, and 2 drinks either tea or 2 liters. Arrive at 10 and be ready to serve at 11.

The Carroll County Fair is the week of September 13-20. We voted to have the meat and slaw catered from Tuck's Bar-B-Que and to bring our own beans and potato salad. That being said, each club is to furnish 1 pot of baked beans and 1 large tub of potato salad along with 2 desserts, and a drink. Buns and chips are to be gotten at Sam's Club with money from the treasury. We are to report for duty at 9:00 am at the Civic Center kitchen area. If you or anyone you know would like to work at the fair, feel free to contact Linda Martin or Gwen Joyner.

Yearbook pages will be done by clubs, with Bethel/Eastside taking the months of February, March, and April. West Carroll will handle the months of May, June, July, and August, leaving Macedonia with the months of September, October, and November. The months of December and January will be done by Gwen, the agent.

It was suggested that we have a craft day in October. The idea was put forward to think about and bring back to the October 12 council meeting what you might like to do.

A $50 check was voted on to give in lieu of a gift basket for Mini Conference, which is August 4.

Meeting was adjourned and everyone went to the Quilter's room to taste the wonderful entries for the Dairy Contest. This time it was on desserts. Yum!

The family of Buddy Wiggleton would like to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation for the cards, flowers, food, charitable donations, and acts of kindness shown to us during our difficult time. Special thanks to the staff of Brummitt McKenzie Funeral Home for all they did to help our family.

McKenzie Memorial Library News

I had promised myself not to mention that it was just too hot after the cold spell we had during the winter, however, with these record breaking temperatures, I think a lot of us are saying it is just so hot! This is the perfect time to take advantage of all the books, audiobooks, DVDs and more resources that we have at the Library to check something out and take it home where you can be comfortable and not melting in this heat.

School is quickly approaching, less than a month away and we are getting ready with plenty of information for everyone about TEL – the Tennessee Electronic Library, which is accessible 24/7. This virtual library can be accessed from your home PC, school library computer or mobile device. All you need is an Internet connection. It is a free service and it has over 400,000 electronic resources and it has homework help and so much more. We have a large display available just inside the Library door for more information on the Tennessee Electronic Library.

Walking Works

The McKenzie walkers are starting to experience the benefits of walking. It takes a while to feel the benefits, but regular walking will improve your health and fitness level.

Several success stories have been witnessed or reported. The skill levels range from total beginners to a triathlete who runs, swims, and bikes. We have at least three people who have made walking a part of their health or injury rehabilitation programs and they have witnessed better than average improvements. There are several senior citizens in the program and their improvement has not only made it easier to complete their usual walking routine, but they are now able to walk faster or longer. Additionally, four youngsters under ten years old have walked a combined mileage of 1,100 miles, and we even have two walkers who have picked up almost 500 pieces of litter during their walks. Any mileage can be reported; walking, biking, swimming, and mileage equivalents with other exercises.

This free program is open to all walkers and is part of Carroll County's effort to support wellness and fitness in our county. We invite others to join in the fun and fitness. By the way, there is a friendly competition between the cities in Carroll County with the award being simply better health and, of course, bragging rights. All you have to do is report your mileage to Garlon Prewitt at gprewitt@clarkpacific.com or drop it off in the box located in the lobby of the City Hall.

Sarcoidosis Walk-a-Thon Held

McLEMORESVILLE (June 27) — The West Tennessee Sarcoidosis Support Group held its annual Walk-a-Thon at West Carroll Primary School. The purpose of the event was to raise money to help in the research for the prevention and cure of sarcoidosis, a potentially fatal disease that affects many people.

There were approximately 30 people in attendance, including Gary Chris Blount, who currently works as a physician assistant at McKenzie Family Medical Clinic, and Wonder Puryear Drake, M.D., Assistant Professor of Medicine in the Department of Infectious Diseases at Vanderbilt University School of Medicine.

Dr. Drake gave a presentation on what sarcoidosis is, how it affects the body, and the research that she and her staff are working on tirelessly in order to find a cure.

At the Walk-a-Thon, there were many activities, such as door prizes, a silent auction,

Humane Society Ice Cream Social Nets Supplies, Funds

MCKENZIE (July 18) — The Carroll County Humane Society hosted an Ice Cream Social at the shelter Saturday evening. Guests enjoyed all the ice cream they could eat, while helping animals by providing supplies, funds, and a few minutes of attention.

There was an array of flavors, including several varieties from Maggie Moo's in Jackson as well as homemade flavors by Lisa Langford, Billie Jean Swafford, and Angela Hugueley.

Animal and/or ice cream lovers lined the hall of the shelter with supplies and also donated a total of $448.85 to the cause. They mingled in the six cat rooms and among the indoor and outdoor dog pens, and the animals were excited to have the attention.

During the event, two dogs were adopted. One of the pups was Nico, adopted by former McKenzian Shelley Brown and her husband, Nicholas Chiscuoli. The couple came from Memphis to pick up the gray and white Chihuahua.

The Carroll County Humane Society is a no-kill animal shelter with no-kill defined as not euthanizing for time or space.

Chihuahua Nico gets acquainted with his new humans, former McKenzian Shelley Brown and her husband, Nicholas Chiscuoli, before heading to his "forever home" with the couple in Memphis.

TSSAA Rejects Private-Public High School Athletic Split

MURFREESBORO (July 16) — Via 5-4 vote, the Tennessee Secondary School Athletic Association (TSSAA) legislative council rejected a proposal submitted by public schools Lewis County and Trousdale County in March 2014 to split high school public schools into Division I and all 24 private schools into Division II.

Council members voting against the split included Dan Black (Bradford), William McAdams (Hardin County), Greg McCullough (Memphis Central), Ron Woodard (Maplewood) and Michael Reynolds (Knoxville Central). Voting for the split were Dan Gilbert (Soddy-Daisy), Jeff Luttrell (Watertown), Mike Tatum (Lewis County) and Keith Turner (Science Hill).

During an interview following the council ruling at Murfreesboro's Doubletree Hotel, Lewis County's Tatum said, "The issue is not over. There are a lot of problems out there. But, at some point we will get together and resolve it."

In lieu of splitting private and public schools, the council will consider changing problematic original TSSAA constitutional bylaws.

Regarding the ruling, Bernard Childress, executive director of the TSSAA, said, "I'm pleased the council members made this decision so we can explore every option and address these main issues by tweaking our by-laws rather than just vote for a complete split."

He continued, "It took us more than a year to finally get the member schools to tell us specifically what their main concerns were. Now we know what to address and how to address them, and I feel confident our member schools will be satisfied with the changes we propose."

In related action, the council approved, via 7-2 vote, the addition of three private school representatives both to the board of control and the legislative council by way of a December 1 election.

In September, the TSSAA board of control will meet to address other proposals, such as student employment, family employment, tuition reduction for family members and recruiting issues. Also to be considered is a potential urban-rural competition split.

Any approved changes will be enacted in the 2017-18 school year.

Par 3 Fundraising Tournament Extravaganza to Benefit MHS Golf

Carroll Lake Golf Club will be the venue for the 2015 Par 3 Fundraising Tournament Extravaganza on Saturday, July 25 from 4:30 p.m. until dark. The event is the sole source of funding for the MHS golf team.

The format will be a three-person, 18-hole par 3 scramble. "Closest to the pin" prizes will be awarded for each hole.

Entry is $100 per team. Local businesses can sponsor the event for $100. To sign up, call MHS head golf coach Larry Joe Smith at 731-415-7371.

In an interview with The Banner, Coach Smith described the scramble as "one of the most entertaining golf events around. It's family oriented, and everybody will leave winning something."

He went on to say, "I've coached in this program for right at 20 years, and we try this every other year. We need the support of the community to maximize the opportunities of McKenzie's young golfers."

The program has indeed been successful in that regard. In Smith's tenure, the program has racked up over 600 wins and sent several students to college on scholarship. The coach pointed out the fact that more success equals more expenses in such a program, as his teams have regularly qualified for costly regional and state tournaments.

2015 Jr. Golf Tourney Is Thursday

The 2015 Jr. Golf Tournament at Carroll Lake Golf Club is Thursday, July 23 at 9:00 a.m.

$10 entry fee includes lunch. Trophies will be awarded for first, second, and third place finishes for the following divisions:

8 and under- 9 holes from 150 yards; 9-11-9 holes from 150-200 yards; 12-14-9 holes (boys) white tees / (girls) red tees; 15-high school senior-18 holes (boys) white tees / 9 holes (girls) from red tees.

For additional information, contact Larry Joe Smith at 731-415-7371 or call Carroll Lake Golf Club at 352-2988.

Team Amber Co-Ed Softball Tournament Held

MCKENZIE (July 11) — A softball tournament was held at McKenzie City Park Saturday to raise money and awareness for the continuing recovery of Amber McCadams-Davis, a 1998 MHS graduate who was diagnosed with triple-negative breast cancer last October at the age of 34. The event raised $1,875.85.

The tournament, organized by the MHS Class of 1998, led by Melissa McClure and Raven Tharpe, featured five teams playing in a double-elimination bracket with one-hour games. The eventual winner was the Casey Toombs Concrete team. The event was a laid-back, fun-filled day that also served as a celebration of Amber's progress.

Amber began chemotherapy just days after her diagnosis. She had four treatments every two weeks and began to have an immediate response. She then continued having 12 weekly chemotherapy treatments. Due to her treatments, Amber was unable to continue working as an industrial hygienist (health compli-

‘Last Annual Vol-State Road Race’ Crosses County

By Brad Sam
brad@mckenziebanner.com

Over 80 runners embarked on an epic journey, beginning in Dorena Landing, Mo., just across the Mississippi River, on Thursday, July 9. Some of them will arrive, by July 19, at the overlook at Castle Rock, Geo., 314 miles away. Some would call it insanity, but those involved call it the Last Annual Vol-State Road Race.

The race is run by many people for many reasons, but they all come together like a family, many running the race every year. The camaraderie they display and the love for the event is eclipsed only by the unbelievable endurance they show to complete the feat.

Runners begin to reach Carroll County on Highway 22 late on the first day and continue trickling through for several days. Some runners have crews that periodically provide supplies and support, while others run uncrewed and rely only on themselves and the kindness of strangers. Race insiders refer to these two groups lovingly as "crewed" and "screwed".

In a roadside interview with The Banner, Connie and Bill Haecker of Texas spoke about the race. The two crew for their son, Bill, stopping ahead of the runner every ten miles to provide food and water. "It's been an experience to see him go through this," Connie said. "I'm impressed by what they do, and by all of the camaraderie they display. People don't know what it takes."

Bill is one of many that run not just for the experience, but also for a cause. Several years ago, he lost his daughter, Maddy, in a drowning accident just before her fourth birthday. He now runs to earn pledges for Colin's Hope, an organization that raises awareness for water safety in hopes of preventing drowning, which are the number one cause of death of children under five in the U.S.
Of the many reasons to participate, prestige is not uncommon.

Last year's winner and runner-up, Greg Armstrong and Johan Steene, were once again in the lead as the bulk of the runners crossed the county. Armstrong, a crewed runner, ran a staggering 120 miles in the first day, a pace that, if kept up, would set a new record. Steene, a "screwed" runner, was the record holder for uncrewed runners.
The two would finish almost as strong as they started, with Greg Armstrong missing a new record but winning the year at 3 days, 22 hours, 5 minutes. Johan Steene finished second in 3 days, 23 hours, 15 minutes, shattering his own uncrewed record.

McKenzie Police Reports

Theft-On July 18, MPD patrolman Billy King responded to call from Wilfredo Rivera, Kay Street, McKenzie regarding the possible theft of gasoline from Rivera's motorcycle. Rivera stated that while he was inside his house, he heard a loud noise. Upon investigating the noise, he found a large puddle of what appeared to be gasoline under his motorcycle. Rivera told the officer that the vehicle did not have a gas leak.

Suspicious person-On July 19, MPD patrolman Kyle Beauchamp, accompanied by officer Cody Coleman, responded to a call of a suspicious vehicle parked in a driveway across the street from a residence on Linden Street. The caller stated that there should be no vehicle in the driveway of his neighbor's house, but a white Chevy Impala was backed in and parked there with someone inside it. Responding, the officers saw a white Chevy Impala turn down Linden Street onto Morris Street, go to the dead end, and watched the driver exit the vehicle. The officer asked the driver, identified as Forest Blake Reaves, Morris Street, McKenzie, for his identification and was told by Reaves that he did not have one. After the suspect revealed his name and date of birth, a computer check revealed that his driver license was revoked to indefinite for failure to satisfy fines / costs / taxes out of Gibson County. Reaves was then taken into custody for the listed offense.

Burglary-On July 17, MPD patrolman Billy King responded to a call from a residence located on Elm Street. Upon arrival, the officer was informed by Drew E. Gilmer and Sarah Williams that both of their vehicles had been broken into and rummaged through but that nothing was missing. The report noted that there was no sign of forced entry into the vehicles.

Criminal impersonation-On July 17 at around 7:40 p.m., MPD patrolman Kyle Beauchamp was on a traffic stop at the Carroll County Electric Department when Tania L. Doster (AKA Tania Villagegas), Linden Street, McKenzie, walked by MPD Sergeant Boucher advised over the radio that Doster had an active warrant for theft under $500 and fraudulent use of a debit card. After finishing the traffic stop, the officer approached Doster and asked her for her social security number which came back belonging to different name and town address. Asked if she was previously a Doster, the subject reportedly said she was not. After advising the suspect that lying to an officer about one's identity is a criminal offense, the suspect said she had provided the correct information and did not know why her name did not come up. Advised that she would be taken to MPD for positive identification, Doster admitted to lying to the officer and was arrested for the listed offenses.

Drug paraphernalia-On July 17 while on patrol, MPD Officer Jeff Wimberry observed a person sitting on the side of the road on Linden Street. Stopping to check on him, the officer was advised by the person, identified as Forest Blake Reaves, Morris Street, McKenzie, that he seated in front of a residence getting Wi-Fi. A computer check revealed that the Reaves was cited out of Carroll County for failure to appear in July, 2014. Reaves then agreed to allow the officer to take him to MPD to satisfy the citation. Prior to allowing Reaves to enter into the vehicle, the officer checked his clothing for protection and discovered drug paraphernalia. Reaves was then cited into Carroll County General Sessions Court for the listed offense.

Warrant service-On July 17 at around 10:50 p.m., MPD patrolman Kyle Beauchamp made traffic stop on a brown and tan vehicle for a headlamp violation. A check in the vehicle determined that a passenger identified as Kashif K. Bonds, Wingo Circle, Trezevant, had an active warrant for parole violation out of Henry County from 2011. Bonds was taken into custody for the listed offense and transported to Tri-County Ford and transferred to the Henry County Sheriff's Department.

Forgery-According to report filed by MPD patrolman Chad Davis, John Clinton McCaig, Hillsboro Road, Martin, passed a check at Regions Bank in McKenzie for $2,543 in the name of a company called SLS West, Inc., located in Birmingham, Alabama. The company's identity had been stolen prior to the cashing of the check. McCaig presented photo identification and fingerprint at the time the check was cashed. He was captured on security video during the transaction. A warrant had been obtained but not served on McCaig at the time of this report.

Theft-according to report filed on July 17, MPD officer Billy King responded to a call from Grandberry Street. Upon arrival, the officer spoke to Samuel K. Carrell, Main Street North, McKenzie, who advised that he noticed around 4:30 p.m. that day that his four-wheeler had been stolen off his trailer parked on the left side of his residence. His grandson stated that the four-wheeler was at the residence at 11:p.m. the following night. He further advised that the key to the vehicle had been left in the ignition.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
